SARDINE CAN KEY KEY TO MAIL TOO

MIDDLETOWN, R.I. (AP) — Postal officials Thursday ordered old mail collection boxes replaced after a seven-year-old girl showed an astonished letter carrier she could open them with a sardine can key. The unidentified young miss, who likes to play mailman, told the mail carrier about her success Tuesday. He doubted. She demonstrated.

SOMMERS AT HOME

4th Conspiracy Warrant Issued For John Gray

A fourth man was sought by RCMP in eastern Canada today to face charges of conspiring to bribe former Social Credit forests minister Robert Sommers.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of John M. Gray, sales manager of Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd., reported to be in the east on a business trip.

He is the brother of H. Wilson Gray, who was arrested and charged Thursday with C. D. Schultz and Mr. Sommers.

These three men now are free on bail and will appear in Vancouver police court again next Thursday.

RCMP followed up the arrests by raiding the offices of a number of companies alleged to be involved in the conspiracy.

DOCUMENTS SEIZED

Some documents were seized. Among the firms entered with search warrants were C. D. Schultz and Co. Ltd. and Pacific Coast Services Ltd.

Sommers was back at his home here today.

He arrived about midnight after spending most of the day in the Vancouver jail while attempts were made to raise $7,500 bail for him.

He was released at 9:30 p.m. after relatives, Mr. and Mrs. John Abrosimo, put up some real estate.

Accompanied by his lawyer, James Proudfoot of Victoria, who flew over in the afternoon, Sommers walked out of the jail and was met by a group of waiting reporters.

One reminded the former minister that he had said in a recent interview he would welcome court action.

"Re-read that quote," Sommers replied.

That was his only comment. To other questions, Sommers shot off brisk "no comment" as he walked to a car and started for the airport.

CHIEFS IN ACTION

It was also disclosed today that the province's top law enforcement officials, Attorney-General Bonner and Assistant

$52,000 In Fines For 7 Firms

TORONTO (CP) — Seven firms were fined a total of $52,000 today for operating a country-wide combine in the conveyor and power transmission equipment industry.

Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven of the Ontario Supreme Court fined five firms $10,000 each and two others $1,000 each.

The five are: Link-Belt Limited and United Steel Corporation Limited, of Toronto; Stephens-Adamson of Belleville, Ont.; Jeffrey Manufacturing Company Limited of Montreal and Forano Limited of Plessisville, Que.

The $1,000 fines were levied against Webster-Smallwood Limited and Bond Engineering Works Limited, both of Toronto.

'Buyers Not Sellers' Trade Mission Motto

LONDON (CP) — Canada's 50-man trade mission arrived at London airport today for a pre-Christmas look at Britain's shop window.

The group, here for an unprecedented month-long tour of British industrial centres, was greeted by Sir David Eccles, President of the Board of Trade, who told them their visit has already aroused "the greatest interest" in the United Kingdom.

"Never has a trade mission of such a scale and of such importance come to Britain," said Sir David, whose government department is host to the Canadian party.

Canadian Trade Minister Churchill, leader of the mission, said in reply:

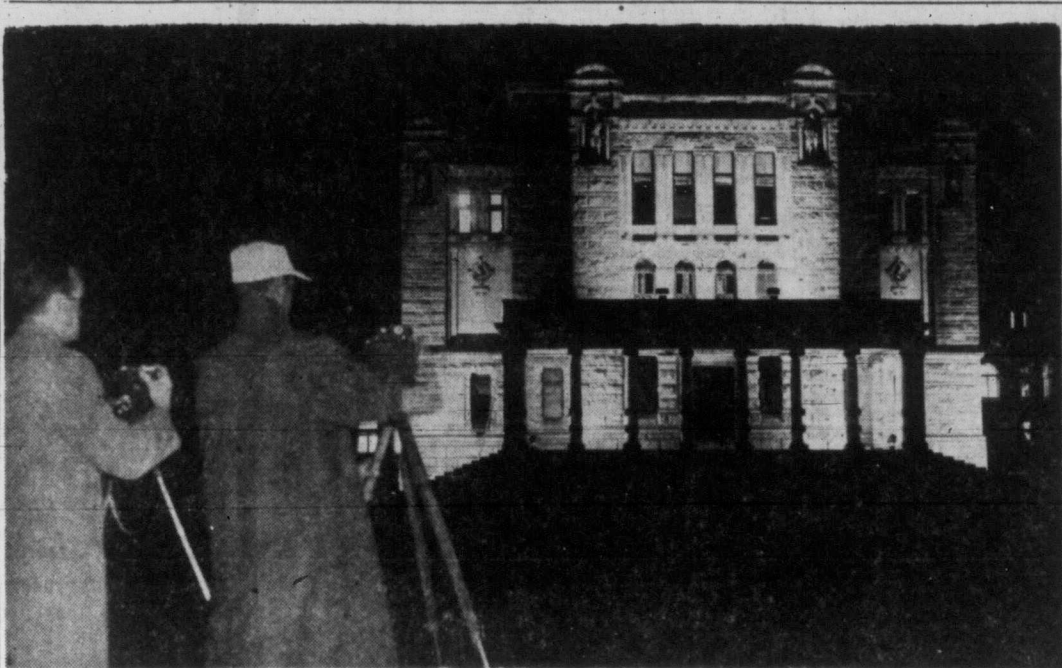

"This Canadian mission is unique. We are here as buyers rather than as salesmen."

Huge Forest Fire Threatens Outskirts of Los Angeles

COLORAMA FOR CENTENARY?

Striking architectural features of Provincial Library archives wing glowed Thursday night under three-color floodlighting—white on outside columns, pink and blue in centre. Vancouver Island Chapter, Illuminating Engineers Society, chose rear of Legislative Building, considered by many as most beautiful but seldom appreciated view, to convince Public Works Minister W. N. Chant that Buildings should be floodlit during centennial year. Times photographer Bill Halkett caught this scene, including amateur photographers, with a combination flash-time exposure.

100 MPH Winds Add to Hazard

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A forest fire that spread with fantastic speed under the lash of hurricane winds raged uncontrolled today only 20 miles from downtown Los Angeles. There were many minor injuries but no known deaths.

It broke out late Thursday amid shrieking gusts that caused havoc from the Mexican border 200 miles north to the San Joaquin Valley. This morning the fire had raced over some 20,000 acres of the San Gabriel mountains—an acreage figure fires usually take days to reach.

Potentially threatened are half a dozen communities at the base of the San Gabriels, the observatory at Mount Wilson and summer cabins in mountain canyons.

The fire got to within less than two miles of Mount Wilson this morning, then the wind changed and flames began blowing away. The area is protected in part by an area made barren by a fire a few years ago.

WIDE DAMAGE

Winds that topped 100 miles Thursday and today raked most of southern California—toppling trees, fences, signs and even oil derricks, shattering windows and unroofing homes.

A Las Vegas-to-Los Angeles airliner with 33 aboard met turbulence flying over the fire and was so buffeted that 16 were injured. (See page 33.)

A 75-foot yacht sprang a leak in stormy seas and barely made a safe anchorage. Two smaller craft were sunk by heavy seas. There were no injuries.

Winds dropped today but were still strong in the fire area. The fire started Thursday when a camp fire got away from a prison crew working on a highway near Crystal Lake at the head of San Gabriel Canyon.

RUGGED COUNTRY

Fanned by the Santa Ana wind, storm-hot dry blasts forced over the mountains and into the Los Angeles basin by high pressure conditions in deserts—the flames raced wildly.

There were 1,000 men on the fire lines at dawn and the perimeter of the blaze was 40 miles. Hundreds of additional fire fighters were being flown in from all over the U.S. south-west.

The flames fanned downhill toward the communities of Azusa, Duarte, Monrovia, Sierra Madre and East Pasadena.

The smoke from the great blaze plus dust clouds kicked thousands of feet into the air by winds made it a grey, sunless morning for the Los Angeles basin. A fine film of dust and ash coated trees, cars, sidewalks. Pedestrians left footprints anywhere they walked.

Informants said the sort of thing that is being weighed takes account of these considerations:

1. All-out aggression by the Russians would be met with all-out or massive retaliation by the Allies.

2. A nibbling attack against one of NATO's outposts in Europe—Turkey, West Germany, or Norway or Denmark—would be repulsed by means proportionate to the seriousness of the aggression. A border raid presumably would be dealt with by conventional forces. A tactical atomic attack perhaps would be countered by similar weapons.

3. An attack against NATO forces, as State Secretary Dulles said in Chicago this week, would be resisted automatically even without a declaration of war.

On Thursday the Times printed a report of a dump truck driver in Chemainus who apparently forgot to lower the box on his truck the day before and ripped out close to 50 telephone lines.

At 1 a.m. today what is believed to be the same truck did the same thing at the same place—along the old Island Highway in Chemainus—except that this morning it was the largest in three years. "We are told that unemployment constitutes an emergency. I say to you that while we have some unemployment and the government will seriously grapple with it, there is no emergency."

Mr. Fleming gave no figures on unemployment. A government report issued earlier this week estimated 208,000 Canadians were without jobs and seeking work at Oct. 19, more than double the level of a year earlier.

However, he quoted figures from the same report which he said show that employment was

Pointed Squarely At Russia

WASHINGTON (UP)—Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles apparently will be pointed squarely at Russia from a huge new missile base to be built in Wyoming.

The defence department announced late Thursday the 65 million dollar base will be built at Francis E. Warren air force base near Cheyenne.

The Warren site apparently will be fully equipped for the launching of the big missiles which could streak across the top of the world to land a nuclear payload on Russian targets in 30 minutes in case of war.

New Destroyer Restigouche In Collision

MONTREAL (CP)—The new destroyer escort Restigouche due to be formally turned over to the Royal Canadian Navy Nov. 30, was damaged Thursday night in a collision with a British freighter on the St. Lawrence River.

Canadian Vickers Ltd., builders of the destroyer escort, said today in a statement the amount of damage has not yet been ascertained "but it is understood to be fairly extensive."

The Restigouche was returning from final sea trials when the collision with the freighter Manchester Port occurred about 9 p.m. near Trois-Rivières. Both ships were able to reach port unassisted. The Restigouche travelled upstream to the Vickers yard here, the Manchester Port to Québec City.

Meanwhile it was announced that Cmdr. John W. McDowell, 37, of Ottawa and Halifax, is to command the ship when she is commissioned at Montreal Nov. 30.

The statement did not mention whether any one aboard either ship had been injured.

TRUCK DOES IT AGAIN

Yesterday's Story Still Same Today

This is not yesterday's paper, although the story is the same.

On Thursday the Times printed a report of a dump truck driver in Chemainus who apparently forgot to lower the box on his truck the day before and ripped out close to 50 telephone lines.

At 1 a.m. today what is believed to be the same truck did the same thing at the same place—along the old Island Highway in Chemainus—except that this morning it sliced through a main cable to make a real job of the wreckage.

In both cases the culprit ground to a halt at Mill Road, well festooned with a snarl of wires. Repairs are under way for the second time.

The current pulp strike is to blame for both debacles, since the trucks were hauling chips from the MacMillan and Bloedel sawmill to a temporary stock pile. Ordinarily they would be shipped by barge to Harmac.

URUGUAYAN POLITICOS DUEL, BOTH WOUNDED

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UP)—Former President Luis Batlle Berres and Gen. Juan P. Ribas duelled with sabers today to settle a political issue between them. Both men were wounded slightly.

They remained unreconciled after Batlle Berres was wounded in the right arm and Ribas in the right hand.

According to rules of a "court of honor," the duel ended after first blood was drawn.

Canada Asks Support To Keep UNEF Going

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada, acting on behalf of 20 United Nations countries, called today for continuing support of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East.

External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith appealed to assembly members to "try to reduce the financial costs to the result of released tensions and strengthened hopes for peace."

UNEF, he said, "is serving all of us and is serving us well." The assembly will consider only the general aspects of the force and financial details will be left to the UN's budgetary and other committees. But the debate which began today is aimed at establishing a working basis.

Unofficial estimates are that the Canadian over-all contribution to date is in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

At the moment, UNEF is operating under at least an $18,000,000 deficit, with more to come in its projected 1958 operations.

The Soviet bloc and a number of other UN members have failed to fulfill their obligations as far as the force is concerned.

Yugoslavs Keep Out Of Red Blow at West

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Yugoslavia has abstained from a 12-nation Communist declaration which attacks the West and sets limits on "independent roads to socialism."

Western observers said the most significant thing about the 6,000-word declaration, issued today after a meeting of Communist party delegates was that it did not bear the Yugoslav signature.

Communist leaders from all over the world were in Moscow to attend celebrations marking the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution three weeks ago.

Although Yugoslav delegates were here, President Tito's name was not in the declaration.

Heavenly Father, grant it we may render, both in word and in deed, lives more available to Thee. We give Thee thanks for all the bounties of Thy providence and for Thy mercies, which never fail. We humbly pray that, enjoying Thy gifts in contentment, we may be enabled by Thy grace to use them to Thy praise. In the name of Christ. Amen.

Things seem 't' be gettin' pretty hot in the California forests, too.

For them trucks U-Island, it ain't the operating costs that are expensive, it's th' overhead.

Guess that "aggression thermometer" is 't' tell us when we're slightly at war.

Fleming Sees No Emergency In Canadian Unemployment

TORONTO (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming today denied there is an emergency in Canada's unemployment situation.

"This is no time to be yielding to panic," he said.

"If this is a national emergency all I can say is that practically every country in the world would like to have a national emergency like it."

Mr. Fleming was speaking to a luncheon of leading businessmen in the food industry.

The minister said it is a time for "sober optimism and for constructive measures" to meet winter unemployment which he said is the largest in three years.

"We are told that unemployment constitutes an emergency. I say to you that while we have some unemployment and the government will seriously grapple with it, there is no emergency."

Mr. Fleming gave no figures on unemployment. A government report issued earlier this week estimated 208,000 Canadians were without jobs and seeking work at Oct. 19, more than double the level of a year earlier.

However, he quoted figures from the same report which he said show that employment was at record levels for that period of the year.

Total employment in mid-October was some 5,800,000, an increase of 2.2 per cent over a year earlier. The total labor force had risen four per cent in the year, due largely to immigration, which was the largest in 40 years.

"Canadians have reason to congratulate themselves on having more people employed in this country today than have ever been employed at this season of the year before, and on the fact that we have so largely absorbed and assimilated immigration which this year will exceed 250,000 persons."

Review of Credit Policies Reduced Interest—Fulton

By VICTOR J. MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Continuous reviews of monetary policies and discussions with the Bank of Canada with regard to credit restrictions have led to policies which have resulted in reductions in interest rates, Hon. E. D. Fulton, minister of justice, claimed in the Commons Thursday.

The minister of justice was explaining a speech he made this week in British Columbia. He gave the explanation in reply to a question asked by Hon. James Sinclair, former Liberal minister of fisheries.

In the house Wednesday Mr. Sinclair had addressed a question to Hon. Donald Fleming, minister of finance. At the time Mr. Fulton was en route to Ottawa from the West Coast.

Mr. Sinclair had asked when Mr. Fulton had in mind when he made his speech in British Columbia on falling interest rates due to the policies of the government. Mr. Fleming had said he could not answer the question because he did not know what Mr. Fulton had in mind.

Thursday in the house Mr. Sinclair levelled the question at Mr. Fulton, now back in his seat.

"Now I should like to ask the minister of justice what are these definite steps which have been taken by the Conservative government to relax the Bank of Canada's monetary restrictions?" Mr. Sinclair said.

Mr. Fulton replied: "I have not seen the news dispatch on which the question is based, but I understand it was a report of a speech which I made at the University of British Columbia on Tuesday. In the course of that speech I said that the government had been moving in the matter of monetary policy and credit restrictions ever since we took office.

"I outlined the various measures we have taken, including the provision of $150,000,000 for housing loans. I also pointed out that there had been continuous reviews of monetary policies and discussions with the Bank of Canada with regard to credit restrictions and monetary policy generally," said Mr. Fulton.

"I emphasized that the results of these discussions, and of the policies followed by this government since taking office, were now becoming evident in the reductions in interest rates which have been reported recently. They should do much to create an economic climate in which the restrictive trends initiated by the previous government would be reversed and the Canadian economy could move forward again on that sound program of expansion which is the goal of this government," he said.

Mr. Sinclair said, "I understand, now the ignorance of the minister of finance yesterday in not knowing what the minister of justice had in mind."

TEXT OF CHARGE IN SOMMERS CASE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Text of the charge laid against Robert Sommers, Hugh Wilson Gray and Charles David Schultz in Vancouver Thursday:

French Kill 40 Rebels In Sahara

ALGIERS (Reuters)—French paratroopers have killed 40 members of a nationalist insurgent band which massacred a French oil prospecting team in the Sahara earlier this month, reports reaching here said today.

The paratroopers, with air commandos units, foreign legionnaires and helicopters, moved into the Timimoun Desert area about 625 miles south of Algiers 10 days ago following the attack on the oil prospecting party.

French military sources said six French paratroopers were killed and 10 wounded in the battle, which was fought in the desert about 30 miles northeast of Timimoun.

Garbage Trucking King Jailed, To Face Charges of Extortion

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Garbage truck king Vincent Squillante was jailed today on an indictment charging extortion.

Squillante, self-styled godson of the murdered mobster Albert Anastasia, was held in a cell pending arraignment later in the day along with an indicted brother and an associate.

The 40-year-old Squillante is accused of extortion and attempted extortion in the garbage collection industry in Nassau County, a Long Island commuting suburb of New York City.

Squillante, allegedly the racket boss of the $50,000,000-a-year garbage and rubbish pickup business in the New York metropolitan area, refused to answer questions last Friday before the Senate committee investigating rackets in the fields of labor and management.

The county grand jury, meeting in an extraordinary night session, handed up indictments against Squillante, his brother Nunzio, and Carmen de Caba.

Girl Attacker To Be Sentenced Next Tuesday

A man who waited in a girl's apartment until she came home from a dance, then gave her a common assault in city police court today.

"I had no reason to hit her," Edward Richard Zombek said. Lorna D. A. Leland, 719 Cook, told the court she had come home from a dance Nov. 17 at 3 a.m. and found Zombek "sitting in my room, asleep on a chair."

When she woke him up, he invited her to his room upstairs in the building. She refused and Zombek hit her several times, causing her to fall against a door.

Zombek testified he had been drinking and did not remember hitting the girl.

"I am quite satisfied you knew just what you were doing," Magistrate H. C. Hall replied. He remanded Zombek to Tuesday for sentence.

... RESIGNATION

Mr. Sommers is also over the government. Almost two years ago the people of B.C. were demanding full information on what had been going on.

"Every move by the government from that date to this has been deliberately designed to keep the truth from the people of the province."

"Because of this I call on the government to resign and I call on every public-spirited citizen of the province, every community organization and every group which believes in representative and responsible government also to demand that Premier Bennett and his government resign forthwith."

Provincial Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson said he didn't expect the government to pay much heed to the resignation demand.

"In my view the calling upon the government to resign is simply a means of registering indignation at the way the government has handled the case."

"It is not likely to have any result because it is an exercise in applied futility."

Mr. Finlayson continued:

ALARMED

"Certainly every thoughtful person in B.C. can't be anything but alarmed, not so much that a member of the government is in this position, because it is not uncommon for people to err, but that the leading personalities in the government have deliberately done their best to mislead the people... for political reasons."

The Conservative leader said the government had "diddled around" with the case.

"By their conspicuous over-indulgence in its political aspects, they have brought discredit on the institutions of government."

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing said that with the court case pending, he did not feel it proper that he make any statement.

Commissioner C. W. Harvison, conferred in Vancouver earlier this week to conclude plans for the arrests.

A conference attended by the attorney-general and RCMP Supt. J. L. Bordeleau Wednesday night culminated a week-long series of talks carried on at the Vancouver court house by their subordinates.

Lights burned past midnight in third-floor offices of the court house every night in the week after Mr. Bonner ordered a secret RCMP investigation of the case. Assistant Commissioner Harvison spent most of last weekend in Vancouver on the case and returned from Victoria again Tuesday.

Attorney-General Bonner, who had been in touch with the investigators by telephone, flew from Victoria and joined them Wednesday evening. Supt. Bordeleau also arrived for the final conference, which lasted until 2 a.m. Thursday.

Both were back in their offices in Victoria Thursday morning, but Assistant Commissioner Harvison remained in Vancouver.

Mr. Sommers was eating breakfast when Staff Sgt. Reg Whittaker, Const. R. Blackmore and a special matron called. He was arrested, then given time to shave and call his lawyer before being escorted to a waiting RCMP plane at Patricia Bay Airport for the flight to Vancouver and arraignment.

Word of the arrest was flashed to Vancouver at 8:05 a.m. and Sgt. John W. Purdy with 20 RCMP officers moved into action.

ON BUSINESS TRIP

The group broke up, Schultz and Hugh Wilson Gray were arrested at their homes. John M. Gray was on a business trip in Eastern Canada and RCMP there were asked to locate him.

Armed with search warrants, other police went to offices of business firms named in the charge. Working with special accountants they spent all Thursday at Pacific Coast Services Ltd. and C. D. Schultz Ltd.

Meanwhile, Gowan Guest, president of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association, has called for the immediate resignation of Sommers as MLA for Rossland-Trail.

In a statement Thursday night, Mr. Guest said: "The action today means that Mr. Sommers must resign immediately."

Mr. Guest said that during the B.C. election campaign last year Conservative candidate Tom Macrea of Rossland had asked Mr. Sommers to resign until his name had been cleared.

"He refused to do so," said Mr. Guest, "saying that he had not been charged in a court with anything. Now he has been charged and every British precedent requires him to leave public life until his name has been cleared. He must resign immediately."

DATE TO BE SET

Canada Plans Study of U.S. Welfare State

OTTAWA (CP)—Timing for appointment of a royal commission to study the United States social security plan will be discussed at the federal-provincial fiscal conference in Ottawa next Monday and Tuesday, it was learned today.

An informed government source said these discussions likely will determine whether the commission will be appointed by the end of the year or early in 1958. The source said the government will not decide on a date until it has an opportunity to discuss with the provinces the type of study to be made by the commission.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker promised an early government study of the U.S. social security plan in the Commons Tuesday. He said the study would be aimed at producing in Canada "a rounded, effective and contributory social security system over and above that which already exists."

Mr. Diefenbaker did not elaborate on that proposal. It is understood he will reserve any further comment until after next week's conference.

Under the U.S. plan, all workers make contributions which are based on their earnings. Thus, the pension received on retirement at 65 for men and 62 for women is directly related to income.

CNS Ships Slip Into Halifax

HALIFAX (CP)—Two of five Canadian National Steamship freighters which left Montreal Tuesday for unknown destinations slipped into Halifax harbor early today.

The Canadian Cruiser and Canadian Challenger joined three other CNS ships already tied up here.

It was presumed the remaining three ships, Canadian Observer, Canadian Victor and Canadian Highlander would join the others here later.

The ships presumably are manned by a skeleton crew of officers. The officers are not involved in a strike called last June by the Seafarers International Union to back contract demands.

Destination of the fleet has been in question since the ships left Montreal.

WHAT PART OF YOUR HOUSEHOLD DOLLAR PAYS FOR ELECTRICITY?

Considering the cost of most things today, very little of your household budget is put aside for electricity. It is true that most electricity bills are higher than they used to be, but our average residential customer who is using nearly three times as much electricity as in 1946, is now paying less per kilowatt hour. You can figure for yourself what part of your own household dollar is spent on the electricity you use. What else in your home does so much and costs so little?

Rising Unemployment Sparks Lively Debate

The government may move early next week, in the face of rising unemployment, to lengthen the period for payment of special winter-time unemployment insurance benefits.

Labor Minister Starr said in the House Thursday that a decision on such an extension may be made known "in a matter of days."

Mr. Starr gave notice today on the order paper that he will introduce a resolution next week, probably Monday, "reparatory to a bill providing for the extension."

The special seasonal benefits now may be paid in a 16-week period, Jan. 1 to April 15. Informal sources said the period likely will be lengthened before and after these dates by a total of eight weeks, with legislation to be introduced early next week.

Mr. Starr also reported a 17-per-cent rise, during the three weeks up to Nov. 7, in the numbers of unfilled job applications at National Employment Service offices. The total rose to 327,388 from 278,698 at Oct. 17.

The minister emphasized that these job registration figures are not the "official" record of the extent of unemployment. The authoritative figure was that of a bureau of statistics survey which, last Wednesday, reported 208,000 Canadians were without jobs and seeking work at Oct. 19, a rise of 14,000 in a month.

The political controversy which is beginning to surround the issue of unemployment was demonstrated in a series of questions at the start of Thursday's sitting.

Public Works Projects Suggested

In one exchange, Maurice Bourget (Léves), former for public works, suggested a general program of new federal public works to provide jobs.

Works Minister Green replied this was impossible because the former government had left no "shelf" full of works programs which could be undertaken promptly.

But the Conservative government would do "everything that can possibly be done" in view of the Liberal legacy.

After this prelude, the House settled down once more to its task of scrutinizing the government's $5,000,000,000 expenditures program for the current fiscal year. It approved the last of the departmental estimates of State Secretary Ellen Fairclough and opened debate on those of Mines Minister Comtois. That debate continues today. The estimates study produced comment on a wide range of topics.

Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver, East) urged establishment of a permanent voters list, for use in both federal and provincial elections. He said it would save hundreds of thousands of dollars spent in the present system of enumerating voters before each election.

Art Smith (PC—Calgary South) said the current marketing problems of Western Canada's petroleum industry require a "proper lead" from the federal government. He called for "intelligent planning" by federal and provincial governments.

C. E. Johnston (SC—Bow River) sparked an echo of last year's angry pipeline battle by some sharp criticism of "the Conservative and CCF stand then on the trans-Canada pipeline issue."

He said that if they had won their battle against the pipeline the West's gas industry would be worse off than it is today. He also charged that United States forces opposing import of Canadian gas were strengthened by Prime Minister Diefenbaker's disavowal of the former Liberal government's commitment to allow the trans-Canada line to export gas.

Senator Jean-François Pouliot (L., Quebec) Thursday criticized the CCF Names Candidate for Burnaby-Richmond.

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—Robert Prittie, unsuccessful candidate in Burnaby-Richmond June 10, was nominated again Thursday night to represent the CCF in the next federal election.

Sen. Jean-François Pouliot (L., Quebec) Thursday criticized the CCF Names Candidate for Burnaby-Richmond.

KHRUSHCHEV'S ANSWER TO 'UNBELIEVERS'

Russians Ready to Demonstrate ICBM

CAIRO (Reuters) — Nikita Khrushchev says anyone who still doubts Russia has a workable intercontinental ballistic missile is welcome to watch a "practical demonstration" of the ultimate weapon.

An interview with the Soviet Communist party secretary, published today in the Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram, also quotes Khrushchev as claiming that Russian warnings this fall stopped a Turkish-American attack on Syria. He charged that the United States conspired a year ago with Israel, Britain and France in their invasions of Egypt.

Of Russia's claim on the ICBM, the Soviet leader said: "If there is anyone who doubts that we possess the intercontinental missile, we are ready to carry out a practical demonstration."

Russia announced three months ago the successful testing of an ICBM, the weapon which could carry an H-bomb warhead to almost any target in the world.

Heykal asked Khrushchev whether the Russians hoped to reach the moon soon, and Khrushchev replied: "I do not know exactly but I hope we shall solve the problems of earth before we reach the moon."

When Heykal offered to be the first newspaper man to volunteer for a space trip, Khrushchev said: "Not in the first rocket. Leave this for those men who are desperate."

There are many others who should go before you."

Heykal: "Dulles for instance?"

Khrushchev: "That's an idea. Could you convince him?"

Khrushchev renewed charges first hammered out early last month that the United States plotted to back a Turkish attack on Syria. He told the Egyptian editor that the Russians have "incontrovertible proofs" of the Turkish-American plan.

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — Fifteen Turkana tribesmen have been killed in a clash with Merille tribesmen in Kenya's remote northern frontier area, police said Thursday. More than 100 tribesmen are reported to have been killed last week.

"When it became clear that Syria would not stand alone and it was proved the whole matter was not merely a military picnic, the United States hurriedly advised Turkey to keep quiet."

He charged that the United States backed Israel, Britain and France when the three countries attacked Egypt just over a year ago.

"The United States, despite her outward dissatisfaction over the attack by her allies against Egypt, nevertheless was with them in the conspiracy," he said.

"Its position was a masquerade because I cannot believe that Britain and France and Israel, who depend fully on the United States, could have done what they did if they had not depended on United States support."

The Case of Mr. Bonner

THE CASE OF MR. SOMMERS and several other gentlemen is now before the criminal courts of British Columbia and cannot be discussed.

The case of Mr. Bonner is before another court, the court of public opinion, and every citizen is entitled to discuss it as he pleases.

The record of Mr. Bonner's case began on Dec. 7, 1955, when he received and brushed aside "with skepticism" certain documents relating to the honor of his colleague, Mr. Sommers.

Almost two years have passed since that information reached Mr. Bonner and until a few days ago he did nothing whatever about it.

Then, under the pressure of public opinion, he appointed Chief Justice Sloan as a royal commissioner to investigate the charges against Mr. Sommers and other persons. The case unworthy of his attention in 1955 suddenly was worthy of a royal commission in the autumn of 1957.

Mr. Bonner's decision was late but welcome. At last, it appeared, the whole ugly business alleged by Mr. David Sturdy would be investigated by British Columbia's leading jurist, with no limits on his inquiry. The whole public, we believe, was prepared to accept the verdict of Chief Justice Sloan.

No sooner had the Chief Justice been named as a royal commissioner than an extraordinary chain of events began.

Mr. Bull, counsel for one of the companies involved in the investigation, protested that Mr. Justice Sloan's commission was unconstitutional as trenching on criminal matters, the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Government.

Mr. Bonner at once replied that he considered the commission entirely constitutional and expected it to go ahead without interruption.

Even if the courts had found that it was unconstitutional, and granted an injunction to stop it, a quick and easy remedy was available to Mr. Bonner, if he wished to use it. The Federal Government could have clothed Chief Justice Sloan with the necessary federal powers.

Moreover, the federal minister of justice, Mr. Davie Fulton, publicly assured the people of British Columbia this week that his Government would fully co-operate with the Provincial Government in this matter, if its assistance were required, which he doubted.

Thus there was absolutely nothing in law to prevent Chief Justice Sloan proceeding with his investigation. But, without warning, Mr. Bonner decided to repeal the royal commission.

What happened to change Mr. Bonner's mind after nearly two years' delay and inaction? What new facts had he discovered in the last few days that he did not know many months earlier? If he felt bound to launch prosecutions yesterday, why had he not launched them long ago?

Truly a series of remarkable changes has occurred in the mind of the attorney-general. First, he finds the Sturdy charges unworthy of consideration. On second thoughts, he instructs the Mounted Police to investigate these charges but keeps the police report secret. Thirdly, he appoints a royal commission. And finally, cancelling all his previous decisions, he orders criminal proceedings.

Clearly a man who twists and wriggles in this unprecedented fashion is unfit to be the chief law officer of the Crown.

His fitness is a matter for the consideration of Premier Bennett, who appointed him and must accept final responsibility for both his actions and his inaction. Concerning which Mr. Bennett must be a deeply shaken man.

Whether Mr. Bennett intends to deal with Mr. Bonner remains to be seen. In the meantime the public should understand certain additional and most vital facts.

Chief Justice Sloan's aborted royal commission would have explored every aspect of the Sturdy charges, every circumstance bearing directly or indirectly on the allegations against Mr. Sommers and his associates. No one could have limited the Chief Justice. No one would have dared to interfere with him.

A criminal case, however, is quite a different matter. Necessarily, and properly under criminal law, it must turn on the strict and narrow ground of a criminal trial. A royal commissioner can range as far as he sees fit. A judge in court must confine the evidence to the specific charge before him, and nothing else.

Nothing may now be said about that evidence, no one is entitled to pre-judge the case or by any word of public comment to influence the jury. But it is both proper and accurate to say that by his latest action Mr. Bonner has greatly restricted the field of inquiry.

Why?

Generous Gifts to UBC

TWO FELICITOUS EVENTS, IN Vancouver over the weekend augur well for the success of the forthcoming University of British Columbia fund-raising campaign.

The first was a generous donation by J. G. Robson, retired New Westminster tinnerman, of $250,000, specifically earmarked for student dormitories.

The fact that Mr. Robson is not a resident of Vancouver, and that he recognizes the need for housing for out-of-town students, is significant. It underlines the truly provincial nature of the University, serving the educational needs of students from all parts of B.C.—and indeed, from all parts of the world.

The second was a vote by the students to tax themselves $5 a head for the next three years. This referendum, which was approved by 76 per cent. of the undergraduates, will add $150,000 to the campaign and represents a generous sacrifice on the part of the students.

It is safe to say that no other University in Canada has had a history of such support from undergraduates. They brought the University at Point Grey into being with their "Great Trek" from the old Fairview shacks, when UBC was an adjunct of McGill. They built the original campus gymnasium. They have contributed handsomely to the Brock building and are at present engaged in financing its extension. Now they have assumed a new obligation.

With this sort of spirit on the campus—also evinced in a Faculty decision to contribute as individuals—the success of the "matching grant" campaign seems assured.

Britain Leads Again

IT IS NEVER WISE FOR friends or safe for enemies to under-rate the industrial genius of Britain.

In the last few days the nation which launched the first industrial revolution achieved a new breakthrough in modern technology by selling a series of nuclear power stations to Italy. Other nations are eager to secure these mysterious devices which Britain has learned to make better than any competitor.

This is a far cry from the days when Britain exported a few simple iron and steel products in a primitive age. But the method is the same.

You're Safe, Mr. A. P. Herbert

THE LATIN TEXT SAYS "POETS are born, not made." Members of the Canadian House of Commons are born, also.

There is, however, a slight difference, perhaps overlooked by some members of the House in recent days. Rhymes are rolling out of Parliament in volume beyond reason. If the ode isn't to Sputnik, it's to Mr. Diefenbaker's 15 per cent trade diversion plan.

All this is a measure of the burgeoning Canadian culture and comes very close to the excellence of a famous piece of native Canadian verse to a famous piece of native Canadian cheese.

As a certain Mr. A. P. Herbert has proved at Westminster, it is not impossible for a Parliamentarian to toss off a gay whimsy in verse.

But with another Canadian election due anytime the Prime Minister wants one, couldn't the Parliamentary Librarian protect some members from themselves by merely locking up the rhyming dictionary?

History and Gooseflesh

A GOOD deal of time has now passed since the Sputnik belatedly shattered the false American complacency of the last five years. All the returns are not in yet, but the rest of the world has already made its own rough judgment of the Eisenhower administration's response to the new situation.

For an American, it is a melancholy and alarming judgment. The anxious meetings in Washington, the gyrations of Secretary of State Dulles, the soothing speeches of the President, have neither reassured our friends nor impressed our enemies.

The parallel will raise gooseflesh on anyone with a good memory. All the same, the American government's recent response to the rude awakening seems much too like the British government's response to the rule awakening of the Austrian Anschluss in 1938.

In the Republican administration in America in the '30's, there have always been echoes of the Conservative administrations in Britain in the '30's. The President has often been Baldwin-like (and too many people have forgotten Stanley Baldwin's fantastic contemporary popularity). The similarities between John Foster Dulles and John Simon are too numerous to need underlining. Until Neil McElroy took over, it was really very difficult to remember whether the secretary of defence was called Charles E. Wilson or Sir Kingsley Wood.

The Real Rub

Above all, the economic and world views of former Secretary of the Treasury, George Humphrey, that dominating figure whose opinions still hold sway in Washington, very closely resembled the views of Neville Chamberlain. Here has been and here is the real rub.

To be sure, except in the brief disastrous moment of the summit meeting at Geneva, the Eisenhower administration has always shared most of the other characteristic beliefs of the British leaders of the '30's. Above all they have shared the belief that budget problems must come first with defence problems a very poor second.

Similar beliefs produced similar actions and similar failures to take action. In particular the Eisenhower administration failed to do nearly enough to halt the grim, progressive unfavorable tilt of the world power balance. In many ways so comparable to the tilt of the European balance in the Hitler years. And now, as in 1938, the true state of the power balance has been suddenly, brutally and unmistakably revealed.

This is the true significance of the Sputnik, that it has told us and it has told the world exactly where we stand. We cannot any longer go on believing in the myth of an "American lead" miraculously maintained without effort or sacrifice. The world has certainly ceased to believe in this "American lead," and now instead believes in a Russian lead. Politically, therefore, the Sputnik has been an unqualified catastrophe, for the world's belief in the American lead was our greatest remaining foreign asset.

The world has waited, as the country has waited, to see how the administration would respond to the challenge so brusquely presented. The situation was not and is not by any means hopeless. Our allies, our enemies and the uncommitted nations all alike understand America's vast reserves of power. A general conviction that these reserves are being determinedly mobilized will be enough to alter the whole atmosphere and trend abroad.

Need New Men, Ideas

But in order to save the situation in this manner, two things are needed. New men with new ideas are needed to strike a new note of vigorous, disinterested leadership. And a new call to effort and sacrifice is needed to show that America's reserves of power really are being mobilized in deadly earnest.

Instead the world has been informed that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles means to remain on the job forever in order to organize a new, more intimate unity of the Western Alliance. This seems a little odd, since Secretary Dulles has been the chief architect of Western disunity. But even this seems far less odd than the omission of any real call for sacrifice or effort in the President's speeches. For this must surely mean that the old beliefs are still being obstinately clung to, and the old order of policy priorities, which begot the present danger, still remains obstinately unchanged.

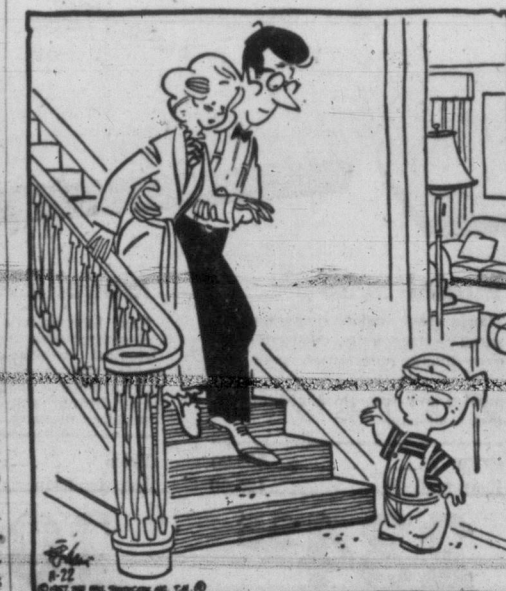

Listening to Silence

The world had cocked an ear to hear the not unfamiliar but always overwhelmingly impressive sound of the United States of America getting down to business again. That sound has not been audible as yet. Instead, there have been sounds all too like the sounds made in Britain in 1939, when Neville Chamberlain launched his budget-first "rearmament" program that left German power forging ahead of British power rather faster than ever.

Maybe this is a safe, sound and sensible approach to the present world crisis. But history says the opposite, and the whole foreign audience of the American policymakers, whether friendly, hostile or neutral, very strongly agrees with history.

As Our Readers See It

Without Prejudice?

Of the voices raised against race hatred, admirable though they all are, only one points out its cause and cure. That is the voice of the Socialist Labor Party.

Southern capitalists, among the chief instigators of discrimination against Negroes, have a material interest in perpetuating such discrimination. Reducing Negroes to an inferior, sub-citizen status and submissive standards of behaviour, provides a source of cheap, docile labor.

More important, it obscures the workers' real problem. It divides them and blinds them to the oneness of their interests as an exploited class. Those interests lie in putting the means of social production under social (not state) ownership and control, and producing things to satisfy society's collective needs instead of primarily for the profit of a parasitic capitalist minority.

Socialism will abolish insecurity and fear. It will substitute co-operation and equal opportunity for the competitive struggles of capitalism and the class and racial friction engendered by them. The SLP urges the workers of all races and colors to establish the Socialist Commonwealth—a society without prejudice.

Nationalize Drugs

Through your columns I wish to suggest that in place of a health insurance scheme the Federal Government should nationalize drugs.

If our Provincial Government finds it difficult to meet the cost of drugs for those in their care, how much more difficult is it for war widows and others on small fixed incomes? The cost of drugs is prohibitive for such people not in hospital.

War veterans on pension receive medical cure and drugs (as they should) but not their widows (nor wives or families so far as I know). These, together with others on low incomes, need help which is long overdue.

I hope others will become interested in my suggestion. It might well become the forerunner to an overall health scheme — as an alternative I suggest a commission set up by Ottawa to enquire into the cost of drugs.

Five Steps to Amalgamation

It's still early in the campaign for the December municipal elections, and so probably not too late to do some basic research in the main issue—amalgamation. Two weeks from now and I don't think the facts will even get a glance, more's the pity.

As a candidate, I thought I had better do my homework carefully, just in case some smart aleck asked me a tough one. Here is what I discovered with the help of one or two authorities, and at the cost of my eyeglass among the 899 sections of the Municipal Act.

We have two choices before us. Either amalgamation can be a perennial sore-spot kicked around in every election until this generation hates the sound of the word. Or we can go after it methodically in this year's campaign, and in the course of 1958 our elected aldermen and councillors can expose the problem layer by layer until it stands naked and ready for a yes or no vote at the end of next year.

I go for the second course, and I think you do also. But let's remember the odds are against it rather steeply, like all good thoughts in a wicked world.

Let's look at the five steps along the way. If you can see anywhere a cost of more than $3,000, or where a tax gets hiked or a minority trampled, then I will gladly eat the roll of newspaper this paper came from.

Step One is for the two councils to decide formally they wish to proceed with the investigation of possible union.

Step Two is for them jointly to appoint a consultant to draw up the fairest terms he can devise out of a lifetime of experience in the municipal field. And it just happens that such a man is probably available in Victoria today (Mr. Bracewell).

Step Three is for the two councils to grab this plan and add a comma here, a proviso there, until it suits the needs of their people as best a document can in this fast-changing world. There will be some horse-trading here, but what are aldermen for, I ask you?

Step Four is the publishing of this charter, draft, plan, call it what you will, in the newspapers.

And I believe at this point a windy sigh will go up from Victoria as everybody's blood pressure drops to a new and healthy low. It will suddenly appear that all the forebodings were quite unnecessary. The proposed new 'set-up' will obviously do nothing but good. And I won't have to eat even a pound of newspaper.

But don't forget Step Five. This is the referendum under Section 25 of our old friend the Municipal Act. The question will be a simple one: "Are you in favor or against union under these terms?"

Perhaps in another piece I can outline what a candidate sees of the results that will flow over the years from this union between Victoria and its suburb with the pretty Indian name of Saanich.

CHARLES M. NELLES.

1999 Lansdowne.

Amalgamation Vote

The chance to take the "politics" out of the whole amalgamation issue seems to have been lost by not asking the people if we are in favor of spending some money on an impartial survey.

The advantages are obvious and it would be inexpensive. If defeated, possibly no money would have to be spent on temporary buildings. Something permanent could be done. Also no more money or time would be expended on the question.

If such a vote passed an enquiry would have to be carried out regardless of the views of next year's reeve and council.

The whole question should be settled by sane, careful, forward looking, and open discussions after the people have been polled on their wishes.

During these many years of debate the public has never been asked how it feels on the matter either in Saanich or Victoria.

It seems to be taken for granted that Victoria is waiting to fall into the arms of Saanich. How do we know this? Have Victorians ever been asked directly? Elected representatives propose but eventually the voters dispose. Why not consult the ones who will have to decide eventually anyway?

FROM WASHINGTON By WALTER LIPPMANN

Anatomy of NATO Problem

IT is well understood that within the NATO alliance there is a crisis of confidence. This crisis has been in the making for some years. But it has been brought to a head since the launching of the Sputniks—more specifically, by the demonstration that the Russians are substantially ahead of the United States in the development of rockets, and ahead, therefore, in the race of armaments.

We must ask ourselves why, long before the Sputniks, there was in the making a crisis of confidence. The answer, I think, is that when NATO was founded, certain deep and dangerous issues, which have since caused great trouble, were in the interest of harmony more or less deliberately glossed over.

NATO, we must remember, is a pact for the defence of all the countries of Western Europe which lie west of the iron curtain, excluding only Sweden, Switzerland, Austria, Ireland and Spain. Algeria is included in NATO, being treated as a part of France. The pact is concerned with military aggression against the territory lying inside the lines on an official map. This is a crucial point. For the pact says nothing about any other area of the world—nothing about Eastern Europe, the Middle East, the Far East, South Asia or Africa.

Interests Outside Europe

Yet almost all the great powers in NATO have interests, some of them very important, some which they regard as vital, beyond the boundaries of the official map of NATO. There is France in North Africa. There is all of Western Europe vitally interested in the oil of the Middle East. There is the American interest in Korea, Japan, Formosa.

In this lies one of the great causes of misunderstanding within NATO. Each of the great powers is disposed to feel that in the outside areas where it is most concerned, it is entitled to expect the support of all the other NATO allies, whether or not they are directly concerned. There has been a strong feeling in the United States that in regard to Korea, Formosa, and our own boycott of Red China our NATO allies have not played the game. The same kind of feeling exists today in France, because we do not underwrite the whole of French policy in North Africa. The same feeling exists in Britain, as well as in France, that we acted contrary to the spirit of the alliance in the Suez affair last year.

These conflicts of interest have played an important part in producing the crisis of confidence. They are compounded by a dual doubt—on the one hand, whether we might drag Europe into a war which broke out in Asia; on the other hand, whether if war broke out in Europe, we could be counted upon in the age of ballistic missiles to risk the destruction of New York or Detroit in the defence of, say, West Berlin.

Reduced to its simplest elements, this is the anatomy of the crisis which is to be dealt with at the NATO meeting in Paris in December. Is NATO a regional pact for the defence of Western Europe? Or is it the core of a world alliance for the containment of Communism? These are hard questions to answer specifically, and the real policy of the NATO powers has been not to spell them out in advance but to deal practically with separate cases as and when they arose.

Third Party Issue

The NATO powers do not know, and have not thought it the part of wisdom to try to say what would happen in, for example, Iceland which is within NATO, if we had to go to war to defend Iran, which is outside of NATO. We have an obligation to Iran. But what is the obligation of Iceland to Iran?

On the general rule that hard cases do not make good law, we shall be hoping, I take it, that at the Paris meeting a way will be found not to define and decide the hardest questions. For NATO cannot be transformed into a world alliance capable of taking a united position on all great world questions. We shall do very well indeed if we can restore confidence in NATO as an instrument for the security of Europe.

My own view, which I know is not widely held, is that the inner conflicts within NATO will cause it to disintegrate—not next year but in the course of time—unless the NATO powers can agree on a common policy which is pointed towards an eventual security agreement with Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union. In other words, I doubt whether NATO can have a common policy in Asia and Africa. But it could conceivably have a common policy to defend Europe by an over-all system of security.

Round and Round

THE processes of education go on and on, or round and round. Often I can't tell which.

The young man in our house is trying to further his education in currently popular music. As I look down the corridors of time, I seem to see a similar scene that transpired a good quarter century ago — before the young man in our house was born.

At that time a young man of the day was attempting to inform his father on the attractions of the then currently popular music — and with little success.

Stott

There is a strange parallel in the argument used by the young man in our house today and the case submitted by his antecedent.

"You cannot judge," says the young man of our house, "today's music unless you listen to it. You need the evidence before you can render a verdict. Will you listen to my opinion?"

And then give me your opinion?

All this is said in tones of sweet reason — a new technique the young man has applied since he found that sheer volume of sound need not be persuasive either in argument or in music.

The young man has planned his submission well. He seeks to prove his point by having a modern vocalist sing the numbers that were dear to the heart of an earlier generation. But he has been overly adroit.

TOUGH COMPETITION

From the throat of a currently popular youth come the melodies made enduring to his listener by Bing Crosby.

The young man has compounded his own task. There's absolutely nothing wrong with the old songs that are reappearing now. It's only the way they are sung that grates on the middle-aged ear. And when the inevitable comparison is made with the renditions of the old master, Bing, the modernist's case falls to the ground.

"This," says the young man in our house, "is the boy they're saying will take up where Bing left off."

"But when," he is asked, "will this boy get to the point where Bing started? How long will it take him to move through the intervening stage and reach a launching platform to go on from there?"

"Give him time," says the young man. "Give him time and a chance to gather a little of the experience Bing has."

"Fine," you say to the young man. "I'm all for that. Do you suppose we could put him in an oak keg and let him mellow for a few years?"

"But don't you think the boy's got something?" asks the young man.

MAY GET OVER IT

You reply, "Yes. But he may get over it," and you say it kindly because you, too, can remember the day of championing the new because it was new — and so were you.

"Maybe you could be a little ultra-conservative about this?" asks the young man. And you admit he's possibly right.

You can't help remembering the time you introduced a brand new song to a male member of the older generation and were almost certain it would win him to your side. The song was called "Dream of Love," with a swell arrangement for a top band of the 'thirties.

The male member of the older generation followed it by playing a classical selection called "Liebestraum," by Franz Liszt. It wasn't bad, but it didn't have the beat of the popular dance orchestra.

Which makes you wonder now why you occasionally lift the Top Ten off the turntable at home and slide on Jose Iturbi's "Liebestraum." You never get around to digging out the old "Dream of Love."

Thinking of it, you become a little less censorious in your judgment of the music to which the young man is trying to educate you.

UN CORRESPONDENCE

By CHARLES LYNCH

Canada's Position Unique

NEW YORK—You can start a discussion in the corridors here by stopping almost any delegate and asking him what he thinks of Canada's contribution to the disarmament talks.

There are opinions pro and con—some think she has muffled a chance to do something really useful; some think she has done the right thing by letting the great powers hash it over and putting in a word here and there; some think she should never have been drawn into the talks at all; since only the big boys can do anything meaningful on disarmament.

Lynch

Nobody wants to be quoted on the Canadian position just yet, although some delegates may have something to say on the subject when the full-dress disarmament debate opens, probably next week.

There is special interest in the role that Canada has, or has not, played, because of her unique position as the only one of the world's lesser powers to have taken part in the summer meetings of the sub-committee on the UN Disarmament Commission in London.

Because of her early progress in the field of atomic science, she was given a seat on the Disarmament Commission, and then on its sub-committee, where she found herself in the company of the United States, the United Kingdom, France and the Soviet Union.

REAL CONTRIBUTION

She chose the first course. As the Canadian delegate, Mr. Charles Ritchie, told the UN Disarmament Commission here this week, "all the governments and peoples of the world have an immense and direct interest in this question, but the few powers which possess these (nuclear) weapons must carry a great share of the responsibility for negotiating a disarmament agreement."

In line with this thinking, there have been no specific Canadian proposals—Canada's contribution has been to line up behind the proposals agreed upon by the United States, Britain and France, bringing pressure where she could to modify those proposals in the direction of an early ending to the testing of nuclear weapons.

Canadians who sat in on the London talks maintain that Canada's contribution in this connection was a significant one—that she did manage to put a point of view across that was not entirely to the liking of the U.S., Britain and France. The Canadian contribution might not be obvious, they say, but it was a real one, nevertheless. And, they add, it would be unrealistic to expect more in the last analysis, everybody must see that the significant decisions on disarmament must be those of the United States and the Soviet Union.

India, clearly, does not agree. She is clamoring for a place on the Disarmament Commission, as well as on the sub-committee. Should she achieve one or both of those aims, she would have no intention of being an interested spectator. Already she has placed three draft resolutions on disarmament before the current General Assembly session.

NO CHANCE

The first called for an immediate and unconditional end to nuclear tests. It was an eye-catching resolution that endured for less than 24 hours—India became convinced that it had no chance of acceptance, so she amended it to include inspection proposals that were very close to those put by the Soviet Union, based on the creation of an International Inspection Commission. Having done that, she then issued a draft resolution on the whole question of nuclear and convention disarmament.

As things stand, the Indian proposals seem to have scant chance of acceptance—but in putting them forward, she feels herself to be the spokesman of humanity itself, pressing the great powers to act.

Should Canada have attempted some such action, in view of her special position on the sub-committee? Was she wrong in accepting the "little boy" role in a matter of such concern to all mankind?

As we said at the outset, you can get many opinions on it, and nobody knows the answer. Canada has offered to get off the sub-committee if it seems that such action would help toward a solution of the disarmament problem. Perhaps some of the answers will be clearer after the General Assembly debate.

LABORITES GET DAMAGES

'Sober As a Judge' Libel Judge Told

LONDON (AP) — Aneurin Bevan told London's high court Thursday he was sober as a judge during a visit to the Italian Socialist party congress in Venice earlier this year.

The matter came before Lord

Chief Justice Goddard in a libel suit brought by Bevan and two other members of the Labor Party against The Spectator, a weekly political journal. The three were each awarded damages of £2,500 ($7,000).

Party secretary Morgan Phillips and Richard Crossman, a member of parliament, joined Bevan in charging they were "gravely libelled" by The Spectator in an article last March.

The article said the British trio visiting the Venice convention "puzzled the Italians by their capacity to fill themselves like tanks with whisky and coffee."

Bevan, Labor's chief foreign affairs spokesman, testified he drank wine and only a single glass of whisky during the congress.

Ian Gilmour, editor of The Spectator, contended in his testimony that the article—written by a Briton, Jenny Nicholson—meant only that the three Britons enjoyed themselves in a normal way in Venice.

Bevan, Labor's chief foreign affairs spokesman, testified he drank wine and only a single glass of whisky during the congress.

Ian Gilmour, editor of The Spectator, contended in his testimony that the article—written by a Briton, Jenny Nicholson—meant only that the three Britons enjoyed themselves in a normal way in Venice.

No Specific Proposals For Provincial Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker plans to make no specific proposals at next week's federal-provincial conference on changes in the present tax-sharing arrangements between the governments.

This is made clear in a letter by Mr. Diefenbaker to Premier Campbell of Manitoba, written Nov. 17 and tabled in the Commons Wednesday.

In an earlier letter Nov. 12, Premier Campbell stated that the meeting, next Monday and Tuesday, should be a "decisive" one on the tax-sharing question.

NOT ENOUGH TIME

Mr. Diefenbaker replied that it is not expected that two days will be adequate to consider fully all problems and suggestions to be put forward.

"Some time will be required to consider what proposals should be made in the light of the views brought forward at the November meeting. We think it better to consider specific proposals at a subsequent meeting after we have had an opportunity to study what is said at the first one and proposals arising from it.

"This need not, however, prevent our reaching agreement on any issues on which discussions next week reveal that general agreement has been achieved."

JITTERBUGGING ON CAMPII

Hundreds of Students Protest Ban on Dancing

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UP)—The college choir added a downbeat to a religious song Thursday and Wake Forest students jitterbugged across the campus in protest of a Baptist Church ban on dancing.

It was the second demonstration in 12 hours on the new $20,000,000 Wake Forest campus transplanted here several years ago from the town of Wake Forest. Wednesday night, naked students blew bugles, shot fire crackers and hurled toilet tissue.

The students were in turmoil over a Baptist state convention decision to continue the ban on dancing on campuses of North Carolina Baptist Colleges. They took their cue today from the college music department director, Dr. Thane McDonald. McDonald and some others of the faculty obviously sympathized with the demonstrators.

Watching the antics as they swelled to near-deafening proportions were some college officials and a number of instructors. Some smiled and none interfered as the demonstration continued into the afternoon.

Thursday's demonstration was supposed to have been a secret. It was set to go off at chapel services. But before the start, the "secret" had spread to nearly everyone on the campus, including choir director McDonald, who planned the "special" chapel program.

After the students filed into the new chapel at 10 a.m., McDonald announced "we'll keep this short, since we understand something else is coming up at 10:15."

The students, one of whom said "this is the first chapel service all year that everybody came," broke into lusty cheers and laughter. They grew quiet with the playing of the Lord's Prayer in its customary manner.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT

"Now we'll give something a little different in religious music," said McDonald, and the choir, with organ accompaniment proceeded to speed up the next religious theme to a danceable tempo.

McDonald followed with the Wake Forest alma mater as the students filed out in orderly fashion. But once outside, a group of boys began to amplify proceedings, with cheers for dance teacher Arthur Murray.

Dancing gaily over the campus were some 300 coeds dressed in black sweaters with red paper letters "D" pinned to them—the "D" standing for "Death to Dancing."

On still another section of the school grounds a group set up a steady "we want to dance, we want to dance, we will dance, we will dance," and finally "Down with Canipe, down with Canipe" (outgoing Baptist state convention president Dr. J. C. Canipe).

Next, a record player attached to a loudspeaker blared forth with rock 'n' roll songs. Several couples started dancing, and the crowd milled close about them, hands clapping.

Most college officials and instructors near the scene praised the students for their order, and Dr. David L. Smiley, assistant professor of history, called the entire demonstration "Very, very orderly."

Three Saved From Wrecked Fishpacker

(From CP Dispatches)
VANCOUVER — A 52-foot fishpacker, riding out a 50-mile-an-hour storm with dead engines and smashed decks, was picked up Thursday night by another fishboat.

The fishpacker Ruth Carlyle radioed earlier she was holed and in danger of sinking in high winds and a blinding snowstorm off the northern B.C. coast near Bonilla Island, in Hecate Strait.

The RCAF said here an unidentified boat reached the Ruth Carlyle Thursday night and towed her into Oval Bay, 40 miles southwest of Prince Rupert.

The three men aboard—all from Greater Vancouver—were reported uninjured. They are skipper Forest Ferguson, engineer Irving Berg and Stanley Karsch.

The Ruth Carlyle's engines were dead, the decks smashed and wheelhouse badly damaged.

STRONGER LAW ASKED

VANCOUVER—New legislation to deal with drunk and impaired drivers was advocated by assistant city prosecutor Bruce Harvey at the B.C. Traffic and Safety Council annual conference Thursday.

Mr. Harvey said Vancouver traffic courts are congested with cases involving these offences and another court may have to be set aside to handle the increasing flow which now averages 50 a day.

WANT CHINA TRADE

PRINCE RUPERT—A resolution calling for immediate opening of trade with Communist China has been adopted by the Prince Rupert local of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.) here. Members endorsed the resolution on the grounds that "the apparently sagging economy needs a boost."

DRUNK BANDIT JAILED

VANCOUVER — Bernard C. Wolsynuk, 25, who admitted committing eight armed hold-ups with a bottle of whisky in his pocket for courage, was sentenced Thursday to 10 years imprisonment. Still to be sentenced are Wolsynuk's companions in four of the robberies—Frank Saver, 27, and John Skidover, 25.

TRAFFIC TOLL MOUNTS

VANCOUVER — Vancouver's traffic death toll for 1957 climbed to 27 Thursday with the death of a 67-year-old man in hospital. John Biro was struck by a car Nov. 21. An inquest will be held Monday.

BRAVE BOY HONORED

PRINCE GEORGE—James Roth, 15, of Giscome, was presented with a Humane Association award for bravery Wednesday night. The boy was credited with "heroic action and presence of mind" in the attempted rescue of Colene Pamela Adams, who was drowned in the swirling floodwaters of Hay Creek May 8.

KITIMAT WORKERS STAY

KITIMAT — Majority of laid-off construction workers plan to stay in Kitimat, it was indicated Thursday in answers to questionnaires submitted to laid-off workers living in Saginaw houses. They received the questionnaires from the community action committee.

About 200 families were canvassed to get an over-all picture of the unemployment situation and to provide the committee with a guide for action. Nearly all of those remaining will be collecting unemployment insurance, the spokesman added.

ASKS JUSTICE LEAVE—Toronto lawyer Lewis Duncan made an unprecedented motion when he asked Mr. Justice Charles Locke to withdraw from a hearing in the Supreme Court sitting at Ottawa. The court ruled against the motion, but Mr. Justice Locke left of his own accord. The Law Society of Upper Canada has ordered Mr. Duncan to give a full explanation.—(CP).

Pact on Fishing With Japan Asked In Washington

SEATTLE (AP)—Milo Moore, director of the Washington fisheries department, said Thursday a request will be made to Secretary of State Dulles that an agreement be reached with Japan on salmon fishing.

The Pacific Marine Fisheries Commission will ask Dulles to seek an agreement with Japan to halt Japanese high-seas fishing of salmon originating in North America, Moore said.

At a recent meeting of the commission in Vancouver, B.C., American members asked Japan to refrain from fishing east of 170 degrees east longitude. The present boundary is 175 degrees west longitude.

Britons Refused 40-Hour Week

LONDON (Reuters)—British Local co-ops now will be asked employers Thursday rejected a union demand for a 40-hour week covering almost 3,000,000 workers in the first big labor-management clash since the government announced its anti-inflation "pay squeeze" policy. Unions. But elsewhere, pay increases ranging up to 12 shillings that pay increases without corresponding boosts in productivity would bring disaster to the co-operative movement, the economy.

THE SCOREBOARD

BY

Harry Grayson

NEW YORK (NEA)—Rocky Marciano started the fistie fashion of hibernating between fights.

FLOYD PATTERSON

put the breath of life back into small clubs in Greater New York.

Lence has done nothing to date, however, and now calls his boxing business "a slow, tedious operation. I can't talk," he says. "There are too many obstacles."

Lence makes it clear that the interecine war, which the poor old beak-busting business is in no position to stand, is still on.

Unless a truce is declared for the good of all hands, Patterson may have to wait until the next Olympic Games for his next opponent, and they are not scheduled in Rome until 1960.

Or the very persnickety manager, D'Amato, might settle for the winner of the National AAU in Boston next April.

Refusing to box anyone even remotely associated with the IBC, D'Amato is guilty of the monopoly charges he lodged against Jim Norris. D'Amato has become the dictator, but one who can't get very far with all of the ranking 10 challengers hooked up with Norris one way or another.

Astonishing fact is that Patterson is a heavyweight champion who has not tackled nine of the first 10 in the ranking. And there are several attractive opponents, too—Eddie Machen, Zora Foley, Roy Harris, Willie Pastrano, Pat McMurtry and Mike DeJohn.

All Patterson has to do to make the sour science hum is keep busy. Few champions have had such an attractive field of potential paydays.

Lence says Patterson can't afford to fight until February because he is in a tax bracket which allows him only nine cents on the dollar. Operating on that theory, everybody in all lines would go out of business.

Lence is dicker for a TV outlet, which he obviously feels he has to have to reopen the Eastern Parkway Arena. But isn't that the main trouble with the mainly art of mangling mugs now—too much free-loading via the magic lantern?

And televised fights have gotten so bad that pub customers now concentrate on the head on their beer instead of the magic lantern.

Floyd Patterson collected $250,000 for boxing Pete Rademacher in a fight that was not televised.

Why doesn't Cus D'Amato get wise to himself and take it from there?

BALL CONTROL DULL?

Ticat Fans Prefer Razzle-Dazzle Play

HAMILTON (CP) — Ask some of them have been accomplished.

They remember quarterback Bernie Faloney when he starred with the 1954 Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats and the answer is simple: A team that could hold the ball.

He had half the job done with last year's team—a strong defence that could stop the other team and get the ball.

The other half he built into this year's team—an offense featuring a strong running attack which can grind out yards and keep the ball.

This impressive organization goes on display again Saturday when Ticats conclude their two-game, two-point Big Four Football League final against Montreal Alouettes at Hamilton. Ticats won last week's opener 17-10.

WHY TAKE ANY CHANCES IF AMBULANCE HANDY?

OTTAWA (CP) — The winners of Grey Cup tickets being drawn for at the Press Club ball on the eve of the big football classic have choice of transportation to Toronto—by air or ambulance.

The ball committee figured no one would want to leave the ball early for the overnight train so the two ticket holders can go by TCA the next morning to get in Toronto in time for the cup parade.

Or, if the winners want to sleep in, they can speed to the game in a well-appointed, two-bed ambulance and get there just in time for the game.

The ambulance will come complete with medical attendants—a wonderful thought for the morning after.

Esks Will Win, Says Pop, 'If---'

EDMONTON (CP)—Head coach Frank Ivy says his Edmonton Eskimos can defeat Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday night in the deciding game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union final.

"If," he added Thursday night, "we can hold them to four points."

"Of course, they can just as easily beat us if they can hold us to five points."

That's about as far as Ivy will go at any time in predicting a football game, especially when it's the third game of the best-of-three series in which his club has lost 197 and won 54.

HURT TWICE AS BAD

"Grant keeps crying about injuries," Ivy said, referring to Bomber head coach Harry (Bud) Grant. "Well, we've got twice as many and they're twice as bad and we have had them all along."

"They're not hurtin' as much as they make out."

Ivy made the statement after his club worked out for 70 minutes in the chill of Thursday evening at Clarke Stadium where the deciding game of the final will be played Saturday at 7:30 p.m. PST.

His medical staff reported defensive end Frank Anderson and fullback Mike Lashuk still unable to suit up for Saturday night with knee and ankle miseries.

Halfback-quarterback Jackie Parker, whose punting return of a wide field goal attempt on the second-last play Wednesday night preserved Eskimos 54 victory, and tackle Reed Henderson were unable to run in the workout Thursday night. They stood around on sore legs and watched their teammates work.

Halfback Rolfe Miles was still having knee troubles; line-backer Ted Tully has a sore back; fullback Normie Kwong a bruised pelvis, and most of the others assorted bruises and ailments.

BOMBERS UNDER MASSAGE

Grant roused Bombers from their hotel beds Thursday morning for sessions with the whirlpool baths, the rubbing tables and the medics. In the afternoon, the players ran through exercises and light running for 35 minutes. Thursday night they met for chalk talks.

Fullback Charlie Shepard, who re-injured his hip Wednesday night, and halfback Pete Mangum, who suffered a sprained ankle, were not running in the afternoon workout.

"Mangum didn't get out of bed this morning," Grant said. "The ankle is pretty bad, but he'll probably dress. The important thing is to keep him in the dressing room with the cream and taking rest."

Grant said Shepard and Mangum had the most serious injuries but every player on the club was suffering from bruises. One piece of good news was that import guard Herb Gray will reach Edmonton Friday night to take part in the Saturday game. He missed Wednesday's game to attend his father's funeral in Texas.

"There's only one thing worse than sending them out there against the Eskimos," Grant said of his players, "and that would be to send them on a battlefield and get a few killed."

Team "A" will consist of Jack Burnett, who won the cross-country event at Brockton Point for UBC three weeks ago and who has shown a couple of fine performances since then; Jim Moore, who has also shown exceptional talent in the meets entered this year; Mike May, Bernie Barton and Bob Bush.

The second team is made up of Stan Joughin, Doug Van

Ness, Jev Tothill, Warren Wilson and Gordie Wilkie. All are consistently strong competitors.

Two teams of UBC's top cross-country men will compete in a 4½-mile cross-country meet at Royal Roads Military Academy, Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

Competition is for the Admiral Nelles Trophy, which UBC won in 1955. Victoria High School won it in 1956 with an exceptionally strong team.

UBC is entering two teams in the race, which will be divided into two divisions.

KILBURN ON DEFENCE

Switch May Upset Art's Plans

Vancouver Canucks, who are planning to give Victoria manager Colin Kilburn some special attention when the Western Hockey League clubs meet at Vancouver Forum tonight, will have to look for the new Cougar captain in a different position than usual.

Kilburn was shifted to a defence berth Thursday as coach Pat Egan announced a new "get tough" policy after a meeting with Kilburn and two players.

During the session, team captain Carl Kaiser asked to be relieved of the responsibility of that position and Egan shifted the burden to the Cougar manager.

Egan also announced that

Kilburn will operate at a defence berth tonight, teaming with youthful Warren Back, while Nelson Bullock moves up to Kilburn's left wing spot on a line with Eddie Dorohoy and Doug Macauley.

Kaiser's resignation as captain and the player shifts were not made in the nature of censure, but rather in an attempt to find a combination that will produce some victories, Egan said.

Egan also laid down a new set of rules for the club and posted a number of "do's and don't's."

Disappointed and angry over the Cats' present record of only two wins and a tie in 16 games, Egan left no doubt that any honeymoon there might have been was over.

"I hate breaking lines and shifting players," he stated, "but some of these guys are going to have to start producing or there are going to be some drastic changes made."

Vancouver coach Art Chapman was reported in a Vancouver newspaper Thursday as hinting his Canucks would be out to "get" Kilburn tonight.

Chapman was reported as saying, "Every time we play Victoria one of our players gets marked up after a clash with Kilburn. How he gets away with his high-sticking and jabbing, I'll never know. It looks as if we'll have to take care of the situation ourselves."

"I don't know what Chapman is trying to start," Kilburn observed when he heard the reports, "but if he's trying to start trouble, he had better watch out tonight."

"If they want to play it rough, we can do that, too," Cougars return to Memorial Arena Saturday for a game with Seattle Americans.

With regular goalie Hank Bassen still in Calgary following the death of his parents last Saturday, and the injury to one of his younger brothers, Amerks will have former Cougar netminder Don Hamilton between the pipes.

Dunlops May Whet Russian Appetites

Henderson Hurt, Junior Goalie To Serve Whitby

TORONTO (CP) — The members of the visiting Russian hockey team, who are reported eating two large steaks each at one sitting, may make a meal of Whitby Dunlops tonight.

Such hockey judges as Chicago Black Hawks' scout Bob Wilson, Ken Reardon, vice-president of Montreal Canadiens, and Bobby Bauer, former Boston Bruins great, among others, have expressed surprise and admiration for the hockey excellence displayed by the Moscow team in their workouts.

Bauer and Reardon watched Thursday's hour-long drill at Maple Leaf Gardens and Bauer praised the Russian shooting. Reardon was astonished by their passing.

The acrobatics of the two Russian goalies have won as much praise as their skating. It has been said all Russian hockey players must pass speed skating tests before they are eligible for serious hockey.

SCORING STAR of Gorge Hotel team, centre forward Bill Abbott will be leading Hotelmen in Jackson Cup semifinal against Brodie's Bakery at Royal Athletic Park Saturday. Abbott scored both Gorge goals as teams tied, 2-2, in league game last weekend.

Bakers Meet Gorge Hotel In Cup Semi

Time is running out on Jackson Cup play in the Victoria and District Football League, which hits the last lap with Saturday's semifinal between Brodie's Bakery and Gorge Hotel at Royal Athletic Park.

The teams will be fighting for the right to meet Tillicum in the final, slated Nov. 30.

Tillicum advanced to the final last Saturday with a 5-2 win over Canadian Hungarians.

Tillicum are presenting a problem to league officials with the number of league games they have left to play before the first half can be concluded.

THREE GAMES BACK

Playing in Jackson Cup action has caused the Clubmen to fall three league games behind the rest and these have to be made up before the Christmas break.

Sunday's regular league action will find Tillicum playing Esquimalt at Heywood Avenue Park and Victoria Kickers meeting Punjab United at Topaz Park.

Third game scheduled at the weekend is between Heaneys and Butler Bros. at Central Park.

All games start at 2 p.m.

MRS. PETRIE WINS

Colwood Golf and Country Club ladies held a turkey shoot Thursday with Mrs. B. J. Petrie winning first prize with 108-28—80, and Mrs. G. Rice taking runner-up position with 98-16—82.

A Girl and 300 Boys

By HARRY RECKNER

CINCINNATI (NEA)—"Daddy wanted a boy, but got me instead."

"Me" is the quarterback and leading ground gainer for the Roll's Sheriffs and the top defensive tackle in Otto's Pee Wee League.

"Me" also is Bobbie Dickerson, 13-year-old freshman and honor student at Newport High. She wears skirts to school and helmet and shoulder pads on Sunday, the only girl in a football league of 300 boys.

Bobbie even changed her name so she could play. "Who ever heard of a quarterback called Sharon Kay?" she asks. Even though rated the top player on her team, Bobbie hasn't been able to lead it to victory. When Roll's Sheriffs dropped a thriller to Howe's Sheriffs, 14-7, it was only the second time this season that the losers scored losing three straight games. Bobbie scored the other touchdown on a 10-yard burst straight up the middle.

BOBBIE DICKERSON

In the league in which Bobbie plays, players can't weigh more than 110 pounds.

or be more than 14 years of age. Bobbie showed up to register wearing her helmet. She qualified, topping the scales at a solid 91 pounds.

"How was I to know she was a girl?" Bill Otto, league founder and sporting goods store operator, asked. "She looked just like the rest of the kids, but we'll change the rules next year to bar girls."

Bobbie plays first base on a neighborhood baseball team and forward in basketball. The Dickersons have another girl named Patricia Ray.

But their father, a rabid sports fan who sees most of the University of Kentucky's games, is looking for a winner.

"Bobbie's team has lost all its games and UK dropped six straight," moans Thomas J. Dickerson, who operates a Cincinnati service station. "But I've got myself a football player at last. A few months ago we adopted a baby boy, Thomas J. Dickerson Jr."

"Right now he looks like a good bet to play fullback."

Last-Minute Shot Stops Morrison's

Making their first appearance of the season in senior B basketball circles, newly-organized Dairy Queen Eds served notice that they are going to be a force to be reckoned with as they downed Morrison's 40-38 at Central Junior High School Monday night.

Nation-Wide Television Of Cup Classic

TORONTO (CP)—The Grey Cup football game here Nov. 30 will be shown live on television screens from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific, the CBC said today.

The CBC said it has arranged with the American Broadcasting Company to carry the game by microwave over its channels to the Maritime provinces. Arrangements also have been made to bring the game to viewers in Vancouver and Victoria.

Four Alberta stations will join the CBC microwave network to complete a 31-station link stretching from Halifax to Victoria.

The announcement said ABC has delayed network service to its east-coast stations to permit the CBC to purchase facilities for the game. Arrangements have been made with American Telegraph and Telephone Company to relay the game through the western United States to British Columbia.

Soccer Meeting

Victoria and District Football Association will hold a meeting Wednesday in the Chamber of Commerce board room, starting at 8 p.m.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss remaining games in the first half of the league as well as plan second-half activity.

INTERIOR HOCKEY

Tough Grind Ahead For Pennant-Minded

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

There would appear to be a lot of tough hockey ahead this season for the four teams in the Western International Hockey League.

Terms suggesting over-powering success such as "front-running" and "league-leading" seem hardly appropriate for Spokane Flyers, who are only one victory ahead of the next two clubs, Nelson Maple Leafs and Trail Smoke Eaters. Nor does there seem to be anything abnormally decrepit about a "cellar-dwelling" team when, as Rossland Warriors are, it is only three wins from the top team.

Fred Painter of Gorge Vale Golf Club was elected president of the Victoria Golf Greenskeepers' Association at their recent annual meeting held in the boardroom of the Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion.

First vice-president is W. Armstrong of Cowichan, with Colwood's T. Thorpe as second vice-president.

Secretary-treasurer of the association is C. A. Smith of Oak Bay, while honorary president is J. R. Murray, also of Oak Bay.

Tugmen Trap Dodger Crew

Time and Island Tug finally caught up with Dodgers in the Victoria Table Tennis Association this week. Dodgers dropped their first match of the season, to Tugmen, by a 21-11 score.

The result, combined with Strathcona Hotel's 17-15 win over Farmer Construction, left the Hotelmen tied with Dodgers for the lead.

Other league action had Heaneys drubbing Butler Brothers by a 25-7 score.

RUSSIAN PUCK OFFICIAL CRITICIZES ROUGH PLAY

TORONTO (CP)—Col. Pavel Korotkov, chairman of the Soviet Ice Hockey Federation, Wednesday night criticized rough play as he watched a National Hockey League game between Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs.

"Why do they allow such rough play?" he asked after scuffles broke out twice among players on the ice.

"A player who fights in Russia is automatically suspended for the game."

Col. Korotkov is here with the touring Russian hockey team.

HULL NOT DULL

Hawk Youngster Hot Candidate

By The Canadian Press

Young hockey players who never reach the peaks predicted for them by National Hockey League scouts are common, but Chicago Black Hawks have a youngster who has surpassed even the hopes of his most ardent supporter.

He is Bobby Hull, a husky blond 18-year-old who might be expected to be rocking and rolling to music and not the bone-rattling bodychecks of NHL defencemen.

Three years ago the Point Anne, Ont., product was spotted by a Black Hawk scout who enthusiastically predicted he would be in the NHL at 18. He's there now and he won't be 19 until Jan. 3.

YOUNGEST HAWK EVER

The 190-pound centre is the youngest player in Hawk history and probably one of the youngest to ever play in the NHL, rivaling the ages of some of the fuzzy-cheeked juniors who were brought up during the lean war years.

Tonight he will be trying to add to his three-goal, nine-assist record as the third-place Hawks are hosts to league-leading New York Rangers.

Hull's performance over the early part of the season, centring Jack McIntyre and Ron Murphy and taking the pivot position on power plays, makes him a hot candidate for the Calder Trophy as the league's outstanding rookie.

All his boosters aren't in the Chicago camp. Stafford Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs, never an easy man with praise, is one of them. "He's a lot of hockey player," Smythe says, and adds, "he's also overshadowing our Frank Mahovlich, isn't he?"

Smythe has rueful memories of Hull. Last year Leafs' Ontario Junior League team, Toronto's Marlboros, beat Hull's squad, St. Catharines Teepees, seven in a row while without

Second Vic Team Enters UBC Meet

The Victoria Amateur Swimming Club will enter an 18-member team in a gala sponsored by the Dolphin Club in Vancouver's Crystal Pool on Saturday.

The meet is expected to attract some 300 entrants, including a second Victoria team which will race under YMCA colors. There will be events in four junior divisions as well as a category for senior swimmers.

Cyclists to Burn Gas For Community Chest

Second of three races for the Victoria Motorcycle Club's cross-country championship trophy will be held Sunday at Pedder Bay.

More than 25 riders will race over the hilly, twisting course in four heat races of five laps each, a six-lap consolation race, a small machine race and the 15-lap main event.

Heading the list of entrants will be defending champion Tom Richardson, hotly pursued by a field which includes Ernie Hills, Wes Morhart, Al Barclay (Tourist Trophy champion), Bill Smith and Al Lewis.

All proceeds from a pass-the-hat collection will be donated to the Community Chest.

Spectators will be able to park on the grounds and view the races from their cars. Directional markers to the race site will be posted from Colwood Corners right to Pedder Bay.

First events will start at 1 p.m.

FOOT INJURY SIDELINES BIONDA FOR ONE WEEK

BOSTON (AP)—Defenceman Jack Bionda is lost to Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League for at least a week as the result of a practice accident.

Bionda was struck Wednesday on the left foot by a shot off the stick of centre Bronco Horvath during a scrimmage at Boston Garden.

Bionda's injury cuts the Bruins' defence down to five men. Leo Boivin has been sidelined since last month.

Certification Hearing Delayed to Saturday

TORONTO (UPI)—The fledgling National Hockey League Players' Association formally applied to the Ontario Labor Relations Board Thursday to be certified as bargaining agent for the Maple Leafs hockey club's players.

Hearing of the application, before board chairman Jacob Finkelman, was adjourned until Saturday morning after only one witness appeared. The witness, Jim Thomson, formerly of the Leafs and now with the Chicago Black Hawks, is secretary of the players' association. Thomson explained the history of the association's founding in Toronto.

When the association first applied for certification before the Labor Relations Board, it listed 18 signatories of players belonging to the group on Nov. 1. However, when a list was submitted today it contained names of 31 players under contract with the Maple Leaf Gardens Limited, owners of the hockey club.

Finkelman observed that only 20 of the names on the association's list coincided with the Gardens' list of players under contract.

Finkelman indicated he would probe deeper into the discrepancy when the hearing resumed Saturday.

Milton Mound of New York, lawyer for the association, was at the hearing along with E. David Lewis, of Toronto. The Gardens was represented by Ian S. Johnston and Norman Mathews, both Toronto lawyers.

Sitting in on the session were Ted Lindsay, president of the association, along with his Chicago teammate, Eric Nesterenko, and Tod Sloan, Dick Duff, George Armstrong and Jim Morrison of the Leafs.

Russian Shoes Kick Up Storm

By PETER UEBERSAX

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union has found a means of propelling high jumpers into the air that is causing as much uproar in the sports world as did Sputnik in the scientific.

It is a piece of rubber, about an inch thick, which is attached to the sole of a track shoe with a thin coating of leather. So effective is it that Russian high jumper Yuri Stepanov has soared over the bar at seven feet, one inch.

That is a world record — and again it isn't. For there is going to be one almighty struggle when the world's top amateur athletic officials meet in Stockholm next year to consider the case of the propulsion shoes.

REFUSE RECOGNITION

When pictures of Stepanov's jump (and shoes) reached the West, there was such an outcry of protest that the International Amateur Athletic Federation refused to recognize the mark, although it was three-eighths of an inch better than American Charles Dumas' official record.

Western officials charged the spongy rubber gave Stepanov extra bounce on takeoff and also provided him extra height.

"Next thing the Russians will do is put a spring in a pole and have their vaulters clear 16 feet," one Swedish official said. Another western observer suggested flinging sprinters from the starting mark with huge rubber bands and installing rockets on the javelin.

There is no question but that Stepanov's proficiency increases once he puts on the magic shoes. In track meets only months apart, he jumped five inches higher.

The Russians have denounced the protest as "a conspiracy to belittle Soviet advances in the field of physical culture." They say equipment must improve.

The Russians do have one strong point. IAAF rules say nothing about shoes. And it must be conceded that for years European high jumpers have been experimenting with fancy footgear. Nobody raised any objections until the Russians began clearing seven feet.

Cuban President Pardons Fighter

HAVANA (AP)—Kid Chocolate, once the idol of Cuba's fight fans, won't have to serve a seven months' jail sentence for possessing one marijuana cigarette.

President Fulgencio Batista agreed to pardon him providing he received proper medical care so that he eventually could seek employment, it was learned Thursday.

He was arrested last January but was not tried until November. Cuban Sports Association officials and fans came to his aid as soon as they learned of his plight and appealed to Batista.

Yank Desk Job Handed Coleman

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees revealed Thursday that Jerry Coleman, second baseman and utility infielder, retired as a player on Nov. 1 and now is employed in the club's front office as an assistant of Lee Macphail, director of player personnel.

Coleman, whose 364 batting in the 1957 world series led the Yankees, will scout and help at various farm training camps. Some of his time will be spent in public relations work.

Now 33, Coleman has been with the Yankees nine years.

Margaree C.O.'s First Command Was 'Victoria's Own Warship'

By MONTE ROBERTS

A former commanding officer of the frigate long known as "Victoria's own warship" will come home Sunday.

He is Cmdr. Jack Korning, and he'll be on the bridge of HMCS Margaree, newest anti-submarine escort to join the Pacific Command, when she comes alongside Jetty A at HMC Dockyard, promptly at 10 a.m. Sunday.

As captain of the Margaree, he'll have an electronic wonder-ship at his command. But it's doubtful if he'll ever forget "Victoria's own" ship.

Which is, of course, HMCS Beacon Hill, now completing modernization and almost ready to rejoin the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron.

GREAT FUSS

The Beacon Hill was built by Yarrows Ltd. in 1943, would have been christened the Victoria if it were not for the fact the Royal Navy had an HMS Victoria. The city made a great fuss over the new ship; service clubs raised money for comforts, a piano was donated, Mayor McGavin presented the ship with an official plaque.

But Cmdr. Korning will remember the Beacon Hill for another reason; she was his first command.

This was in 1949. His last previous posting on this coast was as first lieutenant at HMCS Naden, in 1951.

Cmdr. Korning's parents live here. B.C.'s unpredictable deep-sea shipping industry—which has as many ups-and-downs as a halibut boat crossing Millbank Sound—is riding a crest at present.

19 AT V.I.

As of Wednesday afternoon 59 blue-water freighters were loading at various ports on the island and mainland.

Nineteen of these ships were at Vancouver Island ports, all but one taking lumber.

Busiest port, as usual, was Vancouver, with 25 freighters in. Included at the mainland port were five "Russkies," all loading grain. Vancouver is away ahead of the average on grain loadings this year.

As a contrast to the 19 ships now working Island ports, look back less than two weeks—a total of three deep-sea ships were in.

down at Alberni. The Powell River and the Kongsholm are tied up in California.

Purse-Snatcher Loses Appeal As Two-Month Sentence Upheld

A Victoria youth's appeal against a two-month sentence for stealing a purse from a 16-year-old girl was dismissed by the B.C. Appeal Court in Vancouver Thursday.

Gary Wilfred Bishop, 19, of 1334 Pembroke, was convicted of the charge by Magistrate Henry Hall in Victoria city police court and sentenced Oct. 7.

The testimony showed that he was one of three youths who called out to Margaret Greig, 16, of 2965 Admirals as she walked on Johnson Street about 4 p.m. Sept. 10.

When she declined to give her name, Bishop took her purse and removed a billfold, three pictures and her birth certificate.

These were returned two days later when Bishop made an appointment with the girl for this purpose—but police officers kept the appointment, not the girl.

Passing sentence, Magistrate Hall said:

"You are a young man of 19 with no previous convictions and a good work record. Nevertheless you don't seem to appreciate the rights of other persons. This sort of thing has got to stop."

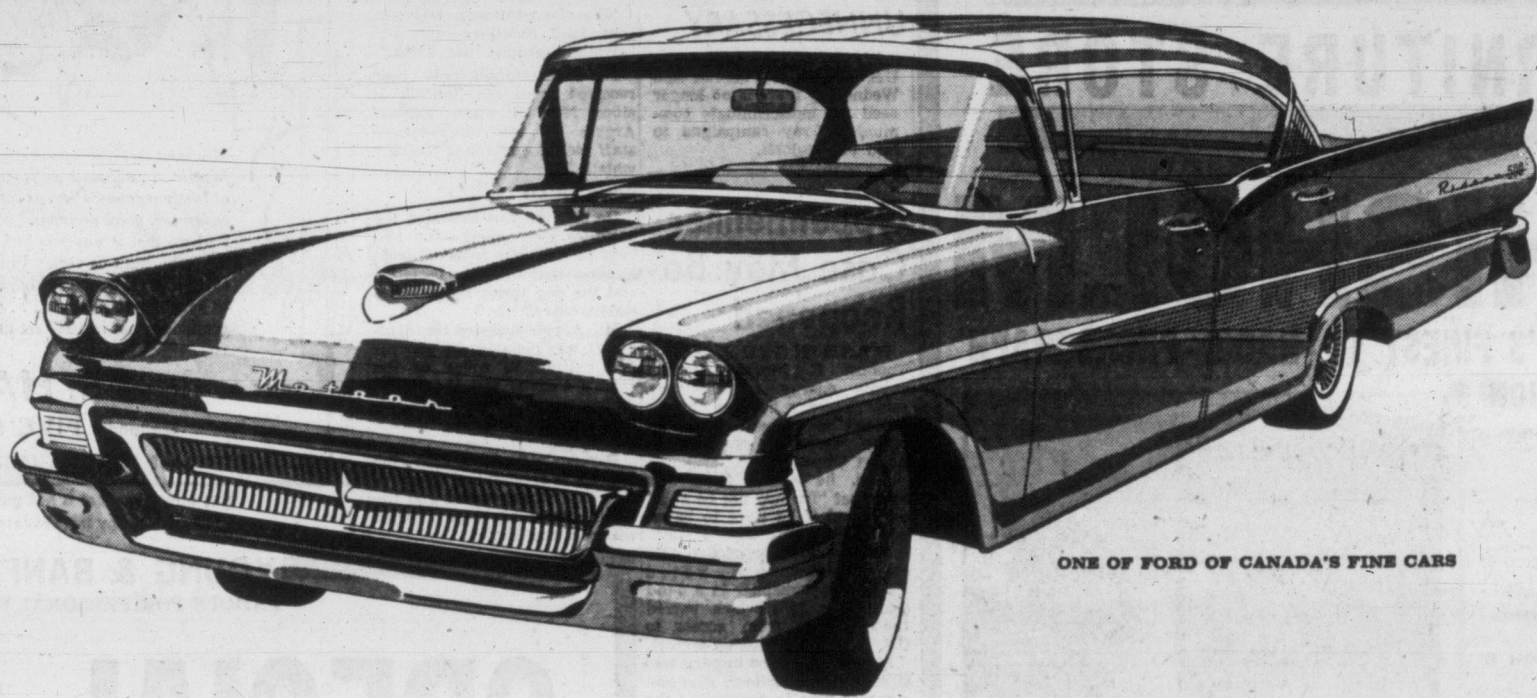

Pure Oil Discovered

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio said Thursday night a rich strike of clear, colorless oil so pure it needs no refining has been made in the Fergana Valley of Southern Uzbekistan.

RAIN SWAMPS ALGERIA
ALGERS (AP)—Heavy rain-fall measuring up to six inches isolated villages and French military outposts in much of Algeria Thursday. Rebel and French military activity was near standstill.

QUEEN, PHILIP VISIT NETHERLANDS IN 1958

THE HAGUE (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip will pay a state visit to The Netherlands in March, 1958, it was announced today.

The Foreign Office announcement said the Queen and her husband had accepted "with pleasure" an invitation by Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard to pay a state visit March 25, 26 and 27 next year.

Juliana and Bernhard made a state visit to England in 1950 during the reign of late King George VI.

X-RAY FOR TB ON BIG SCALE UNNECESSARY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. public health service said Wednesday there is no longer need for indiscriminate community X-ray campaigns to find tuberculosis.

Oppenheimer Case May Be Reopened

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thomas E. Murray, former atomic energy commissioner, said Thursday he sees "no objection" to reopening the security case of physicist J. Robert Oppenheimer.

And, he added, if a new board sat "I would not be at all displeased if he were to be reinstated."

Murray was one of the AEC commissioners who voted against Oppenheimer in a 4-to-1 decision in 1954 which barred the physicist from access to U.S. government atomic secrets.

A question in the inquiry was whether Oppenheimer, who had a major part in developing the atomic bomb, had sought to delay development of the hydrogen bomb. Oppenheimer said he had been guided by his views as what would be the wisest expenditure of effort and materials.

The majority findings against Oppenheimer came down to a conclusion that he was a loyal American but had held himself above security restrictions, had associated with Communists and had been untruthful.

Indian Acquitted Of Murder Charge

WHITEHORSE, Yukon (CP)—A territorial court jury Thursday deliberated 10 minutes in finding James Johnnie not guilty of murder in the death last May of John Sunde.

Johnnie, an Indian, was charged June 24, after Sunde's body was found in the Yukon River about two miles downstream from his home near an Indian settlement. Johnnie's arrest followed investigation of a drinking party on the night Sunde was thought to have died, a month earlier.

Organizers Want to Organize

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor unions often have encountered flat "no" replies from AFL-CIO has replied with a flat "no". The organizers, calling themselves the Field Representatives Federation, have taken their case to labor relations board officer Louis S. Wallerstein. But union officials explained to Wallerstein they feel labor to hire and fire.

Men must continue to open and develop Canada's northern frontier... adequate staffs must stay on duty constantly at lonely outposts. Progress calls for determination, rugged endurance, quick decisions.

Perhaps that is why you find Haig & Haig in the picture with men who can't be vague. In ordering Scotch whisky, they naturally name the brand they know through experience to have singular virtues... the original Scotch flavour and gentleness that in 1627 set the standard for all to follow.

'Auction the Mayor', Cried Crowd First Time City Hall Up for Sale

By PETE LOUDON

The sheriff walked in, seized the corporation books, money, seal and assessment roll.

That was the first time Victoria city hall was placed on the market.

It was Dec. 19, 1884. The city was 22 years old. The city hall was the same one that's up for sale today. It had been built four years earlier.

The Times of December 19 recorded the scene in the wake of the sheriff.

"A glance through the rooms of the city building showed it to be in a very dilapidated condition. The city clerk and the city engineer leaned against the wall watching a few coals burning out in the grate.

"The police court was denuded of furniture. In lieu of the usual circular table was an old table taken from a gambling den, blocks of wood serving as seats. In the council chamber was found a solitary spittoon."

MONTE ROBERTS

I wish I were Walt Disney.

If I were Walt Disney, I would produce a fantasy called The Lonely Little Telephone.

And this fantasy would be based on fact, the fact being not more than 12 inches away from me at this moment.

The fact is a lonely little, black, rather attractive-looking telephone sitting in a central location between the adjoining desks occupied by the legislative reporter, the city hall reporter, and me.

The lonely little telephone—I have christened her Tillie—came to join us on the 12th day of this month.

She arrived in style, carried by a business-like installation man. She was placed between two other telephones, so she would not lack for company.

And when the telephone man went away, Tillie wore an air of importance mixed with expectancy.

For Tillie's job was to provide direct connection with the courthouse, so the complete report of the Sloan Commission could be transmitted to The Times newsroom and thence to all our constituents.

I was fortunate enough to be there when Tillie rang her bell for the first time.

It was a very loud bell, demanding immediate attention. Tillie's job, you see, was so important she had been given a louder bell than any of the other telephones in the newsroom.

As I lifted Tillie from her resting place, she nestled confidentially against my ear, and allowed me to hear a reporter from the courthouse saying "Probe's postponed to December."

Poor Tillie! She looked crestfallen as I put her back, gently. But I said to her: "Be patient, Tillie. December will soon come, and then you'll have lots to do."

Tillie did her best to be patient, but the minutes and the hours and the days crawled by, and never once did she get a chance to ring her lovely, loud bell.

The other telephones clamored as the legislative reporter eagerly listened to politicians saying "don't quote me," and the city hall reporter was given information prefaced by "this is off the record."

But Tillie waited, and waited, and she was never allowed to ring her bell. She began to fidget, and she was worrying so much, she was losing weight. No matter how much I tried to console her, she refused to smile.

One night I went into the office, well after midnight, when the city room was shrouded in darkness and all the other telephones were sleeping after a hard day's ringing.

But not Tillie.

Tillie was crying silent, lonely tears. Nobody would allow her to ring her lovely, loud bell.

When Tillie heard the news that the Sloan Commission was not going to come, Tillie fell off her resting place in a dead faint.

Poor, poor Tillie. If only I were Walt Disney, I could produce a happy ending for this fantasy—even if it were only Silenus' courthouse seagull who called so Tillie could ring her lovely, loud bell.

I DO wish I were Walt Disney.

All this had happened because Mayor J. W. Carey (after whom Carey Road is named) refused to sign a cheque for $870.50. The bill had been submitted by the firm of Drake and Jackson. Certain services had been rendered a previous council.

Mayor Carey said his council was not responsible for the bills of a previous administration.

So the sheriff took over. He placed a bailiff in charge of city hall and Mayor Carey placed a policeman in charge of the bailiff.

'BENEFIT SHOW' BY SALMON AIDS CHILDREN AT SOLARIUM

The salmon run at Goldstream helps the crippled children at Queen Alexandra Solarium, thanks to continuing efforts of the Junior League which operates a stall there Sundays, serving coffee and hot dogs.

League members will operate the stall again this Sunday and also Dec. 1, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Proceeds go to the Solarium.

About 40 volunteer workers are pitching in to make the venture a success.

New Council To Get Building Problems

The problems of constructing a new fire hall, city hall and garbage wharf for the city of Victoria may be turned over to the 1958 council, Mayor Percy Scurrell indicated today.

The mayor pointed out municipal election day is less than three weeks away and time is short for completing the negotiations leading to a start on any of the three projects.

"It looks as though it may be left to next year's council," said the mayor.

"We can't decide on a location for the new fire hall until we definitely know we can't get a portion of the Central Junior High School property."

The mayor said negotiations with Woodward Stores Ltd. concerning the proposed sale of the old city hall property, will hold up plans for a new hall.

"And the garbage wharf must wait until we see what funds we will have left, after the fire hall construction."

Memorial Arena manager Joseph Dukowski apologized Thursday for "a hasty and inaccurate" radio broadcast concerning the arena floor.

During the broadcast on Wednesday, he offended city engineer J. C. Garnett, a member of the arena commission.

Mr. Dukowski tendered his apology at a special meeting of the commission Thursday night and a statement was issued by commission chairman Forrest L. Shaw today.

"At an arena commission meeting last night, the commission accepted an apology from Mr. Dukowski... for a hasty and inaccurate statement concerning the arena floor..."

The commission had earlier adopted recommendations of Mr. Garnett concerning operation of the floor freezing system. The recommendations were different from those put forward by Mr. Dukowski earlier.

"The arena commission would like it known that Mr. Garnett's recommendations had been endorsed and acted upon, after full consideration of all the facts, and Mr. Dukowski's statement did not in any way reflect their (the commission's) view," wrote Mr. Shaw.

The sale was sponsored by the ladies' auxiliary of the CNIB.

Mrs. Ross said Victoria's blind citizens will receive Christmas gifts from the Ross family in place of the annual party given at Government House in former years.

Mrs. Ross promised to send a cheque to the auxiliary for purchase of individual gifts.

"When the new Government House is completed," she said, "a party for the blind will be one of the very first given."

The Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group, Thursday decided it will again sponsor next year its annual "goodwill tour" to some region of British Columbia or the United States.

No decision was made with regard to the region the group will visit. Among suggestions were a trip to San Francisco or Prince George. The tour's destination and the time it will be held will be discussed at a later date.

The St. Mary's Oak Bay Men's Guild meets in the parish hall at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 28.

Speaker will be H. J. Evennett, OBE, who will give a talk on Jamaica and the West Indies, illustrated by sound film.

The last $50,000 seems to be the hardest for Community Chest canvassers. At noon today $203,750 had been donated to the campaign and collections are coming in slowly, an official said. Goal to finance 20 member agencies is $251,717.

Saanich police today were investigating a car found abandoned early this morning deep in an undeveloped section of Mount Douglas Park.

The red and white late model car had been driven over rough and rocky trail, over 200 yards into park territory and stopped in a heavily wooded hollow. The driver apparently was unable to negotiate a return trip and left his car. Police had not located the owner by press time.

A six-months' suspended sentence was given Robert J. Kinscough, 18, 2115 Fernwood, in city police court today for being in possession of stolen hubcaps. He had pleaded guilty to the charge. Magistrate H. C. Hall ordered the youth to post $500 bond.

Guilty pleas were entered in city police court today on two charges each against Gamage's Food Plan Ltd. and manager John Proby of failing to pay social services taxes amounting to $887.41. Magistrate H. C. Hall imposed a fine of $10 on each of the four counts. The debt must be paid by Jan. 24.

The mayor complained he had not only been denied access to the hall, but he had also been assaulted.

Council said the mayor should enter an action of $25,000 for damages and apply for an injunction to prevent the sheriff from selling the property.

Whether such action was taken is not clear. But on the 19th the sheriff proceeded with his sale by auction.

A large crowd gathered at the offices of auctioneer G. Byrnes.

The Times says one man was preparing to buy the city seal with the idea of selling it back at a profit when the council came to its senses.

"A prominent candidate for the mayoralty" decided to purchase the mayor's chair and, "in it practice a graceful posture until elected, when he would bring both chair and posture to his inaugural meeting."

Another citizen was eyeing the city safe.

Speculation was halted however by the arrival of a procession. The deputy sheriff arrived with a span of horses, a wagon and two dump carts, two bales of hay and a rock crusher—the last of the city's possessions.

Sale was about to start when a group of 13 staunch Victorians made their presence known.

One, Joseph Spratt, climbed on a chair and beseeched all loyal citizens to abstain from bidding. He said he and his friends were prepared to put up the money to meet the judgment. There was loud applause and the sheriff accepted the offer. Mr. Spratt said the property would be returned to city hall and the corporation could go on incorporating.

The Times says: "Great cheering followed... among which could be heard cries of 'sell the council'... 'put up the mayor.'"

The group adjourned to the auctioneer's office and Mayor Carey was seen to enter also.

"...after some loud talking he was seen to emerge rather hastily."

The citizenry blamed Mayor Carey for disgracing the city and defeated him in the next election. R. P. Rithet won easily and his council repaid the 13 benefactors.

One of them was the coal and railway baron, Member of Parliament for Victoria, Robert Dunsmuir.

V.I. Carpenters Jolted By Pulp Union Pickets

Pact Broken At Harmac?

Building tradesmen's leaders in Victoria were jolted today by an announcement that pulp workers striking at the Harmac mill will picket a $1,500,000 construction project at the plant.

"This is rather unexpected," said Victor Migdely, international carpenters' union representative. "We haven't had a chance to discuss it with the pulp workers committee yet but we'll contact them as soon as we can."

The announcement was made in Vancouver by H. L. Hansen, spokesman for 6,000 striking B.C. pulp workers, including 1,650 on the Island.

WOOD ROOM

Mr. Hansen said building tradesmen employed by Dominion Construction Company, scheduled to build a wood room at the MacMillan and Bloedel mill near Nanaimo, will not be given permission to pass picket lines.

Up to 100 men could be employed on the job. Mr. Hansen said the company had not started work when the pulp strike began nine days ago so it didn't fall within an inter-union agreement to allow construction in progress to continue unhindered by picket lines.

"We were given written assurance that they wouldn't interfere with any construction work," said James Moffat, president of the Vancouver Island Building Trades Council.

"They also said that if there was any change in their policy they would discuss it with us. I guess we'll just have to wait for a meeting."

Mr. Migdely said it was the council's policy to avoid aggravating the current unemployment situation.

"We'll give the pulp workers all the support we can but at the same time we will try to keep the effects of the strike from spreading," he said.

More than $1,000,000 in wages and nearly $5,000,000 in production has been lost since the province-wide strike began Nov. 14, with no end of the wage dispute in sight.

PROTEST DID NOT STAND UP

A man who protested to police he had been drinking "an average amount for an average man" was fined $250 in city police court today for impaired driving.

John A. Finlan, 1316 Balmoral, pleaded guilty to a charge of being impaired while he was involved in a collision with another car at Cook and Richardson, Nov. 2.

He told police at the scene he had consumed about two quarts per hour of whisky and beer from 4 to 6.30 p.m., time of the accident.

A probation report regarding suspension of his driver's licence will be given Nov. 28.

Chief's Widow Asks Compensation After Johnson Street Crash

The value of a husband to his wife in monetary terms was argued today before Mr. Justice Sullivan in Victoria Supreme Court.

The widow of Jasper Joseph Charles, 55-year-old chief of the Becher Bay Indian tribe, claimed compensation for his death in an auto accident on Dec. 27, 1955.

The claim was made under the Families Compensation Act. The accident occurred at Catherine and Johnson Streets when a private auto collided with a truck driven by Chief Charles.

THROWN OUT

Chief Charles was thrown from the truck and rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital with head and internal injuries. He died three hours later.

His widow, Caroline Cecilia Charles, earned in court today that he earned $3,000 in 1953 and about $1,964 in 1954. Up to the time of his death in 1955, he was steadily employed in a sawmill at $13.40 a day.

Mrs. Charles added that her husband had always earned sufficient to provide her and their seven children with "adequate food and clothing."

She said she was not receiving any assistance from the department of Indian affairs, but received the government's family allowance for her younger children.

She admitted to having received some proceeds from her husband's estate on the Becher Bay Reserve, but said these proceeds were now exhausted.

Mr. Justice Sullivan reserved judgment.

Former Victorian Dies in Scotland

Word was received here today that Mrs. Mary Gedrin, formerly of Victoria, died in Edinburgh, Scotland, on Nov. 18. She was 85.

Mrs. Gedrin was an active member of St. Barnabas Church and the Burns Club. A resident here for over 30 years, she left the city several years ago to live in Scotland.

Her husband, George Gedrin, a mail carrier in Esquimalt for many years, pre-deceased her.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. What is the population of Victoria? A.H.

A. Last census, in 1956, gave 54,584 as the population of Victoria; Saanich had 37,993 persons; Oak Bay 14,565 and Esquimalt 10,384 inhabitants.

Q. Is it permissible for a farmer to shoot deer that are damaging his crops during the closed season without obtaining a permit? A.N.B.

A. Yes, if he has been the farmer whose sole living comes from his farm, which must be five acres or more. The shooting, however, must be reported to the provincial government game branch.

Q. What is a bolero in relation to music? J.L.

A. It's a Spanish three-beats in a measure dance, usually accompanied by castanets. In 1928 Ravel brought out a bolero that won wide popularity by its incessant repeated, rhythmic melody, and its 15-minute crescendo.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question above to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor, Questions and Answers will be published daily.

All questions should bear with names of full and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Candidates Lacking In Local Elections

The greatest show of apathy in civic elections in recent years is apparent in Greater Victoria municipalities today.

With nomination day only 13 days off in Victoria and 10 days off in Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, only 11 candidates have appeared to contest 22 seats on councils and school boards.

As the election slates stand, Mayor Percy Scurrell and three aldermen are assured of a return to office by acclamation.

A fourth alderman has not indicated whether he will even stand for nomination.

No outsider has indicated he would be a candidate.

This despite the fact, under the new Municipal Act, qualifications for office have been lowered to take in more potential office seekers than has been the case in years.

To seek office, it is necessary only to have been included as a registered property owner on the 1957 voters' list.

No one so far has offered to contest the seat of Oak Bay reeve F. E. Norris, who said earlier he wanted to retire from the job, but then changed his mind.

ONLY TWO

In Esquimalt there are only two announced candidates for three vacancies.

Two-way contests for reeve in Saanich and Esquimalt have been announced, and elections are certain for council seats in Saanich and Oak Bay.

But voters will have only a choice of five candidates for four seats in Saanich, and a choice of four for three seats in Oak Bay.

BCE Official

Seeks Election

W. Ralph Freethy, 2178 Central Avenue, announced today he will be a candidate for election to Greater Victoria School Board as a trustee for Oak Bay.

He will seek election to the one-year seat left vacant through the resignation of W. H. Golby, board chairman.

A native son and resident here all his life, he is a B.C. Electric district manager, and an official in Oak Bay Little League, St. Matthias Church Sunday School, Columbia Royal Arch Chapter, AF & M, and the B.C. Electric Office Employees' Association.

1958 Start Asked On Road Extension

The Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island will ask the provincial government to start work next year on the extension of the Island Highway northward.

Arnold Webb, managing secretary of the Victoria chamber, who returned from an ACCVI meeting at Nanaimo Thursday, said Island chambers have made the extension of the Island Highway their "No. 1 objective."

"ACCVI feels that an early start should be made to extend the highway to Port Hardy," Mr. Webb said. "It is important for the economy of the Island."

He said there were no major obstacles to prevent the government from extending the highway. Logging roads could be used or expropriated to connect Campbell River to Port Hardy, he said.

Can't Wait for Mincemeat To Ripen? Then Buy Some!

By PENNY SAVER

We're having an awful time at our house . . . keeping out of the mincemeat. Of course, it's not ready yet. We all know it has to "ferment" awhile, seeing as it was just made last weekend. Guess it'll be Christmastime before all those aromatic spices have blended to perfection . . . then look out mincemeat!

Meanwhile, we've still got the tempting scent of mincemeat-in-the-making in our nostrils. And I don't mind telling you, it's utterly impossible not to think of it, succulent, with raisins, currants and nutmeats, steaming hot in a freshly-baked pie.

As with most problems, there's an answer to mine. I'm going to bake that mince pie for our Sunday dinner, and it's going to be the piece de resistance of the meal (providing I have luck with the pastry).

You see, I'm not going to use my just-made mincemeat . . . but some that is fully ripened to perfection.

I just couldn't wait any longer for it to come of age. It's worse than waiting for the fizz in root beer. (I usually have the bottles all uncapped and sampled before there's even a trace of sparkle!)

I broke down and bought some ready ripened mincemeat! The clerk let me take a whiff before I bought and I was greeted by an aroma so tangy and good, that I wonder now why I even bothered to make my own.

For the price of 30 cents a pound, you can have mincemeat that will vie with "grandmother's special recipe" for top honors.

Speaking of grandmother's recipe . . . here's a tip she passed on to me. Save one bottle of mincemeat (if you can bear to) until next year.

Then add it to your ingredients when making mincemeat, 1958. Its extra ripeness will give next year's mincemeat a zest that can't be matched.

No time to make a pie? Then buy ready-made mince tarts at 35 cents for half a dozen.

A favorite with some folks, and not often encountered these days are ginger tarts . . . selling at 12 cents each. A little expensive, yes. But different.

There's so much talk of Christmas, these days, that I'm finding it's not just mincemeat I'm having difficulty waiting for.

For instance . . . I couldn't pass a produce store selling those Oriental Satsuma oranges without buying five . . . for 25 cents.

I'll tell you where I shopped today, if you call me at 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

40 Isn't Too Late to Correct Figure Faults by Exercise

(The Friday Question Box)
Q. "I am in my early forties. Is it too late to remedy some figure faults with exercise? I am healthy and active so exercise won't hurt me."

A. Heavens, no! You are just entering the prime of life and exercise will do wonders for your figure.

Q. "I am 15 years old, 5 feet 3 inches tall and weigh 129 pounds. My bust measures 36 inches, waist 25, and hips 38½. Am I overweight and how are my measurements?"

A. You are overweight unless you have a very heavy frame. I would lose five pounds anyway. Your measurements are in pretty good ratio, so much so that I suspect you are not much overweight. Your hips should be a bit slimmer. Take hip slimming exercises.

Q. "Around our homes many of us women do not wear stockings but we still have to wear a girdle. I and my friends find that when we do not wear stockings and only wear a panty girdle the girdle has a tendency to ride up around the thighs. This makes a bulge on the thighs which is unsightly when we try to wear straight skirts. What can we do about this?"

A. I think any girdle has a tendency to ride up when one does not wear stockings. However, panty girdles are worse in this way than regular ones. Today you can buy light weight but restraining girdles which cling like skin.

Q. "I hope you can help me. My skin is so dry that I am getting deep lines around my mouth and have a burning sensation on my face and hands. Creams do not help. I am only 20."

A. I suggest that you see your family doctor. You may be allergic to the creams you have used and he may want you to use one of the lines planned especially for this condition.

Q. "I have never before written to Question Box. Although I am 5 feet 7 inches tall and weigh just 125 pounds, I am still heavy in the hip and thigh area. My hips are not especially wide but I carry so much weight in the back hip line that I look as though I had lordosis—slight but annoying. Is there any way I can remedy this?"

A. You certainly are not overweight. In fact you are underweight. You can decrease the measurement of the back hip-line by exercise. Do the following one. Sit on the floor, legs straight. Lift legs and roll over onto the right hip, catching yourself with your hands on the right side of the body. Continue, rolling from side to side.

Be sure to lift your legs just high enough so that the body weight falls over the largest part of the hips. Hold them that way while you roll from side to side.

Book Week Patroness Honored

This evening in the music room at the Victoria Public Library, friends and colleagues of Miss Margaret Clay will honor her as the patroness of Young Canada's Book Week.

The week, sponsored by the Canadian Library Association, is primarily to arouse interest in good literature for boys and girls and to stimulate pleasure in reading.

Book lists are prepared by committees of the Canadian Association of Children's Librarians especially for Young Canada Book Week.

Miss Clay is the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. William Leslie Clay. She was educated in the public and private schools of Victoria and Toronto, at Victoria College when it was affiliated with McGill University, and took summer school and extra-mural courses on both sides of the Atlantic. She obtained her professional library training from the Carnegie Institute of Technology at Pittsburgh.

In this city Miss Clay is well known for her work in Victoria Public Library, first as children's librarian and later as successor to Dr. Helen Gordon Stewart as chief librarian.

This post she held for 28 years until 1952 and during that period the library doubled in size and capacity.

The two years following her retirement from the Victoria Library she spent traveling around the world. She visited friends and institutions and acted as a good-will library ambassador for Canada.

Her visits were of particular interest in Europe and in India, for these nations had received books from the Canadian Book Centre, a project of the Canadian Library Association and the Canadian Council for Reconstruction through UNESCO.

Miss Clay still maintains her connection with library work and after her world tour went to Nanaimo where she is now working in the Vancouver Island Regional Library headquarters.

The patroness of Young Canada's Book Week has been widely known for her encouragement of community arts and for the active part she has played in a number of national organizations.

She is a past president of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, and from 1939 to 1941 was president of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and helped to organize the war effort of that federation. She has long campaigned for provision for adequate courses of instruction in children's literature in universities and teachers' colleges.

ON MANY BOARDS

Miss Clay's professional influence has extended far beyond Victoria and Nanaimo through her activities with the B.C. Public Library Commission, B.C. Library Association, Pacific Northwest Library Association, Canadian Library Association and the American Library Association.

In an article introducing the 1957 patroness in a recent issue of the Canadian Library Association bulletin, C. K. Morison of the Vancouver Island Regional Library Board has this to say:

"It is not surprising that, as a daughter of the manse, Margaret Clay should have early developed a strong sense of social responsibility."

Miss Clay's father was Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada at the time of his death.

Five Firsts to Oxford Women

LONDON (CP)—A brilliant class of women students has stolen the lion's share of honors at Oxford, prompting a lively debate on the question of whether women should receive more education or less.

In the collective results for this year's Oxford graduates, women's colleges earned four of the first five places. Yet women are outnumbered 6 to 1 at British universities.

Britain's ardent feminists, whose predecessors won woman the right to vote, were quick to point the moral: a larger share of the country's limited university enrollment should go to female students.

But a writer in The Star sees it differently. He notes that even the most intelligent women

An Emotional Appeal

Painting must appeal more to emotion than to intellect, Herbert Seibner told members of the University Women's Club of Victoria on Wednesday evening.

"A visual art is more difficult to understand because it is much harder to feel through the eye than through the ear, or the sense of touch or of taste," he pointed out.

Music is pure emotion, Mr. Seibner said, and painting can be pure emotion also if the artist has something to say and is able to use his forms in the right way.

"You feel with your emotions what the artist has to tell you, or you don't feel anything at all."

Mr. Seibner went on to say that we are taught to think before we act, but the honest emotional artist must act before he thinks if he is to paint what he feels; he may leave out something he sees, but his painting should communicate his feeling to the viewer.

Colored slides were shown by the speaker of the work of many contemporary European artists, and an enjoyable group of his own works.

One outstanding painting he called "The Searchers," and commented that everyone is always searching for something, sometimes money, sometimes yesterday, but always searching without end.

Another, "The Strangers," a sombre study, drew many comments.

Mrs. R. A. Grosskurth introduced Mr. Seibner, and he was thanked by the president, Mrs. Dexter Stockhill.

Membership convener, Mrs. H. R. Turner, introduced new members Mrs. J. A. Fowler, Miss Sylvia Gough, Miss Barbara McKellar, Mrs. A. B. Sanderson, Miss Christine Weir, Mrs. Alec Calder, and Miss Lillian Colquhoun.

Coffee was served by Mrs. Daryl Elford, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Macdonell, Mrs. M. E. Mutart, Mrs. W. A. Porter, Miss Margaret Hastings, and Mrs. D. M. Cox.

Deaf Mute Works at Loom; Trained By Newfoundland Jubilee Guilds

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Frances Anderson of Channel, Nfld., is busier and happier now than she's ever been, although she can't speak or hear what is going on around her.

"She's doing wonderfully well," says Miss Anna Templeton, organizing secretary of the Jubilee Guilds of Newfoundland. The thousands who saw Frances working on a loom at the Newfoundland Agricultural and Handicrafts Exhibition found it hard to believe that the girl is a deaf mute.

The guild's work started here after a disastrous tidal wave on the Burin Peninsula in 1929. Lady Anderson, wife of the governor, Sir David Murray Anderson, organized a small band of workers dedicated to help relieve suffering. The Service League, as it was called, collected and distributed clothing.

Iron deficiency is becoming more common in young children. Add a good supply of iron rich foods to their diets by using dried fruits such as apricots, raisins and prunes every day. Make dried fruits a regular between-meal snack for children.

Serve this delicious cole slaw with a fish 'n' chips supper. Shred or chop cabbage and mix with pieces of ripe olives, caraway seeds and a tart sour cream dressing.

When buying a new carpet it is desirable to see it in the home, if possible. This way you can see how it harmonizes with other furnishings. Also, you will see it under your own light conditions.

Yes, indeed, and a very good idea you have. A bride can accumulate too many things for wedding gifts, especially if she and her bridegroom have many relatives and large circles of friends. As the trend today is to live in very small houses or apartments, married couples can't easily have too many belongings and not enough storage space. So when a few friends pool their money, they get one handsome gift instead of four less expensive ones. Yours is a very sensible and practical plan. It makes the bride couple happier and the friends more satisfied that they can contribute something very nice. Be certain that all of the names are inscribed on the enclosure card so that the bride can write each one a thank you note.

Thank you note.

A permanent organization was launched in 1935, the year of the silver jubilee of King George V, hence the name Jubilee Guilds.

With "Confidence, Courage and Unity" as its motto, the guild included men at first, but now is strictly a women's organization, with 3,000 members in 88 guilds in Newfoundland.

From the outset the guild was determined to encourage the education of settlers in the outposts, to give instruction in domestic science and to aid education in all branches of agriculture, hygiene and social welfare.

Because clothing was urgently needed in the outposts, weaving became the first undertaking, and today it is the guilds' strongest feature. Total production last year was 14,000 items, including luncheon mats, table linens, towels, skirts, ties, handbags and stoles.

Sales through five Newfoundland outlets and 16 on the Canadian mainland totalled $31,000 last year, but profit is not the main aim. The guild strives to teach women how to make clothes for their families, to keep them busy during the winter months, to put money into the pockets of those with limited or no sources of income, and to help people like Frances.

Miss Templeton says the guilds' sales are increasing each year. Residents like to send the articles away because the receiver gets "a little touch of Newfoundland." Homecrafts have been sent all over Canada, to many parts of the U.S. and overseas.

The guild became a member of the Associated Countrywomen of the World in 1951.

PEACH BEAUTY DUMPLINGS

Most peach dumplings are family fare, but these are pretty enough for a party. "Peach beauty dumplings" are canned peach halves arranged on rings of biscuit dough with a decorative criss-cross topping. Bake the dumplings in a rich lemon sauce and serve them warm. They're delicious.

Dumplings: Six to seven canned peach halves, rich biscuit dough (basis 2 cups flour), sugar, cinnamon or allspice.

Sauce: 1 cup syrup from peaches, 1 cup water, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind.

Dumplings: Drain peaches. Roll biscuit dough about 1/4-inch thick. Cut 6 or 7 rounds (approximately 3 1/2 inches). Place rounds in greased shallow baking pan. Place 1 peach half, cup side up, on each round. Top with 1 tablespoon sugar and dash of spice. Cut remaining dough into strips about 1/4 inch wide. Cross 2 strips of dough over each peach pressing ends onto bottom round. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 7 minutes. Pour boiling sauce around dumplings and bake 15 to 20 minutes longer. Serve warm.

Sauce: Blend all ingredients. Bring to boil and cook and stir about 5 minutes. Serves 6 to 7.

BLACK AND WHITE, five-cent stamp, a tribute to the contribution of newspapers to the development of Canada, will be issued by the post office next Jan. 22. In its announcement of the stamp, the post office mentioned specially the contribution of The Canadian Press, the national co-operative news-gathering and distributing organization, which this year marks its 40th anniversary. The stamp is designed by A. L. Pollock of Toronto. The columns of two newspapers—marked bilingually "A Free Press"—blend into a background scene symbolizing rural and urban Canada: a grain elevator, telephone and power poles, a bridge, a ship, a factory smokestack, a church, tall buildings and a broadcasting tower. HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other interesting prizes? Then Ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by children and those who submit the questions for which to know will receive a valuable prize. The youngster who asks the first question answers each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Jimmy Cook, aged 11, of Indianapolis, Ind., for his question:

What Makes a Rainbow?

A rainbow is a trick with light and mirrors. The light is sharpest angles. The red rays provided by the sun. The mirrors are a million falling raindrops. To see the trick, you must stand in just the right spot. The sun is low in the sky at morning or late afternoon. The rainbow you face is on the opposite side of the sky. The light from the sun comes from over your shoulder.

This happens on a day of sunshine and showers. Where you stand, the sun is shining. But not far away, someone is getting a shower. The rain cloud hangs in the distant sky. From it, countless raindrops are falling down, down to the ground. From your part of the sky the beams of the sun catch those falling raindrops.

The crystal raindrops act like a glass prism. They split the beams of white light into a skein of colors. The colors of the rainbow are the colors of which sunlight is made. Normally we do not see them because they are blended together in white or colorless light.

Sunlight is a skein of colored rays all traveling together at terrific speed. Each colored ray, however, travels on its own wave length. It throbs or pulses along in little jerks. These pulses are like waves with crests and valleys. The length of the waves differs with each color of the rainbow.

The trick which makes the colors separate forces them to bend. This happens when light strikes the surface of a glass prism. The rays with short wave lengths are bent at sharp angles. The rays with longer wave lengths are bent least. When it strikes the prism, the skein of blended colors is split apart. For each colored ray makes a bend at its own angle, different from all the others.

The colors blended in white light are red, orange, yellow, green, blue, violet and indigo. The blues travel on the shortest wave lengths. When they strike the prism, by bending each ray at a different angle, forces the white light to fan out into a band of colors. The falling raindrops in the cloud act on the sunbeams in the same way. Your eye sees in the form of a cone which grows wider and wider with distance. The rim of this cone is a circle. Half this circle is above ground and half is blocked by the solid earth.

The rainbow you see is at the rim of a cone, reaching out from your eyes. The rainbow forms a 40-degree arc, a half circle of colored ribbons hung in the sky. The image you see is yours alone. Down the road, someone may be watching a slightly different rainbow in which different sunbeams play on different raindrops. And under the raincloud, no one sees a rainbow at all.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Peter Corr, age 10, of Seattle, Washington, for his question:

What is rock made of?

Everything in the world is made from some hundred or so basic elements. These elements combine to form millions of different substances. Water is formed from the basic elements hydrogen and oxygen. Wood is compound of the elements carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. The rocks of the earth are also compounds of the basic elements. Pure elements are rarely found in nature. Most of the rocks are mixtures. Most of the metals are found in the form of ores. Certain ores are smelted to extract iron, others to extract aluminum.

Canadair Develops New Turbo-Jet Trainer

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadair Limited announced Thursday it has developed a new jet basic training aircraft intended to replace light piston-engine planes such as Harvard and Chipmunk in teaching pilots their fundamentals.

Two prototypes are in production, scheduled for completion in the fall of 1958, company officials said in a statement.

Pilot and instructor will sit side-by-side in the little turbo-jet, designed with RCAF cooperation to meet air force requirements. It will be known as the CL-41 or Canadair Trainer.

The interior of another version can be redesigned to make it a four-seater, multi-purpose aircraft, officials said. Preliminary design is under way on inclusion of an armament pack for use in training and to give the aircraft a practical ground support role.

A full-scale mock-up model not intended to fly—in the military version has been built as a check on design arrangement and has been studied by the RCAF and the United States navy and air force.

The CL-41 is to be powered by a single turbo-jet engine of the latest lightweight design, the officials said.

The aircraft will have a design gross weight of 6,250 pounds, including a ton of fuel permitting a range of almost 1,000 miles at an average speed of 350 miles an hour.

Top speed is 470 mph, stall speed 74 mph.

ELECTRONIC SIGHT

'Oh, I Can See the Light'

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—"Oh, I can see the light," said a woman blind for 18 years described her reaction to a new electronic device, her surgeons said.

The woman, Miss Betty Corstorphine, 35, underwent a series of tests in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, Los Angeles, last month using a crude "radar" set connected to wires in her brain.

Reached at her home here Wednesday, she said: "I saw flashes, at one time a bright flash like an electric light bulb, and at another time a greenness as though a light had just gone out."

Dr. John C. Button said the test showed that brain cells did not atrophy like unused muscle cells but could be stimulated.

Miss Corstorphine was given the cell and told to point it about a partially darkened room. As the cell was pointed toward lights placed about the room, Miss Corstorphine said she received flashes of light.

In further tests, Button said, she was able to determine whether the light was to her left or right. She could pick up flashes from lights as dim as a 40-watt bulb, he said.

But, she added, "what I saw in Los Angeles was different—I saw flashes."

Button conducted the experiment with Dr. Tracy Putnam, former professor of neurosurgery at Harvard and at present chief of neurosurgery at the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Wires into brain. First, Button said, wires about half the thickness of a human hair were passed through drilled holes into Miss Corstorphine's brain. They were then pushed about two inches into the back of the brain to the centres of vision.

The wires were attached to a transistor amplifier which, in turn, was connected to a small photoelectric cell. The theory was that the photoelectric cell would pick up light and convert it into a mild electric charge, thereby stimulating the brain.

Scouts' Camp Tackle Stored For Winter

Equipment was put into storage for the winter this week at Camp Barnard, the Victoria Boy Scouts Association campsite near Sooke.

All dining room seats and tables were stored, plastic hose was uncoupled and all boards in the camp were stacked for the season.

A ditch-digging machine began work on trenches for plastic pipe that will be laid in the camp area for next season and a 20-foot asbestos pipe was laid from the cookhouse to a grease trap.

Large Soviet Embassy Heads Latin Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator James Eastland (Dem., Miss.) said today the large size of the Soviet Embassy staff in Mexico gives "a strong indication of Communist interest in Latin America."

Eastland, chairman of the Senate internal security subcommittee, made the statement in announcing publication of testimony taken at a public hearing last April from Vladimir Poremsky, president of an anti-Communist organization in Germany known as NTS.

Poremsky testified that representatives of the anti-Communist Latin American crusade told him at a conference in Frankfurt in September, 1956, that "Communist infiltration in South American countries is very great."

Poremsky described Mexico as the headquarters for Russia's Communist activities for the whole of South America. He said this "can be concluded" because of the size of the Soviet Embassy staff in Mexico. He said it consists of 900 people and added, "these people can't all be diplomats."

Commenting on remarks made in the Commons Tuesday by Dr. Raoul Poulain, independent Commons member for Beauce, Mr. Lemelin said he does not have to defend his work "because it speaks for itself."

Dr. Poulain said episodes of like.

Sundae-loving children will enjoy a peach pudding sundae. Spoon canned cling peach slices over servings of vanilla pudding. Top with a sprinkling of chopped walnuts, too, if you like.

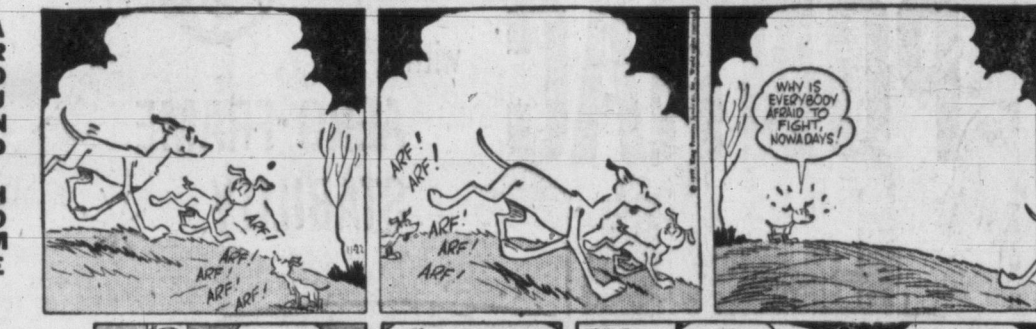

QUEBEC (CP)—Roger Lemelin, author of the television program Plouffe Family, said Wednesday no politician should be allowed to dictate to a Canadian writer what he should write or not write.

Campbell R. Commission Criticized; Social Credit MLA Releases Report

A government inquiry into the Campbell River Development Corporation Limited has ruled in its favor, it was announced in Victoria Thursday.

The findings of the three-man inquiry board, appointed in September by Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, was released by Dan Campbell, Social Credit MLA for Comox.

The company, under president W. S. Mullett, plans to create 20 acres of "key business property" in the downtown area of Campbell River by filling part of the waterfront.

The inquiry was under the chairmanship of D. Borthwick, assistant superintendent of lands. Members were W. K. Smith, department of municipal affairs inspector, and Evan Jones, deputy minister of highways. It was appointed after an official protest was lodged by the village commission of Campbell River.

$2 MILLION

Mr. Mullett said the completed development would cost more than $2,000,000 and embrace a breakwater, a nine-acre harbor, a hotel, a swimming pool, a variety of retail stores, and marine services, including a small boat marina.

He said it would cost more than $460,000 to fill the 20 acres, with 300,000 cubic yards of sand and gravel dredged from the harbor site.

Work is scheduled to start in February or March after agreements are made with the government. He estimated it would take five months to bring the development to "ground level."

The village argued during the hearing that the financial position of the corporation was precarious, that the area in question is required for a seaside park and that such a development would work serious economic hardship on existing merchants.

The inquiry, while supporting the corporation, recommended, however, that it donate $10,000 to the village to "facilitate the development of parks and playgrounds."

The report released by Mr. Campbell aimed sharp criticism at the commission.

The report said that many of the pitfalls placed before the proposed development "exist only because of the attitude of the present village commission," and suggested that the pitfalls would "cease to exist if the ... commission was materially altered by a municipal election."

Chemainus Hoopsters Win 2nd Game in Row

CHEMAINUS—The local Junior High School junior boys' hoop team won its second game in a row this week when it defeated Lake Cowichan 40-24.

Chemainus was paced by Doug Latta with 23 points and Roy Vater with seven. Ferguson topped Lake Cowichan with eight points.

1,450 UNEMPLOYED IN PT. ALBERNI AREA

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Apart from 500 striking pulp and paper plant employees, 1,450 persons are unemployed in this area, figures from the National Employment Service showed Thursday.

Of this number 1,100 are men, and most of them construction workers.

Last year at this time there were 466 unemployed in the area, 296 of them men.

'Sector Plan' Study At Qualicum Beach

QUALICUM BEACH—Representatives of churches of the Upper Island met at St. Stephen's United Church here for study and discussion of the "Sector plan," a method of raising funds for church work which has been tried on an experimental basis and found effective.

It is modelled on the wartime method of allotting areas to units or groups of units, and can be used by a number of churches working together or by a single church.

Emphasis is on practical stewardship and a study of resources to cover the work in the area.

Films and film strips were shown stressing the keynote of stewardship. Rev. Douglas Pike of Esquimalt led the discussion.

Lumber Shipments Show Reduction At Island Ports

CHEMAINUS—Lumber shipments from the ports of Chemainus and Crofton were down in October while pulp chip shipments rose.

Statistics released today show that a total of 11,968,357 board feet of lumber was loaded aboard 20 ships that called here last month.

Shipments in fbm included: United Kingdom, 5,258,784; Puerto Rico, 2,148,402; Australia, 1,703,951; South Africa, 1,336,000; U.S.A., 969,220; Fiji, 330,000; New Zealand, 222,000. A total of 12,250 tons of pulp chips was exported to American markets.

Gaglardi Quibbler Says Ferry Lobby

LASQUETI ISLAND (CP)—Residents of this community contend that Highways Minister Gaglardi is quibbling when he denies promising to subsidize Union Steamships for a weekly service to and from Lasqueti Island.

Technically, they concede, Mr. Gaglardi's statement is correct, to the extent that he did not specifically mention the Union line.

But they quote a letter from Mr. Gaglardi to the Lasqueti Chamber of Commerce which said his department would subsidize "a suitable boat" if it could be done for $1,000 a month or less.

Failing to find a ferry for service to French Creek, Vancouver Island, the Lasqueti chamber negotiated with Union Steamships for similar terms.

A Union boat called here Wednesday night but that will be the last until a payment is made on the disputed subsidy. As previously announced, the steamship company has billed Mr. Gaglardi's department at the rate of $100 a call for twice-weekly stops at Lasqueti since mid-June.

"The next move is up to the highways minister," said Peter Forbes, president of the Lasqueti chamber.

CNIB Campaign Over Objective At Chemainus

CHEMAINUS—The Annual CNIB appeal here went "over the top" this week, local campaign chairman A. J. Bird announced today.

Objective was $1,000 and a total of $1,025 has been subscribed to date. Further donations are expected.

Among the larger donations were: Employees Organized Charities, MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus division, $350; Commonwealth Construction Co., Crofton, $50; B.C. Forest Products Ltd., Crofton, $200; MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus division, $100, and the Rotary Club, $50.

GAY LIFE ENDS

Merry Widow Of New York Dies at 82

NEW YORK (AP) — Betty Henderson, cafe society's aged and captivating madcap, died Thursday at 82.

Ten years ago she gained a measure of immortality by cooking her leg on a table for photographers on opening night at the Metropolitan Opera and demanding:

"What's Marlene Dietrich got that I ain't got?"

The flamboyant Betty repeatedly shocked and delighted staid contemporaries as she danced, fought and played her way around town at an age when most dowagers sit in shawls and rock.

Betty was the widow of a millionaire oilman, Frank C. Henderson, who died in 1943 at the age of 85.

In her 70s, Betty took boxing lessons from ex-bantamweight Packy O'Gatty, and legend has it that she once floored one of her sparring partners.

Bond Sale By-Law Gets Two Readings

DUNCAN — The board of Cowichan School District 65 Thursday night gave first and second reading to a by-law authorizing the sale of $150,000 debentures for school building purposes, as authorized in a referendum passed by the ratepayers of the school district Nov. 19, 1955.

The debentures will raise a net of $147,000 and will be repayable at the rate of $7,500 each year from 1958 to 1977. Interest rate is 4 per cent.

Of the $660,600 authorized in the referendum, a net total of $409,622 already has been raised by debenture sales. The board recommended that the 1958 board consider the advisability of having an appraisal made of the school district's buildings and equipment with the object of setting up a system of inventory control.

B.C. Train Derailed

HAIG, B.C. (CP) — The engine and 17 cars of a westbound Canadian Pacific Railway freight train were derailed by a rockslide Thursday night at Haig, 90 miles east of Vancouver, on the railway's main transcontinental line.

None of the train crew of five was reported injured in the accident.

The cars were carrying coal and grain. Crews began a clean-up job shortly after the trip-engine train struck the rockslide.

Fishermen Protest Chum Season Closure

United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union is expected to protest closure of the chum season at a meeting of its Fraser River district council Monday.

Homer Stevens, UFAW secretary, described the fisheries department decision turning down a union request for a two-day chum fishing week as "highly regrettable."

"Canadian salmon fishermen had less than 12 weeks of fishing time this year," he said. "It's the shortest season on record in terms of days spent catching salmon. Surely a minor relaxation would be in order."

Mr. Stevens also said that there may be no winter-season fishing for herring if the Fisheries Association insists on changing working conditions.

"Unless the rates of pay and working conditions are reasonable, there will not be a winter operation," he said.

Mr. Stevens said the union negotiating committee had tabled a demand for a guaranteed seasonal wage of $2,000 to help break the negotiations deadlock.

Auto Highway Into the Arctic Possible Within 5 to 7 Years

Canadians may some day be able to drive to the Arctic. Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton, visited the Yukon this fall and said later in Toronto that Canadians would be driving to the Arctic within five to seven years.

Two routes are considered likely for such a federal highway.

One would leave the Alaska Highway at Whitehorse and branch north along a road already built to Keno Hill. This route then would be extended another 400 miles north through Fort McPherson and then to Tuktoyaktuk on the Beaufort Sea.

The second route would begin along the Mackenzie Highway at Hay River, on the northern shore of Great Slave Lake, and then follow a route already half completed to Port Rae, on the northern arm of the lake.

This route would be completed with a 500-mile road north through Port Radium on Great Bear Lake and then on to Coppermine, on Coronation Gulf.

By either route, and some

WHAT 100 YEARS WILL DO

Science to Make Life So Easy It Might Not Be Worth Living

By JOHN A. BARBOUR
NEW YORK (AP) — Eight foremost scientists predicted today that science will create these thrills during the next 100 years.

You'll be able to control the size, shape and function of your body. You'll talk with your mind, never moving your lips.

You'll never get mentally or emotionally sick. Our emotions and impulses will be controlled by drops or pills.

There'll be lavish excursion hotels at scenic spots on the moon. The lunar surface will be subdivided among nations.

We'll be working a four-to-eight-hour week.

You'll be able to pick the sex of your child and decide whether you want twins, triplets or just one.

FOOD FROM SUNSHINE
We'll make food out of sunshine. Our raw materials and drinking water will come from the sea.

Most of our food will be vegetable and synthetic, but we'll make it taste as well as natural food — although we probably won't think taste is too important.

There'll be more than 7,000,000,000 people in the world. But none of them will go hungry. Our mail will come in the form of radio signals carried by satellites high above the earth.

These were just some of the remarkable developments for the future dreamed up by eight scientific experts at a symposium here on "the next hundred years." It marked the centennial of the industrial firm of Joseph E. Seagram and Sons, Inc.

Among the scientists were Dr. Wehrner von Braun, director of development operations for the U.S. Army ballistic missile agency at Huntsville, Ala.

The creator of the German V-2 rocket predicted the United States would surpass Russia in conquering space. He said the Russians launched their Sputniks as the beginning of an attempt to control the world.

VICTORIA DAY CELEBRATIONS CLASH AVERTED

A clash of interests between Nanaimo and Victoria on Victoria Day celebrations may be avoided in 1958.

Nanaimo plans next year to hold its annual parade on the Saturday preceding the annual Monday holiday.

Victoria plans a Monday parade.

Last year, many of the attractions which were asked to appear in the Victoria parade had been previously booked by Nanaimo.

CRMA Opposes Bid to Secure 6-Day Shopping

Canadian Retail Merchants' Association is expected to oppose petitions to the B.C. government by the Six-Day Shopping Week Committee, at least until a new poll is taken of all city merchants.

A meeting is set by the Victoria branch, B.C. division CRMA early next week to plan action.

CRMA members say the group favoring six-day shopping on a year-round basis, is actually a minority.

A 1956 survey showed 379 out of 522 local retailers favored retention of a five-and-a-half day week. Only 78 merchants supported the six-day week.

Six-day committee spokesmen feel the larger stores are among the 78 however.

Victoria city council decided last spring to hold a new poll in co-operation with the two opposing "merchants' groups. They could not agree on wording of a questionnaire and the poll was never carried out.

BY MISTAKE Cyanide Fatal To Woman

HOUSTON, Texas (UP) — A woman undergoing a routine laboratory test died writhing on the floor of a doctor's office Thursday before an hysterical assistant who had given her deadly sodium cyanide by mistake.

Mrs. Margaret L. Van Alstine, 67, had gone to the office of Dr. Joseph West for a laboratory test to determine whether she had diabetes.

Mrs. Emily Nash, 46, a laboratory technician, gave her sodium cyanide instead of a glucose mixture, police said.

West gave Mrs. Van Alstine an injection of adrenalin and tried to revive her but she died in agony a few minutes later.

Mrs. Nash said she realized something was wrong when Mrs. Van Alstine drank the potion, made a wry face and said, "Oh, that tastes horrible!" Then she fell to the floor.

Dr. West entered the office at that time and gave Mrs. Van Alstine an adrenalin injection while Mrs. Nash frantically sought an antidote. But Mrs. Van Alstine was already dead.

TCA City Service Adequate-CPA

'Economically Unsound' to Include Victoria in New Proposal, Says Crump

A direct air service from Victoria to eastern Canada, by-passing Vancouver, is envisioned by Jack Crump, spokesman for Canadian Pacific Airlines.

"Such a service would be warranted if the population of Victoria reached a high enough figure," Mr. Crump said.

But for the present Victoria will not be included if CPA is given permission to operate a second trans-continental air service to compete with Trans Canada Airlines.

Mr. Crump flew to Victoria Thursday with the aim of clearing up "misunderstandings" which have arisen concerning the proposed CPA service.

"The reason we are not including Victoria is that it would be economically unsound," he said.

"We believe the present air service between Vancouver Island and the mainland is adequate with TCA operating 17 return flights a day and up to 20 on weekends."

Mr. Crump took issue with Hugh Stephen, president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, who said that if CPA did not offer a service to and from Victoria it would be flying in the face of statistics.

"We may be flying in the face of his statistics; we are not flying in the face of ours," he declared.

"Our surveys have shown there is insufficient volume of traffic to justify two competing services between Victoria and Vancouver."

Furthermore, he said, the company is planning to use DC 6Bs on its proposed trans-Canada service and these aircraft are "unsuitable" for short hauls such as between Victoria and Vancouver.

"They wouldn't have time to get their wheels up before they were there."

Mr. Crump stated that Pat Bay airport is unsuitable for this type of aircraft but said this had "no bearing" on CPA's decision not to fly to Victoria.

"We believe the best way of getting into the trans-continental field is on a long-haul basis."

He said CPA is "optimistic" that the government will recognize the need for a second trans-Canada air service which would break TCA's 20-year "monopoly."

33 on Airliner Pitched Around

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Western Air Lines plane carrying 33 persons bounced crazily through the air east of here Thursday night after hitting a downdraft. Fourteen passengers and two stewardesses were injured.

Fines of $75 For Theft Of Fuel

Two men who pleaded guilty to stealing fuel and loitering by night near a dwelling place each were fined $75 on the first charge and placed on six months probation in the latter when they appeared Thursday in Saanich police court.

The men are Ronald Henry Fletcher, 35 Obed, and Evans Settle, 2424 Wark, who took $3.50 worth of fuel from bins of market gardener Lee Kow, 3361 Oak.

Each was placed on $500 bond for good behavior.

The stewardesses and some of the passengers were thrown against the roof of the DC-6B when it was sucked downward by the draft, then pitched up by a reverse draft, and almost immediately jerked down again by still another draft.

The cabin was filled with flying luggage as passengers were hurled from their seats.

The stewardesses, Diane Hallock, 22, and Sue Etzel, 21, were knocked unconscious, along with a number of passengers. Four of the passengers were still unconscious when the plane landed safely at Los Angeles International Airport.

None of the injured was believed in serious condition. Most suffered facial cuts or injuries to their heads, backs or necks.

SOMMERS AT HOME

4th Conspiracy Warrant Issued For John Gray

A fourth man was sought by RCMP in eastern Canada today to face charges of conspiring to bribe former Social Credit forests minister Robert Sommers.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of John M. Gray, sales manager of Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd., reported to be in the east on a business trip.

Strachan 'Wild Man' —Bennett

Scoffs at Demand
For Resignation

Government leaders today brushed off a demand by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan that the government resign over the Sommers case.

"Just the usual wild statement from a wild man," said Premier Bennett.

"He's said that to my certain knowledge 14 times in the last two years," said Attorney-General Bonner.

Mr. Bonner refused to hear any further questions on the case, saying it was now before the courts.

The premier told reporters it was a "dull day" when Mr. Strachan wasn't calling on the government to resign.

WIND BLOWS

"He just opens his mouth and lets the wind blow through," Mr. Bennett said.

"I am amazed that the leader of the opposition should condemn a man (Sommers) before trial," the premier said.

Mr. Bennett said that if some leader was accused of wrongdoing, "you wouldn't attack the whole labor movement."

"The Socialist group apparently believes in the police state," he said.

In calling on the government to resign, Mr. Strachan said:

"This is not a political matter. It is a reflection of our democratic beliefs and our parliamentary traditions. No government can remain in office when a cabinet minister is charging another government member in a criminal court for his actions when he, too, was a cabinet minister."

TOO LATE

"Had the attorney-general taken this action almost two years ago when the matter first came up, then he would have been applauded for his honesty of purpose."

"But in their course of action since December, 1955, the government has identified itself completely with Mr. Sommers."

"The cloud that is now over"

COLORAMA FOR CENTENARY?

Striking architectural features of Provincial Library archives wing glowed Thursday night under three-color floodlighting—white on outside columns, pink and blue in centre. Vancouver Island Chapter, Illuminating Engineers Society, chose rear of Legislative Building, considered by many as most beautiful but seldom appreciated view, to convince Public Works Minister W. N. Chant that Buildings should be floodlit during centennial year. Times photographer Bill Halkett caught this scene, including amateur photographers, with a combination flash-time exposure.

WIRE BRIEFS

COL Holds in U.S.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The 13-month climb in the cost of living has ended, the government announced today.

Consumer prices in October held to their September levels, the bureau of labor statistics reported.

$15,000 Bank Holdup

MONTREAL (CP)—Two armed bandits today staged a lightning holdup at a Canadian Bank of Commerce branch and escaped with an estimated $15,000.

Farm Prices Probe

OTTAWA (CP)—The planned royal commission on price spreads of farm products will be set up in "a very few days," Prime Minister Diefenbaker informed the Commons today.

Artificial Meteors

HANSCOM AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (BUP)—The air force announced today that it launched artificial meteors last month over New Mexico at 54 miles altitude and at a speed of 33,000 miles per hour.

Cash Wheat Advances

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government's program of cash advances on farm-stored grain will go into effect Monday, it was disclosed in the Commons today.

34 Below Zero

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A blast of frigid air dropped temperatures in Colorado today to their lowest marks of the season. Fraser, high in the Rockies, had 34 below zero.

Under RCAF Command

OTTAWA (CP)—United States fighter squadrons in Newfoundland are under command of the RCAF air defence command at St. Hubert, Que., Defence Minister Peakes informed the Commons today.

JORDAN ARMY LINES BORDER OF ISRAEL

AMMAN, Jordan. (Reuters).—A military spokesman said today the Jordanian army is standing 25 miles from the Jordan-Israel armistice line "ready to repel any aggression."

Tension was reported mounting between the two countries—as Jordan's 24-hour ultimatum to return a kidnapped Jordanian drew to its close.

Jordan called on the United Nations truce commission Thursday to negotiate the return of a farmer who the Jordanians claim was kidnapped by an Israeli patrol.

In its ultimatum, Jordan said it will take action to "maintain its rights" unless the farmer is returned.

URUGUAYAN POLITICOS DUEL, BOTH WOUNDED

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UP)—Former President Luis Battle Berres and Gen. Juan P. Ribas duelled with sabers today to settle a political issue between them. Both men were wounded slightly.

They remained unreconciled after Battle Berres was wounded in the right arm and Ribas in the right hand.

According to rules of a "court of honor," the duel ended after first blood was drawn.

Canada Asks Support To Keep UNEF Going

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Canada, acting on behalf of 20 United Nations countries, called today for continuing support of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East.

External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith appealed to assembly members to "try to relate the financial costs to the result of released tensions and strengthened hopes for peace."

UNEF, he said, "is serving all of us and is serving us well."

The assembly will consider only the general aspects of the force and financial details will be left to the UN's budgetary and other committees. But the debate which began today is aimed at establishing a working basis.

Unofficial estimates are that the Canadian over-all contribution to date is in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

At the moment, UNEF is operating under at least an $18,000,000 deficit, with more to come in its projected 1958 operations.

The Soviet bloc and a number of other UN members have failed to fulfill their obligations as far as the force is concerned.

Yugoslavs Keep Out Of Red Blow at West

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Yugoslavia has abstained from a 12-nation Communist declaration which attacks the West and sets limits on "independent roads to socialism."

Western observers said the most significant thing about the 6,000-word declaration, issued today after a meeting of Communist party delegates was that it did not bear the Yugoslav signature.

Communist leaders from all over the world were in Moscow to attend celebrations marking the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution three weeks ago.

Although Yugoslav delegates were here, President Tito's regime did not participate in a party conference.

Much of the declaration was directed against "the aggressive imperialist forces and their stooges... West German imperialism... the notorious Eisenhower-Dulles doctrine... the SEATO aggressive bloc."

Heavenly Father, grant it we may render, both in word and in deed, lives more a table to Thee. We give Thee thanks for all the bounties of Thy providence and for Thy mercies, which never fail. We humbly pray that Thy gifts in contentment, we may be enabled by Thy grace to use them to Thy praise. In the name of Christ. Amen.

Things seem 't' be gettin' pretty hot in the California forests, too.

For them trucks Up-Island, it ain't the operating costs that are expensive, it's 't' overhead.

100 MPH Winds Add to Hazard

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A forest fire that spread with fantastic speed under the lash of hurricane winds raged uncontrolled today only 20 miles from downtown Los Angeles. There were many minor injuries but no known deaths.

It broke out late Thursday amid shrieking gusts that caused havoc from the Mexican border 200 miles north to the San Joaquin Valley. This morning the fire had raced over some 20,000 acres of the San Gabriel mountains—an acreage figure fires usually take days to reach.

Potentially threatened are half a dozen communities at the base of the San Gabriels, the observatory at Mount Wilson and summer cabins in mountain canyons.

The fire got to within less than two miles of Mount Wilson this morning, then the wind changed and flames began blowing away. The area is protected in part by an area made barren by a fire a few years ago.

WIDE DAMAGE
Winds that topped 100 miles Thursday and today raked most of southern California — toppling trees, fences, signs and even oil derricks, shattering windows and unroofing homes.

A Las Vegas-to-Los Angeles airliner with 33 aboard met turbulence flying over the fire and was so buffeted that 16 were injured. (See page 33.)

A 75-foot yacht sprang a leak in stormy seas and barely made a safe anchorage. Two smaller craft were sunk by heavy seas. There were no injuries.

Winds dropped today but were still strong in the fire area. The fire started Thursday when a camp fire got away from a prison crew working on a highway near Crystal Lake at the head of San Gabriel Canyon.

RUGGED COUNTRY
Fanned by the Santa Ana windstorm—hot dry blasts forced over the mountains and into the Los Angeles basin by high pressure conditions in deserts—the flames raced wildly.

There were 4,000 men on the fire lines at dawn and the perimeter of the blaze was 40 miles. Hundreds of additional fire fighters were being flown in from all over the U.S. south-west.

The flames fanned downhill toward the communities of Azusa, Duarte, Monrovia, Sierra Madre and East Pasadena.

The smoke from the great blaze plus dust clouds kicked thousands of feet into the air by winds made it a grey, sunless morning for the Los Angeles basin. A fine film of dust and ash coated trees, cars, sidewalks. Pedestrians left footprints anywhere they walked.

Meanwhile it was announced that Cmdr. John W. McDowell, 37, of Ottawa and Halifax, is to command the ship when it is commissioned at Montreal Nov. 30.

The statement did not mention whether any one aboard either ship had been injured.

Review of Credit Policies Reduced Interest—Fulton

By VICTOR J. MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Continuous reviews of monetary policies and discussions with the Bank of Canada with regard to credit restrictions have led to policies which have resulted in reductions in interest rates, Hon. E. D. Fulton, minister of justice, claimed in the Commons Thursday.

The minister of justice was explaining a speech he made this week in British Columbia. He gave the explanation in reply to a question asked by Hon. James Sinclair, former Liberal minister of fisheries.

In the house Wednesday Mr. Sinclair had addressed a question to Hon. Donald Fleming, minister of finance. At the time Mr. Fulton was en route to Ottawa from the West Coast.

Mr. Sinclair had asked what Mr. Fulton had in mind when he made his speech in British Columbia on falling interest rates due to the policies of the government. Mr. Fleming had said he could not answer the question because he did not know what Mr. Fulton had in mind.

Thursday in the house Mr. Sinclair levelled the question at Mr. Fulton, now back in his seat.

"Now I should like to ask the minister of justice what are these definite steps which have been taken by the Conservative government to relax the Bank of Canada's monetary restrictions?" Mr. Sinclair said.

Mr. Fulton replied: "I have not seen the news dispatch on which the question is based, but I understand it was a report of a speech which I made at the

Girl Attacker To Be Sentenced Next Tuesday

A man who waited in a girl's apartment until she came home from a dance, then gave her a beating, was found guilty of common assault in city police court today.

"I had no reason to hit her," Edward Richard Zombeck said. Lorna D. A. Leland, 719 Cook, told the court she had come home from a dance Nov. 17 at 3 a.m. and found Zombeck "sitting in my room, asleep on a chair." When she woke him up, he invited her to his room upstairs in the building. She refused and Zombeck hit her several times, causing her to fall against a door.

Zombeck testified he had been drinking and did not remember hitting the girl. "I am quite satisfied you knew just what you were doing," Magistrate H. C. Hall replied. He remanded Zombeck to Tuesday for sentence.

Mr. Sommers is also over the government. Almost two years ago the people of B.C. were demanding full information on what had been going on.

"Every move by the government from that date to this has been deliberately designed to keep the truth from the people of the province."

"Because of this I call on the government to resign and I call on every public-spirited citizen of the province, every community organization and every group which believes in representative and responsible government also to demand that Premier Bennett and his government resign forthwith."

Provincial Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson said he did not expect the government to pay much heed to the resignation demand.

"In my view the calling upon the government to resign is simply a means of registering indignation at the way the government has handled the case."

"It is not likely to have any result because it is an exercise in applied futility," Mr. Finlayson continued.

ALARMED

"Certainly every thoughtful person in B.C. can't be anything but alarmed, not so much that a member of the government is in this position, because it is not uncommon for people to err, but that the leading personalities in the government have deliberately done their best to mislead the people... for political reasons."

The Conservative leader said the government had "diddled around" with the case.

"By their conspicuous over-indulgence in its political aspects, they have brought discredit on the institutions of government."

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing said that with the court case pending, he did not feel it proper that he make any statement.

Commissioner C. W. Harvison conferred in Vancouver earlier this week to conclude plans for the arrests.

A conference attended by the attorney-general and RCMP Supt. J. L. Bordenau Wednesday night culminated a week-long series of talks carried on at the Vancouver court house by their subordinates.

Lights burned past midnight in third-floor offices of the court house every night in the week after Mr. Bonner ordered a secret RCMP investigation of the case. Assistant Commissioner Harvison spent most of last weekend in Vancouver on the case and returned from Victoria again Tuesday.

Attorney-General Bonner, who had been in touch with the investigators by telephone, flew from Victoria and joined them Wednesday evening. Supt. Bordenau also arrived for the final conference, which lasted until 2 a.m. Thursday.

Both were back in their offices in Victoria Thursday morning, but Assistant Commissioner Harvison remained in Vancouver.

Mr. Sommers was eating breakfast when Staff Sgt. Reg Whitaker, Const. R. Blackmore and a special matron called. He was arrested, then given time to shave and call his lawyer before being escorted to a waiting RCMP plane at Patricia Bay Airport for the flight to Vancouver and arraignment.

Word of the arrest was flashed to Vancouver at 8:05 a.m. and Sgt. John W. Purdy with 20 RCMP officers moved into action.

ON BUSINESS TRIP

The group broke up. Schultz and Hugh Wilson Gray were arrested at their homes. John M. Gray was on a business trip in Eastern Canada and RCMP there were asked to locate him.

Armed with search warrants other police went to offices of business firms named in the charge. Working with special accountants they spent all Thursday at Pacific Coast Services Ltd. and C. D. Schultz Ltd.

Meanwhile, Gowan Guest, president of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association, has called for the immediate resignation of Sommers as MLA for Rossland-Trail.

In a statement Thursday night, Mr. Guest said: "The action today means that Mr. Sommers must resign immediately."

Mr. Guest said that during the B.C. election campaign last year Conservative candidate Tom Macrea of Rossland had asked Mr. Sommers to resign until his name had been cleared.

"He refused to do so," said Mr. Guest, "saying that he had not been charged in a court with anything. Now he has been charged and every British precedent requires him to leave public life until his name has been cleared. He must resign immediately."

Canada Plans Study of U.S. Welfare State

OTTAWA (CP)—Timing for appointment of a royal commission to study the United States social security plan will be discussed at the federal-provincial fiscal conference in Ottawa next Monday and Tuesday, it was learned today.

An informed government source said these discussions likely will determine whether the commission will be appointed by the end of the year or early in 1958. The source said the government will not decide on a date until it has an opportunity to discuss with the provinces the type of study to be made by the commission.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker promised an early government study of the U.S. social security plan in the Commons Tuesday. He said the study would be aimed at producing in Canada "a rounded, effective and contributory social security system over and above that which already exists."

Mr. Diefenbaker did not elaborate on that proposal. It is understood he will reserve any further comment until after next week's conference.

Under the U.S. plan, all workers make contributions which are based on their earnings. Thus, the pension received on retirement at 65 for men and 62 for women is directly related to income.

CNS Ships Slip Into Halifax

HALIFAX (CP)—Two of five Canadian National Steamship freighters which left Montreal Tuesday for unknown destinations slipped into Halifax harbor early today.

The Canadian Cruiser and Canadian Challenger joined three other CNS ships already tied up here.

It was presumed the remaining three ships, Canadian Observer, Canadian Victor and Canadian Highlander would join the others here later.

The ships presumably are manned by a skeleton crew of officers. The officers are not involved in a strike called last June by the Seafarers International Union to back contract demands.

Destination of the fleet has been in question since the ships left Montreal.

Social Workers Back Mayor

Two prominent Victoria social workers gave full support Thursday to Mayor Percy Scurr's suggestion for a full-time probation officer for Victoria juvenile offenders.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Film producer Darryl Zanuck's only son, Dick, 24, is to marry an 18-year-old film starlet from Alabama. The girl is Lill Gentle, who came to Hollywood a year ago. She recently appeared in a picture with Tommy Sands.

Community Welfare Council secretary Glen Hamilton and Family and Children's Service director, David E. Woodsworth, each said probation work and police work should remain separate. Mr. Woodsworth said there court.

French Kill 40 Rebels In Sahara

ALGIERS (Reuters)—French paratroopers have killed 40 members of a nationalist insurgent band which massacred a French oil prospecting team in the Sahara earlier this month, reports reaching here said today.

The paratroopers, with air commando units, foreign legionnaires and helicopters, moved into the Timimoun Desert area about 625 miles south of Algiers 10 days ago following the attack on the oil prospecting party.

French military sources said six French paratroopers were killed and 10 wounded in the battle, which was fought in the desert about 30 miles northeast of Timimoun.

The first electric clock was invented by Alexander Bain in Britain in 1843.

Garbage Trucking King Jailed, To Face Charges of Extortion

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Garbage truck king Vincent Squillante was jailed today on an indictment charging extortion.

Squillante, self-styled godson of the murdered mobster Albert Anastasia, was held in a cell pending arraignment later in the day along with an indicted brother and an associate.

The 40-year-old Squillante is accused of extortion and attempted extortion in the garbage collection industry in Nassau County, a Long Island commuting suburb of New York City.

Squillante, allegedly the racket boss of the $50,000,000-a-year garbage and rubbish pickup business in the New York metropolitan area, refused to answer questions last Friday before the Senate committee investigating rackets in the fields of labor and management.

The county grand jury, meeting in an extraordinary night session, based an indictment against Squillante, his brother Nunzio, and Carmen de Caba, president of a Nassau-Suffolk County employer group.

All three were charged with attempted extortion, and Vincent Squillante and de Caba with extortion also, in connection with garbage carting contracts at Mitchell Air Force Base and its nearby barracks area.

The Nov. 19 booklet apologized for confusion over its plans for the biocentenary of William Blake "Owing to a typing error Blake's Pathetic Books appeared as Beane's Pathetic Books. An amusing error, we think, but unfortunately, erroneous."

THE SCOREBOARD BY Harry Grayson

NEW YORK (NEA)—Rocky Marciano started the fistie fashion of hibernating between fights.

As spectacular as he was in the battlepit, the Rock dog so deeply into obscurity between starts that few people recognized him on the streets.

Now Floyd Patterson is following in the footsteps of his illustrious predecessor.

And Patterson seems to have taken with him Emil Lence, who became the young champion's private promoter when Cus D'Amato broke with the International Boxing Club and promised to give Octopus, Inc., genuine competition.

Lence, the little dress manufacturer, planned to send Patterson against a more satisfactory opponent than Pete Rademacher in New York's Kingsbridge Armory in November. He was to reopen his Eastern Parkway Arena in Brooklyn and further put the breath of life back into small clubs in Greater New York.

Lence has done nothing to date, however, and now calls his boxing business "a slow, tedious operation. I can't talk," he says. "There are too many obstacles."

Lence makes it clear that the internecine war, which the poor old break-busting business is in no position to stand, is still on.

Unless a truce is declared for the good of all hands, Patterson may have to wait until the next Olympic Games for his next opponent, and they are not scheduled in Rome until 1960. Or the very persnickety manager, D'Amato, might settle for the winner of the National AAU in Boston next April.

Refusing to box anyone even remotely associated with the IBC, D'Amato is guilty of the monopoly charges he lodged against Jim Norris. D'Amato has become the dictator, but one who can't get very far with all of the ranking 10 challengers hooked up with Norris one way or another.

Astonishing fact is that Patterson is a heavyweight champion who has not tackled nine of the first 10 in the ranking. And there are several attractive opponents, too—Eddie Machen, Zora Foley, Roy Harris, Willie Pastrano, Pat McMurry and Mike DeJohn.

All Patterson has to do to make the sour science hum is keep busy. Few champions have had such an attractive field of potential paydays.

Lence says Patterson can't afford to fight until February because he is in a tax bracket which allows him only nine cents on the dollar. Operating on that theory, everybody in all lines would go out of business.

Lence is dicker for a TV outlet, which he obviously feels he has to have to reopen the Eastern Parkway Arena. But isn't that the main trouble with the main art of mangling mugs now—too much freeloading via the magic lantern?

And televised fights have gotten so bad that pub customers now concentrate on the head on their beer instead of the magic lantern.

Floyd Patterson collected $250,000 for boxing Pete Rademacher in a fight that was not televised.

Why doesn't Cus D'Amato get wise to himself and take it from there?

WHY TAKE ANY CHANCES IF AMBULANCE HANDY?

OTTAWA (CP)—The winners of Grey Cup tickets being drawn for at the Press Club ball on the eve of the big football classic have choice of transportation to Toronto—by air or ambulance.

The ball committee figured no one would want to leave the ball early for the overnight train so the two ticket holders can go by TCA the next morning to get in Toronto in time for the cup parade.

Or, if the winners want to sleep in, they can speed to the game in a well-appointed, two-bed ambulance and get there just in time for the game.

The ambulance will come complete with medical attendants—a wonderful thought for the morning after.

Esks Will Win, Says Pop, 'If---'

EDMONTON (CP)—Head coach Frank Ivy says his Edmonton Eskimos can defeat Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday night in the deciding game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union final.

"If," he added Thursday night, "we can hold them to four points."

"Of course, they can just as easily beat us if they can hold us to five points."

That's about as far as Ivy will go at any time in predicting a football game, especially when it's the third game of the best-of-three series in which his club has lost 19-7 and won 5-4.

HURT TWICE AS BAD

"Grant keeps crying about injuries," Ivy said, referring to Bomber head coach Harry (Bud) Grant. "Well, we've got twice as many and they're twice as bad and we have had them all along."

"They're not hurtin' as much as they make out."

Ivy made the statement after his club worked out for 70 minutes in the chill of Thursday evening at Clarke Stadium.

The medical staff reported defensive end Frank Anderson and fullback Mike Lashuk still unable to suit up for Saturday night with knee and ankle miseries.

Halfback-quarter Jackie Parker, whose punted return of a wide field goal attempt on the second last play Wednesday night preserved Eskimos 5-4 victory, and tackle Reed Henderson were unable to run in the workout Thursday night. They stood around on sore legs and watched their teammates work.

Halfback Rolfe Miles was still having knee troubles; linebacker Ted Tully has a sore back; fullback Normie Kwong a bruised pelvis, and most of the others assorted bruises and ailments.

BOMBERS UNDER MASSAGE

Grant roused Bombers from their hotel beds Thursday morning for sessions with the whirlpool baths, the rubbing tables and the medics. In the afternoon, the players ran through exercises and light running for 35 minutes. Thursday night they met for chalk talks.

Fullback Charlie Shepard, who reinjured his hip Wednesday night, and halfback Pete Mangum, who suffered a sprained ankle, were not running in the afternoon workout.

"Mangum didn't get out of bed this morning," Grant said. "The ankle is pretty bad, but he's probably dressed. The important thing is to keep him in the dressing room with the team and taking part."

Grant said Shepard and Mangum had the most serious injuries but every player on the club was suffering on bruises. One piece of good news was that the Eskimos' defense line will reach Edmonton Friday night to take part in the Saturday game. He missed Wednesday's game to attend his father's funeral in Texas.

"There's only one thing worse than sending them out there against the Eskimos," Grant said of his players, "and that would be to send them on a battlefield and get a few killed."

KILBURN ON DEFENCE

Switch May Upset Art's Plans

Vancouver Canucks, who are planning to give Victoria manager Colin Kilburn some special attention when the Western Hockey League clubs meet at Vancouver Forum tonight, will have to look for the new Cougar captain in a different position than usual.

Kilburn was shifted to a defence berth Thursday as coach Pat Egan announced a new "get tough" policy after a meeting with Kilburn and two players.

During the session, team captain Carl Kaiser asked to be relieved of the responsibility of that position and Egan shifted the burden to the Cougar manager.

Egan also announced that

Kilburn will operate at a defence berth tonight, teaming with youthful Warren Back, while Nelson Bullock moves up to Kilburn's left wing spot on a line with Eddie Dorohoy and Doug Macauley.

Kaiser's resignation as captain and the player shifts were not made in the nature of censure, but rather in an attempt to find a combination that will produce some victories, Egan said.

Egan also laid down a new set of rules for the club and posted a number of "do's and don'ts."

Disappointed and angry over the Cats' present record of only two wins and a tie in 16 games, Egan left no doubt that any honeymoon there might have been was over. "I hate breaking lines and shifting players," he stated, "but some of these guys are going to have to start producing or there are going to be some drastic changes made."

Vancouver coach Art Chapman was reported in a Vancouver newspaper Thursday as hinting his Canucks would be out to "get" Kilburn tonight.

Chapman was reported as saying, "Every time we play Victoria one of our players gets marked up after a clash with Kilburn. How he gets away with his high-sticking and jabbing, I'll never know. It looks as if we'll have to take care of the situation ourselves."

"I don't know what Chapman is trying to start," Kilburn observed when he heard the reports, "but if he's trying to start trouble, he had better watch out tonight."

"If they want to play it rough, we can do that, too."

Cougars return to Memorial Arena Saturday for a game with Seattle Americans.

With regular goalie Hank Bassen still in Calgary following the death of his parents last Saturday, and the injury to one of his younger brothers, Ameriks will have former Cougar netminder Don Hamilton between the pipes.

Dunlops May Whet Russian Appetites

Henderson Hurt,
Junior Goalie
To Serve Whitby

TORONTO (CP)—The members of the visiting Russian hockey team, who are reported eating two large steaks each at one sitting, may make a meal of Whitby Dunlops tonight.

Such hockey judges as Chicago Black Hawks scout Bob Wilson, Ken Reardon, vice-president of Montreal Canadiens, and Bobby Bauer, former Boston Bruins great, among others, have expressed surprise and admiration for the hockey excellence displayed by the Moscow team in their workouts.

Bauer and Reardon watched Thursday's hour-long drill at Maple Leaf Gardens and Bauer praised the Russian shooting. Reardon was astonished by their passing.

The acrobatics of the two Russian goalies have won much praise as their skating. It has been said all Russian hockey players must pass speed skating tests before they are eligible for serious hockey.

SEEK RUSSIAN STAR

The Chicago scout's contribution to the praise was to place an 18-year-old center star for the Russians, Veniamin Alexandrov, on the National Hockey League negotiation list.

If the hockey pundits are right the Russian team should outskate, outshoot, and outpass the Dunlops, Canada's entry in the world hockey championships at Oslo later this winter. But there are some reservations.

Nobody has seen the Russians do any bodychecking.

Under international amateur hockey rules, players may bodycheck in their own half of the ice, and though the Russians can be expected to have practised body contact, it isn't expected they have the mastery Canadian players develop at an early age.

WHITBY LOSES GOALIE

The Moscow team is said to be a collection of stars, selected shortly before their seven-game excursion to Canada, who have seldom played together. What advantage this may be to Whitby may be wiped out by the Canadian team's loss of their regular goaltender.

Dunlops have arranged for the services of Carl Wetzel, with the Hamilton Cu' juniors of the Ontario Hockey Association, to replace John Henderson, injured in practice Thursday.

Centre Rudy Migay of Toronto Maple Leafs sat in on Thursday's practice. His comment: "I didn't see a thing out there."

And Toronto right winger Tod Sloan said the goalies' acrobatics were foolhardy. "They take dives and their heads are where their ankles ought to be."

Though Alexandrov is rated a fine player, he has as much chance of entering the NHL as he has of skating from Moscow to Montreal. The Russian coach says there is no chance of the Chicago organization wooing him away from his Russian team.

MICK MOST VALUABLE

Ted Bridesmaid For Fourth Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees was voted the American League's most valuable player of the 1957 season today by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

It was the second consecutive MVP award for the star centre fielder but, unlike 1956 when he polled the maximum 336 points, Mantle barely beat runner-up Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Roy Sievers of Washington Senators. Mantle had 233 points, Williams 209, and Sievers 205.

Nellie Fox of Chicago White Sox finished fourth with 193 points and "Gik" McDougald of the Yankees was fifth with 165.

PERENNIAL SECOND

It was the fourth time in his brilliant career with the Red Sox that Williams finished second in the most valuable player balloting. The great slugger won the award in 1946 and 1949. Ironically in each of his runner-up finishes, it was a Yankee who beat him.

Ted finished second to Joe DiMaggio in 1941 despite his spectacular .406 batting average. The following year he paced the league in practically all offensive departments but lost by 21 points to Joe Gordon. His margin of defeat in 1947 was just one point, when DiMaggio again won.

Others named in the voting this year were Vic Wertz, slugging Cleveland first baseman; Frank Malzone, Red Sox third baseman; Minnie Minoso, Chicago outfielder; Jim Bunning, Detroit pitcher; and Al Kaline, Detroit outfielder.

BANNER SEASON

Mantle enjoyed a banner season although it did not measure up to his sensational power hitting of the previous year when he led in batting, runs batted in and home runs.

His .365 batting average, although 12 points higher than his '56 mark, was not good enough to win the championship. Neither were his 34 home runs nor his 94 runs batted in.

Williams at 39 captured his fifth batting title with a mark of .388, his highest since topping .400 in '41. He hammered 38 home runs.

Bakers Meet Gorge Hotel In Cup Semi

Time is running out on Jackson Cup play in the Victoria and District Football League, which hits the last lap with Saturday's semifinal between Brodie's Bakery and Gorge Hotel at Royal Athletic Park.

The teams will be fighting for the right to meet Tillicum in the final, slated Nov. 30.

Tillicum advanced to the final last Saturday with a 5-2 win over Canadian Hungarians.

Tillicum are presenting a problem to league officials with the number of league games they have left to play before the first half can be concluded.

THREE GAMES BACK

Playing in Jackson Cup action has caused the Clubmen to fall three league games behind the rest and these have to be made up before the Christmas break.

Sunday's regular league action will find Tillicum playing Esquimalt at Heywood Avenue Park and Victoria Kickers meeting Punjab United at Topaz Park.

Third game scheduled at the weekend is between Heaneys and Butler Bros. at Central Park.

All games start at 2 p.m.

BALL CONTROL DULL?

Ticat Fans Prefer Razzle-Dazzle Play

HAMILTON (CP)—Ask some of them have been accomplished.

They remember quarterback Bernie Faloney when he starred with the 1954 Grey Cup champion Edmonton Eskimos. That year he was outstanding as a ball-handler and often ran himself. This year he usually hands off to the first runner.

The fans heard of Eddie Macon's outside speed while with Calgary Stampeders and of Ralph Goldston's ability as a back-up field runner. But all they've seen is Chester (Cookie) Gilchrist and Gerry McDougall running up the centre.

Last year the fans saw Tony Curcillo as a better-than-average passer who mixed his plays in a delightfully random way. This year they've seen Curcillo as one of the league's best line-backers and more recently as a hard-running halfback from Gilchrist's spot, but also up the middle.

But Trimble is sure of one thing! The fans would rather have it this way and be number one than the old way and anything else.

Two Squads From UBC In Cross-Country Race

Two teams of UBC's top cross-country men will compete in a 4½-mile cross-country meet at Royal Roads Military Academy, Saturday at 2.30 p.m.

Competition is for the Admiral Nelles Trophy, which UBC won in 1955. Victoria High School won it in 1956 with an exceptionally strong team.

UBC is entering two teams in the race, which will be divided into two divisions.

Team A will consist of Jack Burnett, who won the cross-country event at Brockton Point for UBC three weeks ago and who has shown a couple of fine performances since then; Jim Moore, who has also shown exceptional talent in the meets entered this year; Mike May, Bernie Barton and Bob Bush.

The second team is made up of Stan Joughin, Doug Van

PICK THEM IN ORDER

Any person who can pick these dozen chameleons in order of attractiveness and general appeal stands to share $1,500 in prizes, being offered by Victoria Rotary Club in aid of Goodwill Enterprises for handicapped persons.

Rotary, which took over business direc-

ROTARIANS PLAN TO RAISE $20,000

Beautiful Baby Contest To Aid City Handicapped

A "beautiful baby" contest designed to raise $20,000 for Goodwill Enterprises, local workshop for handicapped people, was unfolded to Victoria Rotary Club Thursday by ways and means chairman Peter Taylor.

Rotarians, who took on sponsorship and business management of the Goodwill operation some weeks ago, have been divided up into teams for ways and means of contest entries at $1 apiece. The public will be invited to judge the babies in order of "general appeal and attractiveness," with $1,500 in prizes offered.

Entry forms may be received from any Rotarian or from Rotary offices, 816 Wharf St. Every cent of the proceeds goes to the Goodwill project.

During the past two weeks Goodwill premises at 560 Yates St. have been completely refurbished and redecorated under the direction of a Rotary committee headed by George Gray and Eban Govan.

Decision to undertake sponsorship of the work-for-the-handicapped project was implemented by president Dr. R. J. Wride and director Jack House.

DREAM COME TRUE
Fred Blakeney, founder of the Goodwill operation in Victoria, and himself a handicapped veteran, told Rotarians Thursday: "The handicapped of Victoria are looking on with wonderment and awe at the things that have been achieved under your sponsorship."

"This is a dream come true."

SMOKE THERE, BUT NO FIRE

MONTREAL (CP)—Smoke billowed out of the CBC building as firemen roared up, ready for action. They were met by red-faced officials, who explained that a visual effects experiment for a TV program had backfired, creating the illusion of flame with the smoke.

Second of Quints Prepares For Wedding on Saturday

CORBEIL, Ont. (CP)—Cecile Dionne, quiet as the Dionne quintuplets always are, slipped into Ontario from Montreal early this week to prepare for her marriage here Saturday to Philippe Langlois, a television technician.

Mr. Langlois, 26, and Cecile, 23, will be married in the Sacre Coeur de Jesus Church in the Roman Catholic parish where the quints grew up and were educated, and where one of them, Emilie, is buried.

The couple will return after a three-week honeymoon somewhere in California to their rented seven-room home on the lakefront of Lachine, a Montreal suburb.

They spent their last few days in Montreal decorating and painting the home before leaving separately, Cecile for her parents' home in nearby Callander and Philippe for North Bay, Ont.

Although the first to be engaged, Cecile will be the second of the four surviving quints to wed.

Annette married loan company executive Germain Allard in a surprise ceremony in Montreal Oct. 11.

Annette, Marie and Yvonne are to attend the wedding, but not as bridesmaids.

Yvonne was released from Notre Dame de l'Esperance hospital in the Montreal suburb of St. Laurent—the hospital where she and Cecile took nurse's training—in time to make the wedding. A severe bout of influenza and complications kept her from attending Annette's.

Philippe and Cecile were formally engaged in September after a three-year courtship.

'Auction the Mayor', Cried Crowd First Time City Hall Up for Sale

By PETE LOUDON

The sheriff walked in, seized the corporation books, money, seal and assessment roll.

That was the first time Victoria city hall was placed on the market.

It was Dec. 19, 1884. The city was 22 years old. The city hall was the same one that's up for sale today. It had been built four years earlier.

The Times of December 19 recorded the scene in the wake of the sheriff.

"A glance through the rooms of the city building showed it to be in a very dilapidated condition. The city clerk and the city engineer leaned against the wall watching a few coals burning out in the grate.

"The police court was denuded of furniture. In lieu of the usual circular table was an old table taken from a gambling den, blocks of wood serving as seats. In the council chamber was found a solitary spittoon."

MONTE ROBERTS

I wish I were Walt Disney.

If I were Walt Disney, I would produce a fantasy called The Lonely Little Telephone.

And this fantasy would be based on fact, the fact being not more than 12 inches away from me at this moment.

The fact is a lonely little, black, rather attractive-looking telephone sitting in a central location between the adjoining desks occupied by the legislative reporter, the city hall reporter, and me.

The lonely little telephone—I have christened her Tillie—came to join us on the 12th day of this month.

She arrived in style, carried by a business-like installation man. She was placed between two other telephones, so she would not lack for company.

And when the telephone man went away, Tillie wore an air of importance mixed with expectancy.

For Tillie's job was to provide direct connection with the courthouse, so the complete report of the Sloan Commission could be transmitted to The Times newsroom and thence to all our constituents.

I was fortunate enough to be there when Tillie rang her bell for the first time.

It was a very loud bell, demanding immediate attention. Tillie's job, you see, was so important she had been given a louder bell than any of the other telephones in the newsroom.

As I lifted Tillie from her resting place, she nestled confidentially against my ear, and allowed me to hear a reporter from the courthouse saying "Probe's postponed to December."

Poor Tillie! She looked crestfallen as I put her back, gently. But I said to her: "Be patient, Tillie. December will soon come, and then you'll have lots to do."

Tillie did her best to be patient, but the minutes and the hours and the days crawled by, and never once did she get a chance to ring her lovely, loud bell.

The other telephones clamored as the legislative reporter eagerly listened to politicians saying "don't quote me," and the city hall reporter was given information prefaced by "this is off the record."

But Tillie waited, and waited, and she was never allowed to ring her bell. She began to fidget, and she was worrying so much, she was losing weight. No matter how much I tried to console her, she refused to smile.

One night I went into the office, well after midnight, when the city room was shrouded in darkness and all the other telephones were sleeping after a hard day's ringing.

But not Tillie.

Tillie was crying silent, lonely tears. Nobody would allow her to ring her lovely, loud bell.

When Tillie heard the news that the Sloan Commission was not going to comish, Tillie fell off her resting place in a dead faint.

Poor, poor Tillie. If only I were Walt Disney, I could produce a happy ending for this fantasy—even if it were only Silenus' courtesan seagull who called so Tillie could ring her lovely, loud bell.

I DO wish I were Walt Disney.

All this had happened because Mayor J. W. Carey (after whom Carey Road is named) refused to sign a cheque for $870.50. The bill had been submitted by the firm of Drake and Jackson. Certain services had been rendered a previous council.

Mayor Carey said his council was not responsible for the bills of a previous administration.

So the sheriff took over. He placed a bailiff in charge of city hall and Mayor Carey placed a policeman in charge of the bailiff.

'BENEFIT SHOW' BY SALMON AIDS CHILDREN AT SOLARIUM

The salmon run at Goldstream helps the crippled children at Queen Alexandra Solarium, thanks to continuing efforts of the Junior League which operates a stall there Sundays, serving coffee and hot dogs.

League members will operate the stall again this Sunday and also Dec. 1, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Proceeds go to the Solarium.

About 40 volunteer workers are pitching in to make the venture a success.

New Council To Get Building Problems

The problems of constructing a new fire hall, city hall and garbage wharf for the city of Victoria may be turned over to the 1958 council, Mayor Percy Scourah indicated today.

The mayor pointed out municipal election day is less than three weeks away and time is short for completing the negotiations leading to a start on any of the three projects.

"It looks as though it may be left to next year's council," said the mayor.

"We can't decide on a location for the new fire hall until we definitely know we can't get a portion of the Central Junior High School property."

The mayor said negotiations with Woodward Stores Ltd. concerning the proposed sale of the old city hall property, will hold up plans for a new hall.

"And the garbage wharf must wait until we see what funds we will have left, after the fire hall construction."

Arena Chief Apologizes To Engineer

Memorial Arena manager Joseph Dukowski apologized Thursday for a "hasty and inaccurate" radio broadcast concerning the arena floor.

During the broadcast on Wednesday, he offended city engineer J. C. Garnett, a member of the arena commission.

Mr. Dukowski tendered his apology at a special meeting of the commission Thursday night and a statement was issued by commission chairman Forrest L. Shaw today.

"At an arena commission meeting last night, the commission accepted an apology from Mr. Dukowski... for a hasty and inaccurate statement concerning the arena floor..."

The commission had earlier adopted recommendations of Mr. Garnett concerning operation of the floor freezing system. The recommendations were different from those put forward by Mr. Dukowski earlier.

"The arena commission would like it known that Mr. Garnett's recommendations had been endorsed and acted upon, after full consideration of all the facts, and Mr. Dukowski's statement did not in any way reflect their (the commission's) view," wrote Mr. Shaw.

1958 Start Asked On Road Extension

The Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island will ask the provincial government to start work next year on the extension of the Island Highway northward.

Arnold Webb, managing secretary of the Victoria chamber, who returned from an ACCVI meeting at Nanaimo Thursday, said Island chambers have made the extension of the Island Highway their "No. 1 objective."

"ACCVI feels that an early start should be made to extend the highway to Port Hardy," Mr. Webb said. "It is important for the economy of the island."

He said there were no major obstacles to prevent the government from extending the highway. Logging roads could be used or expanded to connect Campbell River to Port Hardy, he said.

The mayor complained he had not only been denied access to the hall, but he had also been assaulted.

Council said the mayor should enter an action of $25,000 for damages and apply for an injunction to prevent the sheriff from selling the property.

Whether such action was taken is not clear. But on the 19th the sheriff proceeded with his sale by auction.

A large crowd gathered at the offices of auctioneer G. Byrnes.

The Times says one man was preparing to buy the city seal with the idea of selling it back at a profit when the council came to its senses.

"A prominent candidate for the mayoralty" decided to purchase the mayor's chair and, "in it practice a graceful posture until elected, when he would bring both chair and posture to his inaugural meeting."

Another citizen was eyeing the city safe.

Speculation was halted however by the arrival of a procession. The deputy sheriff arrived with a span of horses, a wagon and two dump carts, two bales of hay and a rock crusher—the last of the city's possessions.

Sale was about to start when a group of 13 staunch Victorians made their presence known.

One, Joseph Spratt, climbed on a chair and beseeched all loyal citizens to abstain from bidding. He said he and his friends were prepared to put up the money to meet the judgment. There was loud applause and the sheriff accepted the offer. Mr. Spratt said the property would be returned to city hall and the corporation could go on incorporating.

The Times says: "Great cheering followed... among which could be heard cries of 'sell the council'... 'put up the mayor.'"

The group adjourned to the auctioneer's office and Mayor Carey was seen to enter also.

"... after some loud talking he was seen to emerge rather hastily."

The citizenry blamed Mayor Carey for disgracing the city and defeated him in the next election. R. P. Rithet won easily and his council repaid the 13 benefactors.

One of them was the coal and railway baron, Member of Parliament for Victoria, Robert Dunsmuir.

V.I. Carpenters Jolted By Pulp Union Pickets

Pact Broken At Harmac?

Building tradesmen's leaders in Victoria were jolted today by an announcement that pulp workers striking at the Harmac mill will picket a $1,500,000 construction project at the plant.

"This is rather unexpected," said Victor Migdely, international carpenters' union representative. "We haven't had a chance to discuss it with the pulp workers committee yet but we'll contact them as soon as we can."

The announcement was made in Vancouver by H. L. Hansen, spokesman for 6,000 striking B.C. pulp workers, including 1,650 on the Island.

WOOD ROOM

Mr. Hansen said building tradesmen employed by Dominion Construction Company, scheduled to build a wood room at the MacMillan and Bloedel mill near Nanaimo, will not be given permission to pass picket lines.

Up to 100 men could be employed on the job. Mr. Hansen said the company had not started work when the pulp strike began nine days ago so it didn't fall within an inter-union agreement to allow construction in progress to continue unhindered by picket lines.

"We were given written assurance that they wouldn't interfere with any construction work," said James Moffat, president of the Vancouver Island Building Trades Council.

"They also said that if there was any change in their policy they would discuss it with us. I guess we'll just have to wait for a meeting."

Mr. Migdely said it was the council's policy to avoid aggravating the current unemployment situation.

"We'll give the pulp workers all the support we can but at the same time we will try to keep the effects of the strike from spreading," he said.

More than $1,000,000 in wages and nearly $5,000,000 in production have been lost since the province-wide strike began Nov. 14, with no end of the wage dispute in sight.

SON BEGINS WHERE FATHER LEAVES OFF in this unique service situation. CPO William "Rip" Morton, 2521 Prior Street, is starting retirement leave after 25 years service in the RCN; his stepson, Barry Hissette, is starting his career as an ordinary seaman. In photo, father shows son location of new entry training establishment at HMCS Cornwallis. (DND.)

PROTEST DID NOT STAND UP

A man who protested to police he had been drinking "an average amount for an average man" was fined $250 in city police court today for impaired driving.

John A. Finlan, 1316 Balmoral, pleaded guilty to a charge of being impaired while he was involved in a collision with another car at Cook and Richardson, Nov. 2. He told police at the scene he had consumed about two quarts per hour of whisky and beer from 4 to 6:30 p.m., time of the accident.

A probation report regarding suspension of his driver's licence will be given Nov. 28.

Chief's Widow Asks Compensation After Johnson Street Crash

The value of a husband to his wife in monetary terms was argued today before Mr. Justice Sullivan in Victoria Supreme Court.

The widow of Jasper Joseph Charles, 55-year-old chief of the Becher Bay Indian tribe, claimed compensation for his death in an auto accident on Dec. 27, 1955.

The claim was made under the Families Compensation Act. The accident occurred at Catherine and Johnson Streets when a private auto collided with a truck driven by Chief Charles.

THROWN OUT

Chief Charles was thrown from the truck and rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital with head and internal injuries. He died three hours later.

His widow, Caroline Cecilia Charles, stated in court today that he earned $3,000 in 1953 and about $1,964 in 1954. Up to the time of his death in 1955, he was steadily employed in a sawmill at $13.40 a day.

Mrs. Charles added that her husband had always earned sufficient to provide her and their seven children with "adequate food and clothing."

She said she was not receiving any assistance from the department of Indian affairs, but received the government's family allowance for her younger children.

She admitted to having received some proceeds from her husband's estate on the Becher Bay Reserve, but said these proceeds were now exhausted.

Mr. Justice Sullivan reserved judgment.

Former Victorian Dies in Scotland

Word was received here today that Mrs. Mary Gedrin, formerly of Victoria, died in Edinburgh, Scotland, on Nov. 18. She was 85.

Mrs. Gedrin was an active member of St. Barnabas Church and the Burns Club. A resident here for over 30 years, she left the city several years ago to live in Scotland.

Her husband, George Gedrin, a mail carrier in Esquimalt for many years, pre-deceased her.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. What is the population of Victoria? A.H.

A. Last census, in 1956, gave 54,584 as the population of Victoria; Saanich had 37,993 persons, Oak Bay 14,565 and Esquimalt 10,384 inhabitants.

Q. Is it permissible for a farmer to shoot deer that are damaging his crops during the closed season without obtaining a permit? A.N.B.

A. Yes, if he is a bona fide farmer whose sole living comes from his farm, which must be five acres or more. The shooting, however, must be reported to the provincial government game branch.

Q. What is a bolero in relation to music? J.L.

A. It's a Spanish three-beats-in-a-measure dance, usually accompanied by castanets. In 1928 Ravel brought out a bolero that won wide popularity by its incessant repeated, rhythmic melody, and its 15-minute crescendo.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of local and general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve crimes.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The axle of his car broke; he had the car towed home; the rear wheel started to work off; he parked the car across the street from his house; he got a part to fix it and started to make repairs. A neighbor complained to police.

Repairing an auto in the street, William Frederick Hibbert, 1419 Harrison, was told in city police court Thursday, is against the law when it's not an emergency measure. He was fined $10.

For failure to remain at the scene of an accident, John William Waddell, RCN, was fined $50 in city police court today.

In collision with a car shortly after 11 Thursday night, Mrs. Betty Lohbrunner, 63, 1245 Dominion, was in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph's Hospital today with head and leg injuries.

Mrs. Lohbrunner apparently was crossing Craigflower near Dominion when in collision with a car driven by Victor Russell. She was taken to hospital by Esquimalt police.

"Canada, the Bible and You" will be the subject of Rev. Ansley F. Rash at a meeting, under auspices of Victoria British Israel Association, in Newstead Hall Tuesday at 8 p.m. Mr. Rash is Dominion commissioner of the Canadian British Israel Association.

Frances Bessie Madill, 320 Arnold Avenue, was granted a divorce in Victoria divorce court from Clifford Cecil Madill, 3080 Albany, Victoria.

They were married in Victoria in 1948.

A six-month "suspended" sentence was given Robert J. Ainscough, 18, 2115 Fernwood, in city police court today for being in possession of stolen money. He had pleaded guilty to the charge. Magistrate H. C. Hall ordered the youth to post $500 bond.

Guilty pleas were entered in city police court today on two charges each against Manager's Food Plan Ltd. and manager John Proby of failing to pay social services taxes amounting to $687.41. Magistrate H. C. Hall imposed a fine of $10 on each of the four counts. The debt must be paid by Jan. 24.

A pre-election meeting at which Oak Bay candidates will state their platform will be held in Oak Bay municipal hall Monday, Dec. 9, at 8 p.m.

There are three council vacancies and four candidates. Reeve Fred Norris will run again, and as yet there has been no announced opposition.

The Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group, Thursday decided it will again sponsor next year its annual "goodwill tour" to some region of British Columbia or the United States. No decision was made with regard to the region the group will visit. Among suggestions were a trip to San Francisco or Prince George. The tour's destination and the time it will be held will be discussed at a later date.

The St. Mary's Oak Bay Men's Guild meets in the parish hall at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 28. Speaker will be H. J. Evennett, OBE, who will give a talk on Jamaica and the West Indies, illustrated by sound films.

The last $50,000 seems to be the hardest for Community Chest canvassers. At noon today $203,759 had been donated to the campaign and collections are coming in slowly, an official said. Goal to finance 20 member agencies is $251,717.

Saanich police today were investigating a car found abandoned early this morning deep in an undeveloped section of Mount Douglas Park.

The red and white late model car had been driven over a rough and rocky trail, over 200 yards into park territory and stopped in a heavily wooded hollow. The driver apparently was unable to negotiate a return trip and was seen by police had not located the owner by press time.

Can't Wait for Mincemeat To Ripen? Then Buy Some!

By PENNY SAVER

We're having an awful time at our house . . . keeping out of the mincemeat. Of course, it's not ready yet. We all know it has to "ferment" awhile, seeing as it was just made last weekend. Guess it'll be Christmastime before all those aromatic spices have blended to perfection . . . then look out mincemeat!

Meanwhile, we've still got the tempting scent of mincemeat-in-the-making in our nostrils. And I don't mind telling you, it's utterly impossible not to think of it, succulent, with raisins, currants and nutmeats, steaming hot in a freshly-baked pie.

As with most problems, er's special recipe" for top there's an answer to mine. I'm going to bake that mince pie for our Sunday dinner, and it's going to be the piece de resistance of the meal (providing I have luck with the pastry).

You see, I'm not going to use my just-made mincemeat . . . but some that is fully ripened to perfection.

I just couldn't wait any longer for it to come of age. It's worse than waiting for the fizz in root beer. (I usually have the bottles all uncapped and sampled before there's even a trace of sparkle!)

I broke down and bought some ready ripened mincemeat! The clerk let me take a whiff before I bought and I was greeted by an aroma so tangy and good, that I wonder now why I even bothered to make my own.

For the price of 30 cents a pound, you can have mincemeat that will vie with "grandmother's special recipe" for top there's an answer to mine. I'm going to bake that mince pie for our Sunday dinner, and it's going to be the piece de resistance of the meal (providing I have luck with the pastry).

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

40 Isn't Too Late to Correct Figure Faults by Exercise

(The Friday Question Box)
Q. "I am in my early forties. Is it too late to remedy some figure faults with exercise? I am healthy and active so exercise won't hurt me."

A. Heavens, no! You are just entering the prime of life and exercise will do wonders for your figure.

Q. "I am 15 years old, 5 feet 3 inches tall and weigh 129 pounds. My bust measures 36 inches, waist 25, and hips 38 1/2. Am I overweight and how are my measurements?"

A. You are overweight unless you have a very heavy frame. I would lose five pounds anyway. Your measurements are in pretty good ratio, so much so that I suspect you are not much overweight. Your hips should be a bit slimmer. Take hip slimming exercises.

Q. "Around our homes many of us women do not wear stockings but we still have to wear a girdle. I and my friends find that when we do not wear stockings and only wear a panty girdle the girdle has a tendency to ride up around the thighs. This makes a bulge on the thighs which is unsightly when we try to wear straight skirts. What can we do about this?"

A. I think any girdle has a tendency to ride up when one does not wear stockings. However, panty girdles are worse in this way than regular ones. Today you can buy light weight but restraining girdles which cling like skin.

Q. "I hope you can help me. My skin is so dry that I am getting deep lines around my mouth and have a burning sensation on my face and hands. Creams do not help. I am only 20."

A. I suggest that you see your family doctor. You may be allergic to the creams you have used and he may want you to use one of the lines planned especially for this condition.

Q. "I have never before written to Question Box. Although I am 5 feet 7 inches tall and weigh just 125 pounds, I am still heavy in the hip and thigh area. My hips are not especially wide but I carry so much weight in the back hip line that I look as though I had lordosis—slight but annoying. Is there any way I can remedy this?"

A. You certainly are not overweight. In fact you are underweight. You can decrease the measurement of the back hip-line by exercise. Do the following one. Sit on the floor, legs straight. Lift legs and roll over onto the right hip, catching yourself with your hands on the right side of the body. Continue, rolling from side to side. Be sure to lift your legs just high enough so that the body weight falls over the largest part of the hips. Hold them that way while you roll from side to side.

Here's how to decrease the measurement of the back hip-line. Lift legs and roll over onto the right hip, catching yourself with your hands on the right side of the body. Roll left. Continue.

Review of Credit Policies Reduced Interest—Fulton

By VICTOR J. MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Continuous reviews of monetary policies and discussions with the Bank of Canada with regard to credit restrictions have led to policies which have resulted in reductions in interest rates, Hon. E. D. Fulton, minister of justice, claimed in the Commons Thursday.

The minister of justice was explaining a speech he made this week in British Columbia. He gave the explanation in reply to a question asked by Hon. James Sinclair, former Liberal minister of fisheries.

In the house Wednesday Mr. Sinclair had addressed a question to Hon. Donald Fleming, minister of finance. At the time Mr. Fulton was en route to Ottawa from the West Coast.

Mr. Sinclair had asked what Mr. Fulton had in mind when he made his speech in British Columbia on falling interest rates due to the policies of the government. Mr. Fleming had said he could not answer the question because he did not know what Mr. Fulton had in mind.

Thursday in the house Mr. Sinclair levelled the question at Mr. Fulton, now back in his seat.

"Now I should like to ask the minister of justice what are these definite steps which have been taken by the Conservative government to relax the Bank of Canada's monetary restrictions?" Mr. Sinclair said.

Mr. Fulton replied: "I have not seen the news dispatch on which the question is based, but I understand it was a report of a speech which I made at the University of British Columbia on Tuesday. In the course of that speech I said that the government had been moving in the matter of monetary policy and credit restrictions ever since we took office.

"I outlined the various measures we have taken, including the provision of $150,000,000 for housing loans. I also pointed out that there had been continuous reviews of monetary policies and discussions with the Bank of Canada with regard to credit restrictions and monetary policy generally," said Mr. Fulton.

"I emphasized that the results of these discussions, and of the policies followed by this government since taking office, were now becoming evident in the reductions in interest rates which have been reported recently. They should do much to create an economic climate in which the restrictive trends initiated by the previous government would be reversed and the Canadian economy could move forward again on that sound program of expansion which is the goal of this government," he said.

Mr. Sinclair said, "I understand now the ignorance of the minister of finance yesterday in not knowing what the minister of justice had in mind."

TEXT OF CHARGE IN SOMMERS CASE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Text of the charge laid against Robert Sommers, Hugh Wilson Gray and Charles David Schultz in Vancouver Thursday:

At the City of Vancouver and at the City of Victoria in the said province:

Between the 1st day of January, A.D. 1953, and the 30th day of September, A.D. 1953, unlawfully did conspire and agree together and with divers persons unknown to commit indictable offences, to wit, that the said Robert E. Sommers then being an official, to wit, minister of lands and forests in the government of the province of British Columbia should unlawfully accept from H. Wilson Gray, John M. Gray, Pacific Coast Services Ltd., Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd., Charles D. Schultz and C. D. Schultz & Company, Limited, and that the said H. Wilson Gray, John M. Gray, Pacific Coast Services Ltd., Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd., Charles D. Schultz and C. D. Schultz & Company Limited should unlawfully give to the said Robert E. Sommers loans, rewards, advantages and benefits as consideration for his co-operation, assistance and exercise of influence in connection with the transaction of business with the government of the province of British Columbia, to wit, the issue, grant and award of forest management licences and that the said H. Wilson Gray, John M. Gray, Pacific Coast Services Ltd., Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd., Charles D. Schultz and C. D. Schultz & Company Limited unlawfully should give to a member of the government, to wit, the said Robert E. Sommers, minister of lands and forests in the government of the province of British Columbia, to wit, the issue, grant and award of forest management licences, assistance and exercise of influence in connection with the transaction of business with the government of the province of British Columbia, to wit, the issue, grant and award of forest management licences.

French Kill 40 Rebels In Sahara

ALGIERS (Reuters)—French paratroopers have killed 40 members of a nationalist insurgent band which massacred a French oil prospecting team in the Sahara earlier this month, reports reaching here said today.

The paratroopers, with air command units, foreign legionnaires and helicopters, moved into the Timimoun Desert area about 625 miles south of Algiers 10 days ago following the attack on the oil prospecting party.

French military sources said six French paratroopers were killed and 10 wounded in the battle, which was fought in the desert about 30 miles northeast of Timimoun.

The first electric clock was invented by Alexander Bain in Britain in 1843.

Garbage Trucking King Jailed, To Face Charges of Extortion

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Garbage truck king Vincent Squillante was jailed today on an indictment charging extortion.

Squillante, self-styled godson of the murdered mobster Albert Anastasia, was held in a cell pending arraignment later in the day along with an indicted brother and an associate.

The 40-year-old Squillante is accused of extortion and attempted extortion in the garbage collection industry in Nassau County, a Long Island commuting suburb of New York City.

Squillante, allegedly the racket boss of the $50,000,000-a-year garbage and rubbish pickup business in the New York metropolitan area, refused to answer questions last Friday before the Senate committee investigating rackets in the fields of labor and management.

The county grand jury, meeting in an extraordinary night session, handed up indictments against Squillante, his brother Vincent, and Carmine De Cato.

Girl Attacker To Be Sentenced Next Tuesday

A man who waited in a girl's apartment until she came home from a dance, then gave her a beating, was found guilty of common assault in city police court today.

"I had no reason to hit her," Edward Richard Zombek said.

Lorna D. A. Leland, 719 Cook, told the court she had come home from a dance Nov. 17 at 3 a.m. and found Zombek "sitting in my room, asleep on a chair."

When she woke him up, he invited her to his room upstairs in the building. She refused and Zombek hit her several times, causing her to fall against a door.

Zombek testified he had been drinking and did not remember hitting the girl.

"I am quite satisfied you knew just what you were doing," Magistrate H. C. Hall replied. He remanded Zombek to Tuesday for sentence.

Mr. Sommers is also over the government. Almost two years ago the people of B.C. were demanding full information on what had been going on.

"Every move by the government from that date to this has been deliberately designed to keep the truth from the people of the province.

"Because of this I call on the government to resign and I call on every public-spirited citizen of the province, every community organization and every group which believes in representative and responsible government also to demand that Premier Bennett and his government resign forthwith."

Provincial Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson said he didn't expect the government to pay much heed to the resignation demand.

"In my view the calling upon the government to resign is simply a means of registering indignation at the way the government has handled the case.

"It is not likely to have any result because it is an exercise in applied futility."

Mr. Finlayson continued:

ALARMED

"Certainly every thoughtful person in B.C. can't be anything but alarmed, not so much that a member of the government is in this position, because it is not uncommon for people to err, but that the leading personalities in the government have deliberately done their best to mislead the people for political reasons."

The Conservative leader said the government had "diddled around" with the case.

"By their conspicuous over-indulgence in its political aspects, they have brought discredit on the institutions of government."

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing said that with the court case pending, he did not feel it proper that he make any statement.

SOMMERS

Commissioner C. W. Harvison, conferred in Vancouver earlier this week to conclude plans for the arrests.

A conference attended by the attorney-general and RCMP Supt. J. L. Bordeleau Wednesday night culminated a week-long series of talks carried on at the Vancouver court house by their subordinates.

Lights burned past midnight in third-floor offices of the court house every night in the week after Mr. Bonner ordered a secret RCMP investigation of the case. Assistant Commissioner Harvison spent most of last weekend in Vancouver on the case and returned from Victoria again Tuesday.

Attorney-General Bonner, who had been in touch with the investigators by telephone, flew from Victoria and joined them Wednesday evening. Supt. Bordeleau also arrived for the final conference, which lasted until 2 a.m. Thursday.

Both were back in their offices in Victoria Thursday morning, but Assistant Commissioner Harvison remained in Vancouver.

Mr. Sommers was eating breakfast when Staff Sgt. Reg Whitaker, Const. R. Blackmore and a special matron called. He was arrested, then given time to shave and call his lawyer before being escorted to a waiting RCMP plane at Patricia Bay Airport for the flight to Vancouver and arraignment.

Word of the arrest was flashed to Vancouver at 8:05 a.m. and Sgt. John W. Purdy with 20 RCMP officers moved into action.

ON BUSINESS TRIP

The group broke up, Schultz and Hugh Wilson Gray were arrested at their homes. John M. Gray was on a business trip in Eastern Canada and RCMP there were asked to locate him.

Armed with search warrants other police went to offices of business firms named in the charge. Working with special accountants they spent all Thursday at Pacific Coast Services Ltd. and C. D. Schultz Ltd.

Meanwhile, Gowan Guest, president of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association, has called for the immediate resignation of Sommers as MLA for Rossland-Trail.

In a statement Thursday night, Mr. Guest said: "The action today means that Mr. Sommers must resign immediately."

Mr. Guest said that during the B.C. election campaign last year Conservative candidate Tom Macrae of Rossland had asked Mr. Sommers to resign until his name had been cleared.

"He refused to do so," said Mr. Guest, "saying that he had not been charged in a court with anything. Now he has been charged and every British precedent requires him to leave public life until his name has been cleared. He must resign immediately."

DATE TO BE SET

Canada Plans Study of U.S. Welfare State

OTTAWA (CP)—Timing for appointment of a royal commission to study the United States social security plan will be discussed at the federal-provincial fiscal conference in Ottawa next Monday and Tuesday, it was learned today.

An informed government source said these discussions likely will determine whether the commission will be appointed by the end of the year or early in 1958. The source said the government will not decide on a date until it has an opportunity to discuss with the provinces the type of study to be made by the commission.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker promised an early government study of the U.S. social security plan in the Commons Tuesday. He said the study would be aimed at producing in Canada "a rounded, effective and contributory social security system over and above that which already exists."

Mr. Diefenbaker did not elaborate on that proposal. It is understood he will reserve any further comment until after next week's conference.

Under the U.S. plan, all workers make contributions which are based on their earnings. Thus, the pension received on retirement at 65 for men and 62 for women is directly related to income.

CNS Ships Slip Into Halifax

HALIFAX (CP)—Two of five Canadian National Steamship freighters which left Montreal Tuesday for unknown destinations slipped into Halifax harbor early today.

The Canadian Cruiser and Canadian Challenger joined three other CNS ships already tied up here.

It was presumed the remaining three ships, Canadian Observer, Canadian Victor and Canadian Highlander would join the others here later.

The ships presumably are manned by a skeleton crew of officers. The officers are not involved in a strike called last June by the Seafarers International Union to back contract demands.

Destination of the fleet has been in question since the ships left Montreal.

Social Workers Back Mayor

Two prominent Victoria social workers gave full support Thursday to Mayor Percy Scutcher's suggestion for a full-time probation officer for Victoria juvenile offenders.

Community Welfare Council secretary Glen Hamilton and Family and Children's Service director, David E. Woodworth, each said probation work and police work should remain separate.

Mr. Woodworth said there should be a full-time probation staff, responsible to all Greater Victoria municipalities. A main duty would be to determine causes of delinquency then suggest corrective procedures which might be followed by the court.

Zanuck's Son to Wed

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Film producer Darryl Zanuck's only son, Dick, 24, is to marry an 18-year-old film starlet from Alabama. The girl is Lili Gentle, who came to Hollywood a year ago. She recently appeared in a picture with Tommy Sands.

WHAT PART OF YOUR HOUSEHOLD DOLLAR PAYS FOR ELECTRICITY?

Considering the cost of most things today, very little of your household budget is put aside for electricity. It is true that most electricity bills are higher than they used to be, but our average residential customer who is using nearly three times as much electricity as in 1946, is now paying less per kilowatt hour. You can figure for yourself what part of your own household dollar is spent on the electricity you use. What else in your home does so much and costs so little?

New RCN Destroyer Damaged in Collision

MONTREAL (CP)—The new destroyer escort Restigouche due to be formally turned over to the Royal Canadian Navy Nov. 30, was damaged Thursday night in a collision with a British freighter on the St. Lawrence River.

Canadian Vickers Ltd., builders of the destroyer escort, said today in a statement the amount of damage has not yet been ascertained "but it is understood to be fairly extensive."

The Restigouche was returning from final sea trials when the collision with the freighter Manchester Port occurred about 9 p.m. near Trois-Rivières. Both ships were able to reach port unassisted. The Restigouche travelled upstream to the Vickers yard here, the Manchester Port to Quebec City.

Meanwhile it was announced that Cmdr. John W. McDowall, 37, of Ottawa and Halifax, is to command the ship when she is commissioned at Montreal Nov. 30.

The statement did not mention whether any one aboard either ship had been injured.

'Buyers Not Sellers' Trade Mission Motto

LONDON (CP)—Canada's 50-man trade mission arrived at London airport today for a pre-Christmas look at Britain's shop window.

The group, here for an unprecedented month-long tour of British industrial centres, was greeted by Sir David Eccles, President of the Board of Trade, who told them their visit has already aroused "the greatest interest" in the United Kingdom.

"Never has a trade mission of such a scale and of such importance come to Britain," said Sir David, whose government department is host to the Canadian party.

Canadian Trade Minister Churchill, leader of the mission, said in reply: "This Canadian mission is unique. We are here as buyers rather than as salesmen."

Yugoslavs Keep Out Of Red Blow at West

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Yugoslavia has abstained from a 12-nation Communist declaration which attacks the West and sets limits on "independent roads to socialism."

Western observers said the most significant thing about the 6,000-word declaration, issued today after a meeting of Communist party delegates was that it did not bear the Yugoslav signature.

Communist leaders from all over the world were in Moscow to attend celebrations marking the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution three weeks ago.

Although Yugoslav delegates were here, President Tito's regime did not participate in a party conference.

CNIB Campaign Over Objective At Chemainus

CHEMAINUS — The annual CNIB appeal here went "over the top" this week, local campaign chairman A. J. Bird announced today.

Objective was $1,000 and a total of $1,025 has been subscribed to date. Further donations are expected.

Among the larger donations were: Employees Organized Charities, MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus division, $350; Commonwealth Construction Co., Crofton, $50; B.C. Forest Products Ltd., Crofton, $200; MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus division, $100, and the Rotary Club, $50.

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A blast of frigid air dropped temperatures in Colorado today to their lowest marks of the season. Fraser, high in the Rockies, had 34 below zero.

$52,000 In Fines For 7 Firms

TORONTO (CP)—Seven firms were fined a total of $52,000 today for operating a country-wide combine in the conveyor and power transmission equipment industry.

Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven of the Ontario Supreme Court fined five firms $10,000 each and two others $1,000 each.

The five are: Link-Belt Limited and United Steel Corporation Limited, of Toronto; Stephens-Adamson of Belleville, Ont.; Jeffrey Manufacturing Company Limited of Montreal and Forano Limited of Plessisville, Que.

The $1,000 fines were levied against Webster-Smallwood Limited and Bond Engineering Works Limited, both of Toronto.

Lumber Shipments Show Reduction At Island Ports

CHEMAINUS—Lumber shipments from the ports of Chemainus and Crofton were down in October while pulp chip shipments rose.

Statistics released today show that a total of 11,968,357 board feet of lumber was loaded aboard 20 ships that called here last month.

Shipments in fbm included: United Kingdom, 5,258,784; Puerto Rico, 2,148,402; Australia, 1,703,951; South Africa, 1,336,000; U.S.A., 969,220; Fiji, 330,000; New Zealand, 222,000.

A total of 12,250 tons of pulp chips was exported to American markets.

Chemainus Hoopsters Win 2nd Game in Row

CHEMAINUS—The local Junior High School junior boys' hoop team won its second game in a row this week when it defeated Lake Cowichan 40-24.

Chemainus was paced by Doug Latta with 23 points and Roy Vater with seven. Ferguson topped Lake Cowichan with eight points.

MIDDLETOWN, R.I. (AP)—Postal officials Thursday ordered old mail collection boxes replaced after a seven-year-old girl showed an astonished letter carrier she could open them with a sardine can key. The unidentified young miss, who likes to play mailman, told the mail carrier about her success Tuesday. He doubted. She demonstrated.

TRUCK DOES IT AGAIN

Yesterday's Story Still Same Today

This is not yesterday's paper, although the story is the same.

On Thursday the Times printed a report of a dump truck driver in Chemainus who apparently forgot to lower the box on his truck the day before and ripped out close to 50 telephone lines.

At 1 a.m. today what is believed to be the same truck did the same thing at the same place—along the old Island Highway in Chemainus—except that this morning it sliced through a main cable to make a real job of the wreckage.

In both cases the culprit ground to a halt at Mill Road, well festooned with a snarl of wires. Repairs are under way for the second time.

The current pulp strike is to blame for both debacles, since the trucks were hauling chips from the MacMillan and Bloedel sawmill to a temporary stockpile. Ordinarily they would be shipped by barge to Harnac.

Canada Asks Support To Keep UNEF Going

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada, acting on behalf of 20 United Nations countries, called today for continuing support of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East.

External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith appealed to assembly members to "try to relate the financial costs to the result of released tensions and strengthened hopes for peace."

UNEF, he said, "is serving all of us and is serving us well." The assembly will consider only the general aspects of the force and financial details will be left to the UN's budgetary and other committees. But the debate which began today is aimed at establishing a working basis.

Unofficial estimates are that the Canadian over-all contribution to date is in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

At the moment, UNEF is operating under at least an $18,000,000 deficit, with more to come in its projected 1958 operations.

The Soviet bloc and a number of other UN members have failed to fulfil their obligations as far as the force is concerned.

Pointed Squarely At Russia

WASHINGTON (UP)—Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles apparently will be pointed squarely at Russia from a huge new missile base to be built in Wyoming.

The defence department announced late Thursday the 65 million dollar base will be built at Francis E. Warren air force base near Cheyenne.

The Warren site apparently will be fully equipped for the launching of the big missiles which could streak across the top of the world to land a nuclear payload on Russian targets in 30 minutes in case of war.

THE REST OF THE STORY

THERE are two reasons why Black Magic Chocolates are worth writing home about. First, they're really luscious centres. And then, however much you pay, you won't find better chocolates than Black Magic. This is because Rowntrees put all the value into the chocolates themselves, packing them simply, but elegantly, in a smart black box.
